GUSHER

"Let each become all that he was created capable of being"

"E Pluribus Unum"—of the many, one. This is the principle upon which the United States was founded. Here was offered freedom for the individual—freedom of or from religion, freedom of speech, freedom of thought. Within the bounds of the law, all men were guaranteed the privilege of doing what they pleased, and the opportunity of doing so free from persecution from any group. Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, Henry Clay—these and many others fought to establish this principle in the days of our country's birth. We as a nation recognized the value and importance of each separate being. Though perhaps different in speech, beliefs, dress, or actions, every individual is a man and a human being, subject to his own dictates. We cherished this idea, and our young country fought to protect this, the noblest of all beliefs.

And yet, this American principle is seemingly at times lost. The person who is not "just the same" sometimes meets ridicule or persecution, and "individualism" is a term reserved for the odd or different. But, just as within the woods there is always seen one particularly outstanding tree, so of the many is there still one; one journeying through life, guided by his very own beliefs of right and wrong, good and bad. He is not afraid to traverse a rough path, even when he is apparently alone. Although he may be the object of laughter or scorn, he refuses to be swayed. This idea was held by every great writer, inventor, patriot, and world leader. His mind was his own, and he used it to write, create, or invent.

And so, each spark of individualism walking among us—those who are leading a worthwhile, real and genuine life—this book is dedicated to you, and your outstanding faith in your own convictions.

"Courage, brother! do not stumble,
Though thy path be dark as night;
There's a star to guide the humble Trust in God and do the Right."

"The journey of a

Each of us is a traveler. We are following the path of life, but no two will ever traverse the same, identical trail, for there are many roads and pathways that we shall walk along until we reach the end of the journey. Long, tree-lined boulevards, where the sun shines and the wind moves the leaves, and all is happiness and joy; dark and lonely alleys, where we meet our decisions, cares, and failures; wide highways, on which we enjoy a brief and fast, exciting, exhilarating trip; country paths, where the sounds of the city are left behind, and peaceful silence reigns over all; the busy downtown street, where we are caught up in the endless confusion of the daily rush of our world—yes, these are all pathways on which each must walk at some time during his journey.

thousand miles begins with one step"

For most of us, the greatest part of the journey lies ahead, for we are young and have just begun with our "one step." But the first step is the most important, because if we start out in the wrong direction, we will endure much hardship in our efforts to find the way back to the road to the journey's end. Therefore, the ways we travel now will affect us deeply throughout our lives.

In Byrd, we find that there are many small trails which lead us along our way. Every department and activity of our school—the faculty, the military, the music, the organizations, the honors, the athletics—guide our journey. They offer inspiration, and they build character, an awareness of our growing responsibilities, and a desire to attain excellence in all our endeavors. All of these things combined make Byrd an important and influential first step on our "journey of a thousand miles"—and an unforgettable one.

It's a Part of You,

You're a Part

and

. . . of INTEREST

. . . of KNOWLEDGE

To have a happy memory is to have a lifetime of enjoyment. From the day you set foot in the hallowed halls of Byrd, until the day you file down the aisle at graduation, memorable events occur causing you to grow and gain in knowledge from the experiences and lessons taught by each one. Whether it be from activities in a club, hours slaving over homework and studies, participation in a sport, spirit during athletic contests, or desire to uphold tradition, you make yourself a part of Byrd and Byrd a part of you, because . . .

Your Spirit of Interest,
Your Spirit of Knowledge,
Your Spirit of Desire,
Your Spirit of Enthusiasm, and Your Spirit of Pride

make the Spirit of Byrd a memory to be treasured.

of It, because . . .

The anticipation of finally seeing the new GUSHERS is brought to a point as John Knost and Bill Wray bring in the boxes at the GUSHER Staff party.

The Stingerette Spectacular assumed a circus theme this year.

Your Spirit

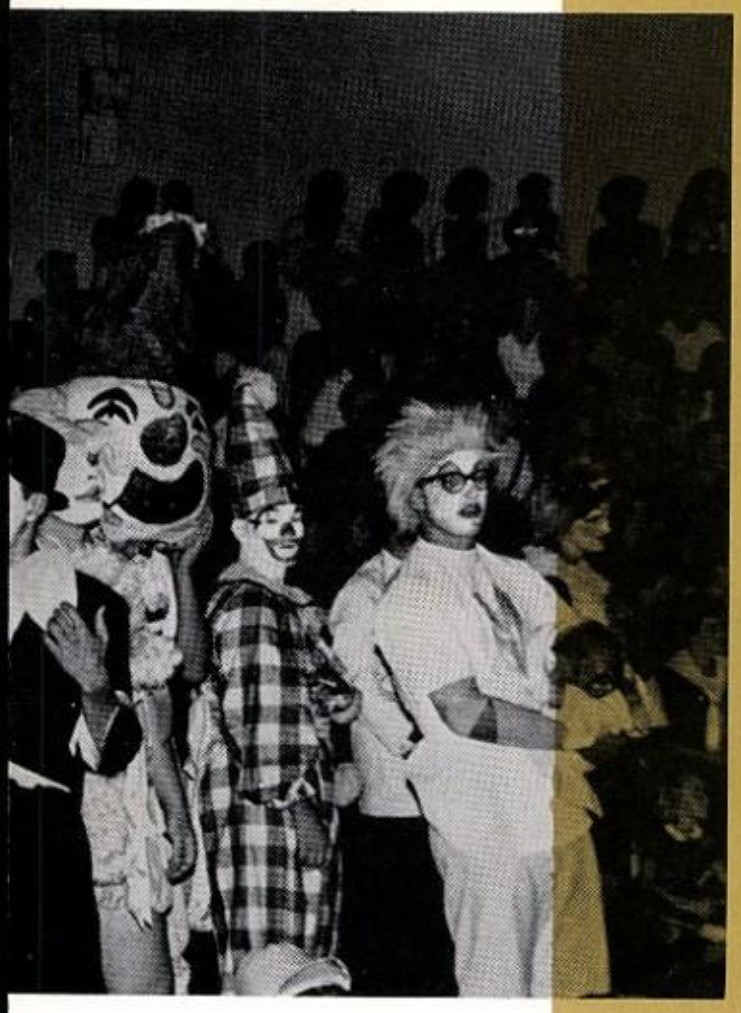
With interest there is activity, with activity there is progress, and with progress there is the satisfaction of a year well spent.

As one school year is ended, preparation for another is begun. Early in June and throughout the summer, students attend camps, conferences, and workshops. Later, the football team, Pep Squad, debate teams, cheerleaders, band and ROTC start daily practice. Thus, a new year begins to take shape.

With the opening of the school doors on September 5, the days were crammed full with activity. The twenty-six clubs, including the newly-formed Creative Writing and Meteorology clubs, made up a major part of this activity. Midterm brought to

In honor of the flags which have flown over Louisiana, the Gayarre History Club presented a special assembly; Sam Moore assisted by Stafford Lyons held the American flag.

Sweating through another hot hour of summer drill, the Pep Squad practices for their first performance.



Participation by both students and actors was thoroughly enjoyed in this annual Peep Show.

of Interest

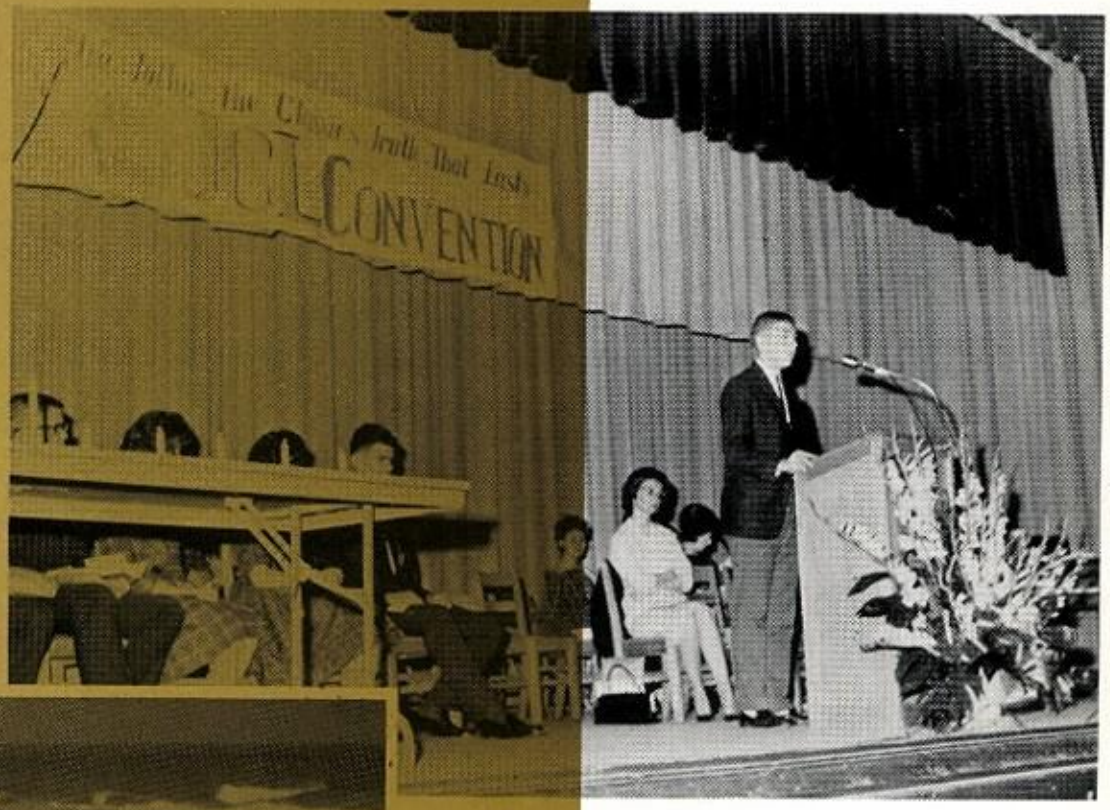
an end the interests of the fall, but left a definite impression in the memory of all who participated in its many fun-filled moments of Patton Platoon and Pep Squad performances, football, the State Student Council Conference, the annual ROTC spaghetti supper, the band's trip to the Orange Bowl, and the debate trips. With Spring comes the "hurry-skurry" of putting into effect all the planning of the fall, Brotherhood speeches, the talent show, the senior play, the Junior Prom, election of Student Council officers, cheerleaders, and Pep Squad members and officers; the various club banquets, finals, and finally, graduation. From interest to satisfaction, from beginning to ending, you make —and are a part of—the Spirit of Byrd.



Representing Byrd in the oratory competition at the Latin Convention held here, Brad Foster spoke on the topic "Follow the Classics Truth That Lasts."

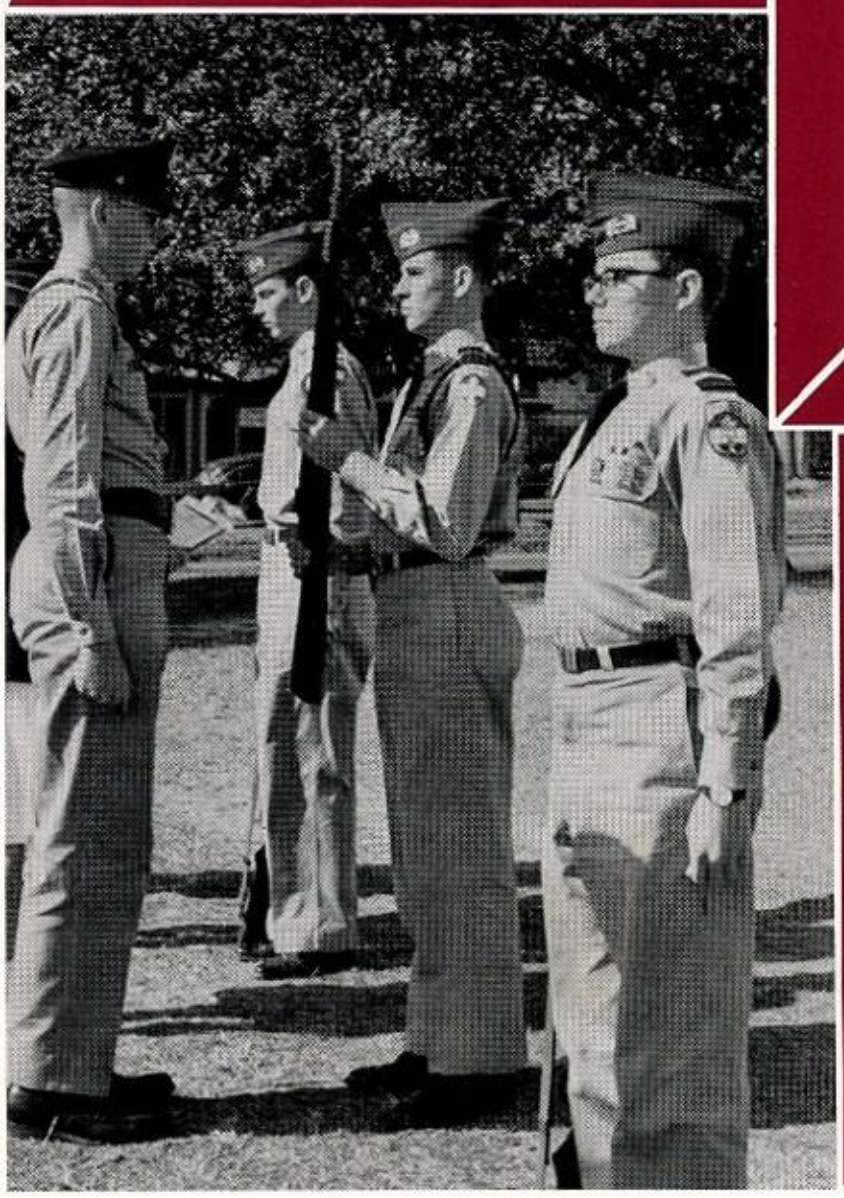
Various experiments concerning atomic power were demonstrated in the science assembly, "This Atomic World." Testing the radioactive material in the dial of a watch, Mr. John E. O'Brien shows Mike Dickson, Butch Dasbit and Russel Hayes the practical uses of nuclear reactions.

Part of learning to drive is learning how and why the car operates. Wanda Savell and Terry McKenzie are shown the parts of the motor by Mr. Graves, the drivers' education instructor.



At strict attention Jeff Rhodes, Tom Gray, and Ted Koerner are inspected by Captain David Doherty, assisted by Captain Trudy Smith, sponsor.

of Knowledge

"Build today, then, strong and sure with a firm and ample base:
And ascending and secure shall tomorrow find its place."

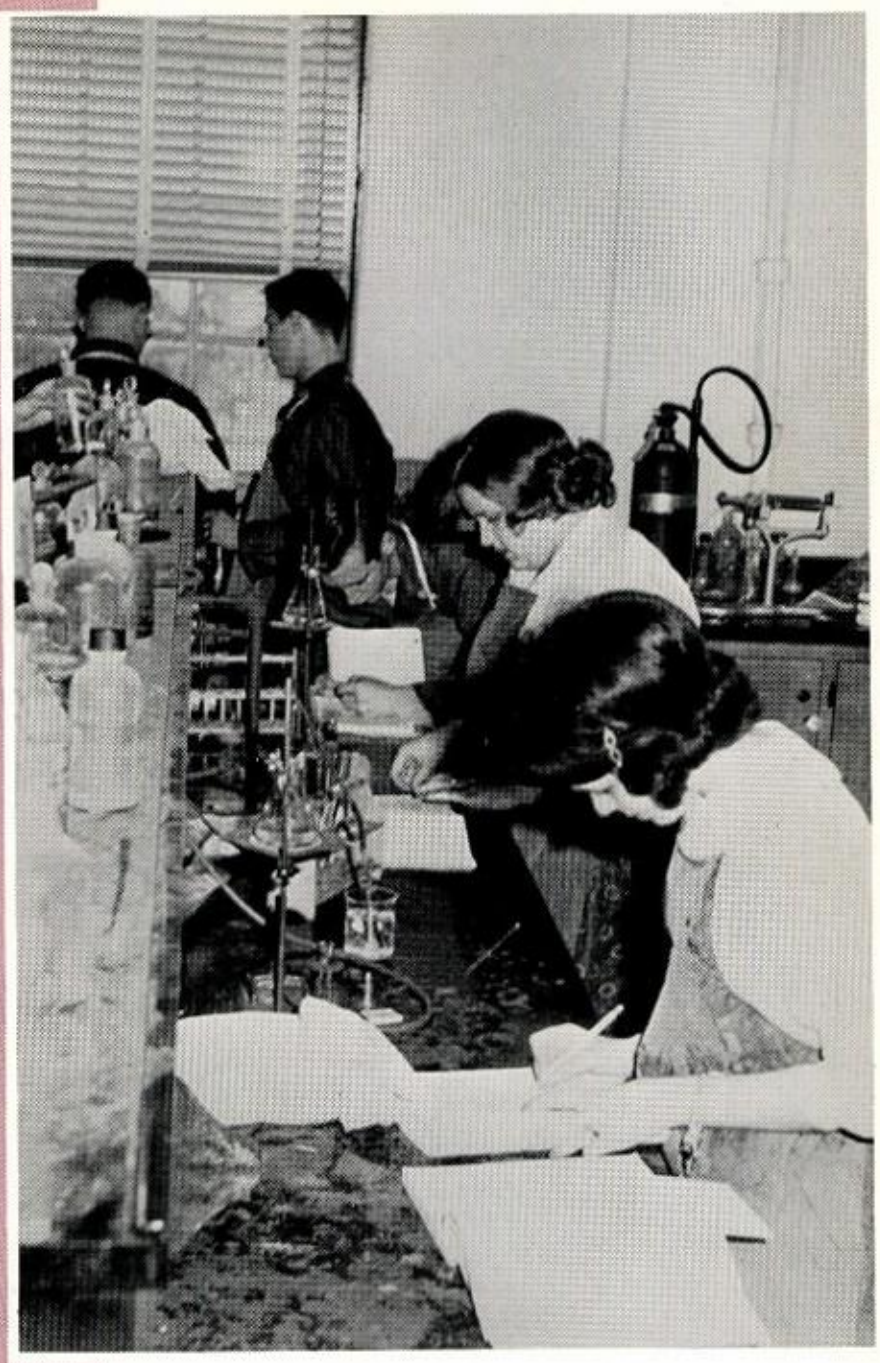
Today, a magnitude of knowledge is merely waiting for us to strive a little harder, to dig a little deeper, to ponder a little longer, to take the initiative to find it. Because of an interested and well-trained faculty, adequate facilities, and efforts through the years to establish a well-rounded academic roster, a student who enters the doors of Byrd may leave as an individual not only with a strong and sure foundation but also with an aim to reach even higher goals.

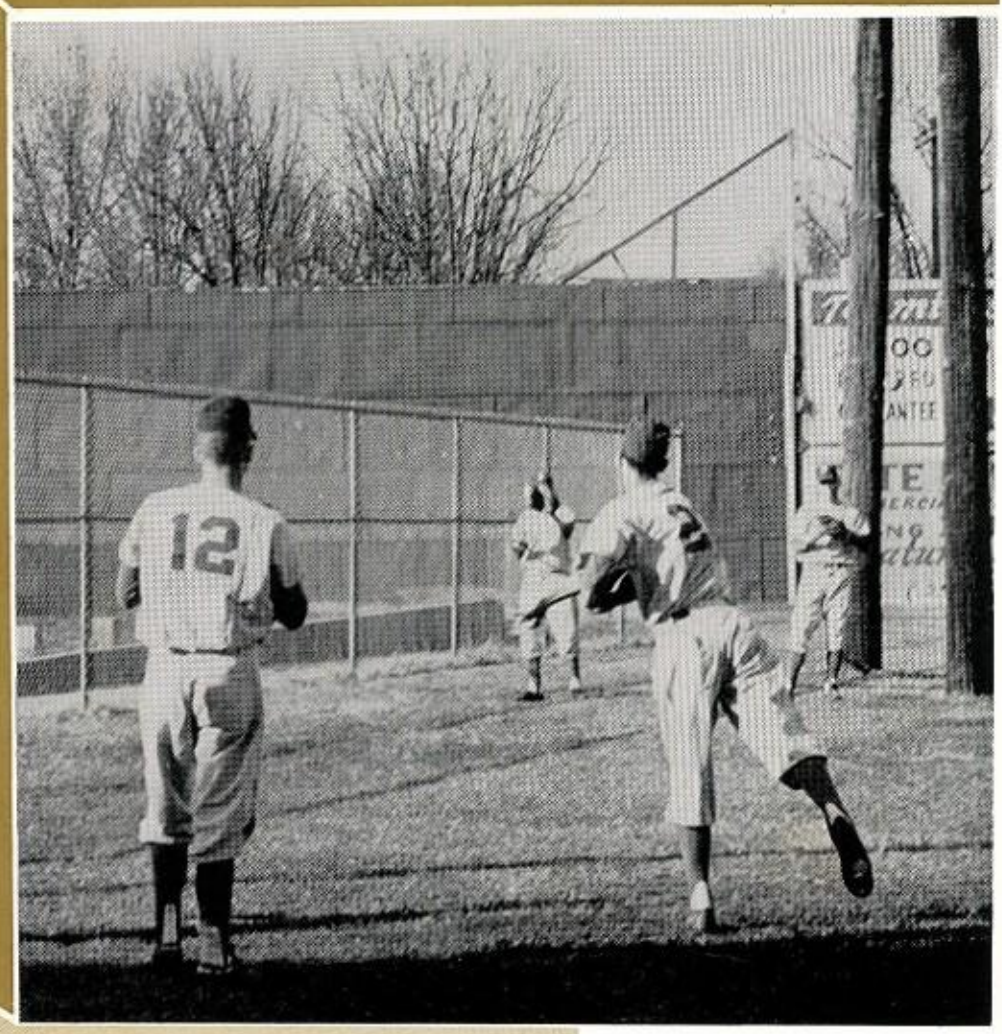
From class to class—whether academic, physical, or, special interest—there is a place for every ambition. Art, woodwork, mechanical drawing, and industrial arts develop skills using the hands, while the band, orchestra, glee club and choir are offered for those with musical talents. The more academic phases of study are established through the English, math, science, history, and foreign language departments. Though physical education is an essential part of growth, as it teaches self-confidence, sportsmanship and self-discipline, many boys prefer to set their attention to learning precision and military discipline and organization through the ROTC. Through your efforts and initiative, academic achievement is continued and your "spirit of knowledge" is made an essential part of the Spirit of Byrd.



Chemistry involves many hours of experimenting, and then compiling the results to form conclusions. Brodie Nalle, Patsy Hughen, and Rita Herold complete and answer questions on an experiment concerning bases and acids, while Gary Gordon and Taylor Moore weigh chemicals.

Expressing signs of dismay and contentment, Mike Meece and Linda Hailey portray two lovers in the one act play, "A Melodrama," presented by the Drama Club. In the background is Manuel, the "man-of-all-work," enacted by Buddy Hammann.

Your Spirit



Warming up before the Fair Park game, some baseball players prepare for the strenuous ordeal of a hard-fought game.

"B-Y-R-D, Beat Your Rival's Desire." This slogan has come to mean a great deal to the students at Byrd, for with it comes a feeling of eagerness to succeed—not only on the athletic field or court, but also in every other phase of competition. For debaters it is a necessity, for the band, orchestra, and choir it is a prerequisite, and for the ROTC it is a demand.

Desire earned the NFL the "Outstanding Chapter Award," it made eleven students finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition, it advanced the basketball team to the state playoffs and gave the football team winning scores in all games except two.

United, everyone comprises the Desire of Byrd, for, where there are Jackets gathered, there is loyalty, and from this loyalty grows "Your Spirit of Desire," which makes it a part of you and you a part of it.

Desire of a good record and possible promotion, an ROTC class stands at attention as their officer, George Dover, prepares them for daily inspection.

of Desire

The Jacket offense shows continued desire and zeal as they drive forward for a touchdown during the Fair Park game. Jogger Johnson and Steve Hidalgo assisted the runner with fine blocks.

Brad Clinkenbeard completes his final stretch before, with a burst of strength, he puts the shot for a qualifying distance.

Selected as members of the Byrd All-Tournament team for outstanding play and sportsmanship, Bob Thompson and Terry Smith receive trophies as on-lookers cheer.

Displaying their skill on a hunt through the "Bossier Jungle," some football players capture a Bearcat in the pep assembly held before the Bossier game.

Both organizations raising money to buy new equipment, the ROTC sponsors and Pep Squad engaged in a swift-moving, hard-tumbling basketball game. Suzanne Musgrave, Janet Higgens, Pam Rainwater, Ellen Prudhomme, Judy Nelson, and Trudy Smith anxiously await the outcome of a hurriedly-aimed shot at the basket.

Your Spirit

Mass pandemonium prevailed as hundreds of students swarmed to exchange their receipts for '63 GUSHER's. The confusion was brought to tranquility, however, as male members of the staff stood on the tables to hand out the yearbooks.

Spirit is exhaulted to the highest point both in the stands and on the field as the Pep Squad, accompanied by the Band, leads students in the traditional "We Are Jackets", during a crucial moment of the North Caddo game.

During the Student Council project to improve the dirt parking lot, students helped to clear the area of trees and underbrush so that it could be graveled. Don Duran and Bill Erwin cut a tree into pieces to be hauled away.

of Enthusiasm

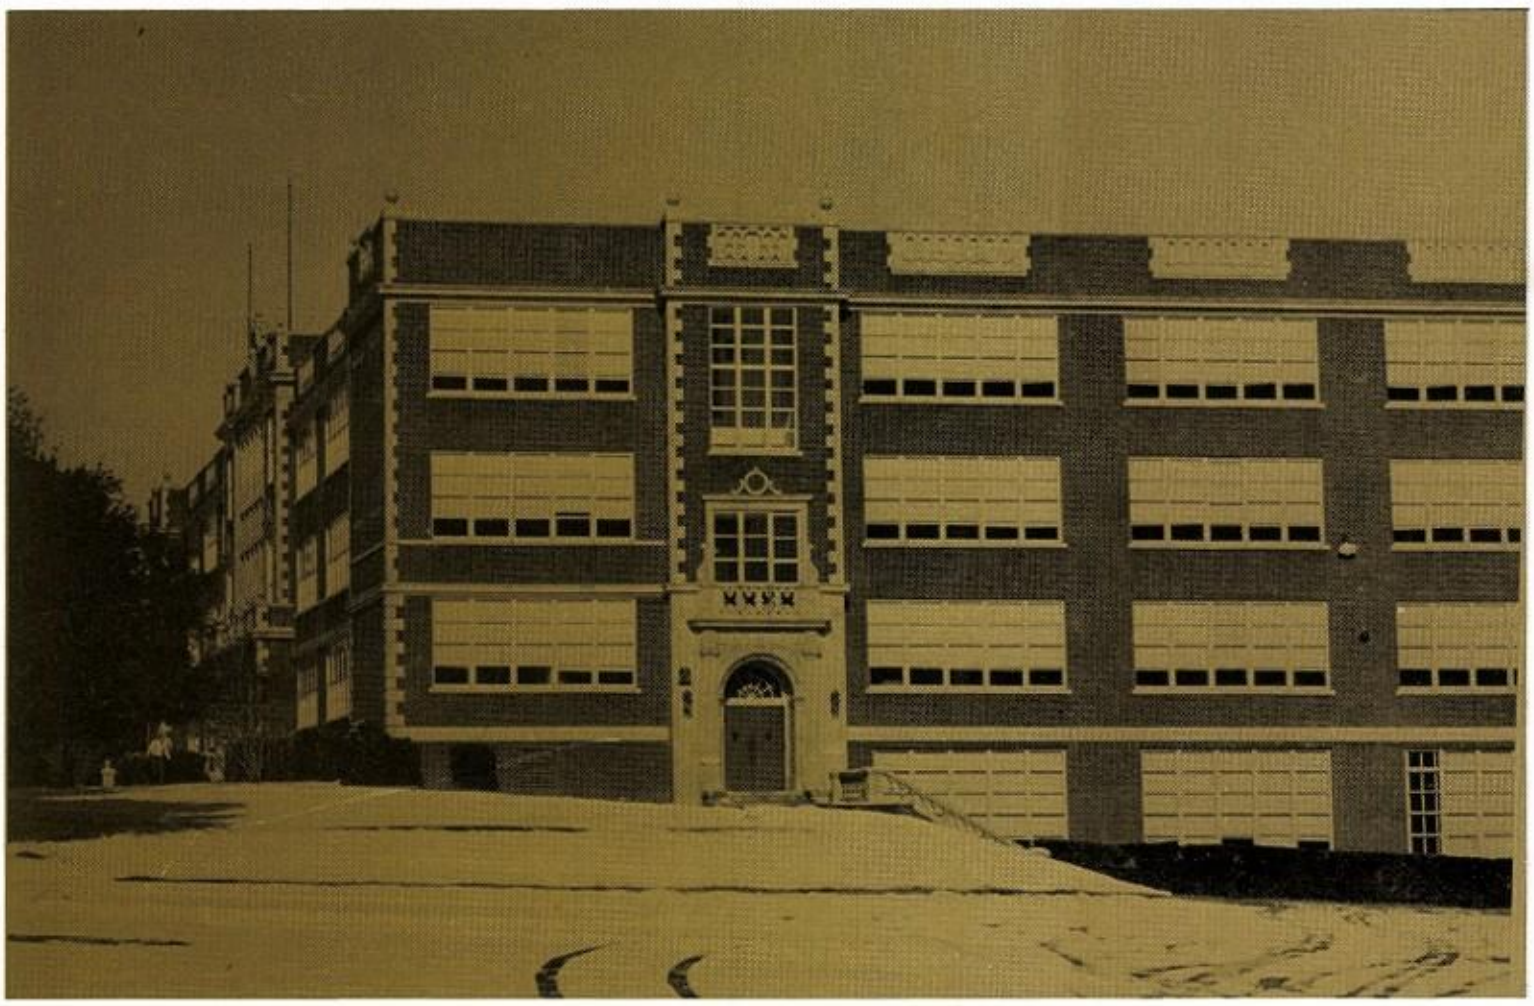
Enthusiasm plays a big part in every phase of belonging to Byrd and being a "Jacket." When "We Are Jackets" is sung as "Jack the Jacket" is raised into sight of all, it not only arouses the football or basketball team, but also instills in each person in the stands the realization that we all, together, make Byrd what it is, and whether we win or lose, we stand as one in loyalty and united support. This same enthusiasm does not stop with athletics but flows into all school activities. Because of it, the state-wide Student Council convention, the Spaghetti supper sponsored by the Junior Class, the Band's trip to the Orange Bowl, the improvement on the dirt parking lot, and many other worthwhile efforts were successes. Fads also played a part in the enthusiasm of Byrdites this year, as girls began wearing knee socks and boys were caught up in the trend of wearing patches on the elbows of their sweaters. Through combined thoughts and efforts, each student has contributed something, no matter how apparently insignificant, to the Enthusiasm of the Jackets, to the Spirit of Byrd.

Your Spirit

Everyone dances as the annual military ball gets off to a start. This dance highlights the year for all boys in the ROTC as their 1964 officers are presented.

Pride may be a feeling noble, dignified, and admirable; which bids us keep doggedly on, when we are about to fall, or otherwise works through our natural self-respect to compel us to be our best. Such pride is perhaps the very heart of Byrd, for with it every student feels compelled to do his part to uphold the traditions of our school. Working hard through the summer and fall, the athletic teams, band, pep squad, and debaters stand as ex-

Bringing pride and honor to Byrd through marching and playing skills, the band presents a half-time performance in precision marching during the Jesuit football game.



A moment of silence and serenity after students have been dismissed because of snow, the building, the very symbol of Byrd, stands in all its pride and majesty.

of Pride

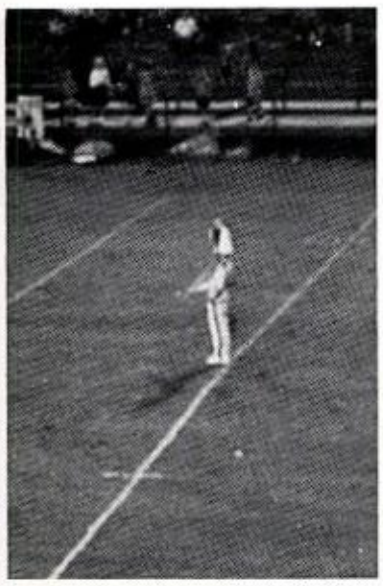
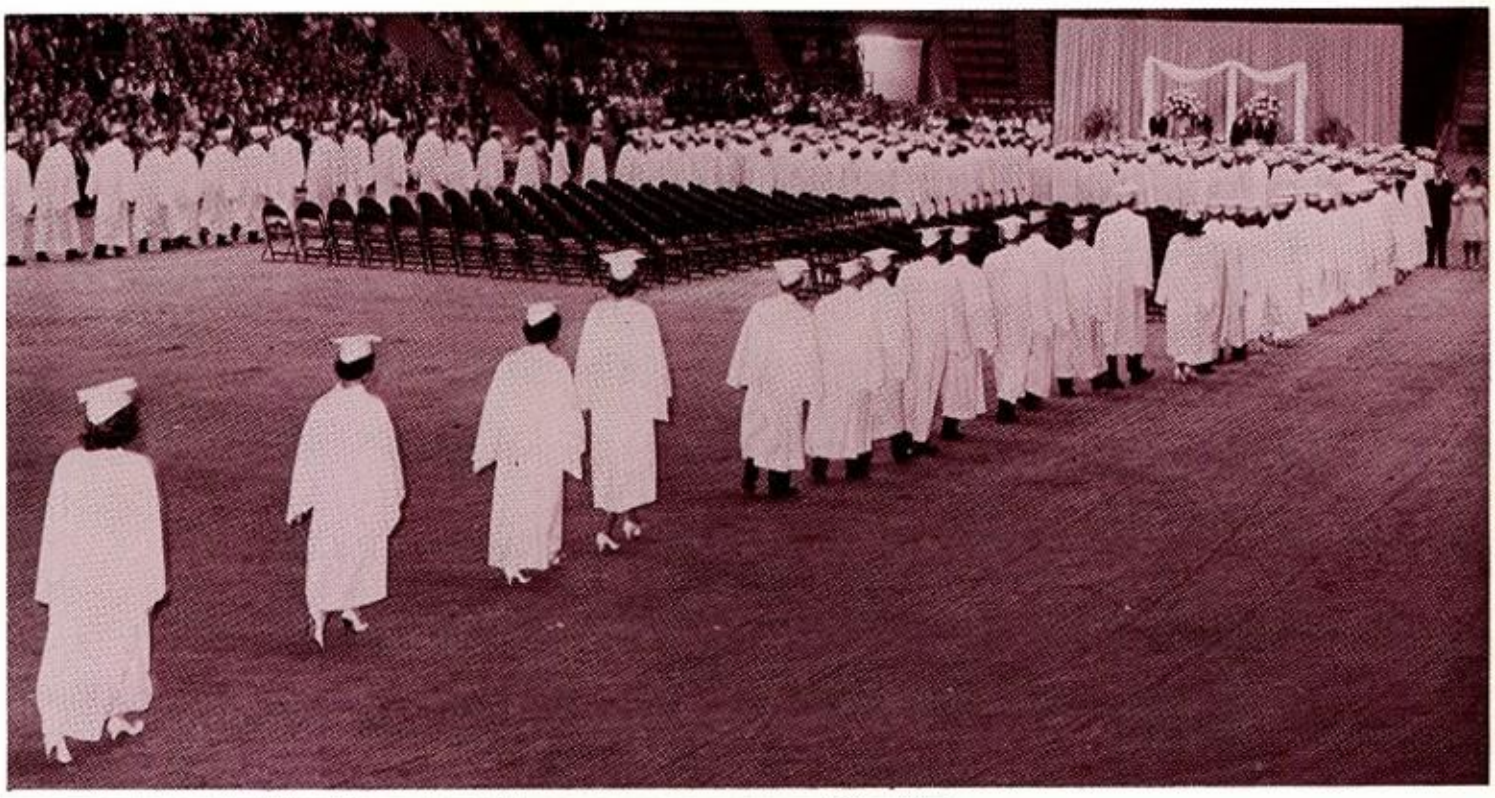
amples; in the spring, the talent show, senior play, campaigns, Junior Prom, climaxed by graduation, complete the agenda for one year but also begin it for the next. Thus, as school is dismissed for the summer and the building is left in the quietude of emptiness, all these spirits—Interest, Knowledge, Desire, Enthusiasm, and Pride—are absorbed into the never-ending, never-ceasing to grow memories of Byrd and the year 1964.

Enthusiastically exchanging money and receipts for their senior rings last May, Mary Forrester, Susan Magee, and Rosemary Pullen, along with every other junior, experience the pride of displaying the symbol of a senior.





Filing in to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance", Seniors complete the final step in their three years of high school as they listen to several addresses and then receive their diplomas.

The Junior Prom, paid for by money raising projects sponsored by the Junior Class, brings to an end an exciting and eventful year for all juniors.

Spirit of Byrd

"Teach me to see,
When the road seems so rough
On each mountain of fear that I climb,
There's a valley so green somewhere on the way,
Where joy and peace will be mine."

Laura Hope Wood

Teachers are paths to the future that point us to the stimulating world of knowledge and learning. They help us to mold the futures of ourselves, our nation, and, our world toward the ideals and convictions of our forefathers or the grotesque beliefs of our enemies.
In their palms they hold the tomorrows of the universe. They are there to help us, often without our knowledge, through the jolts and surprises on the precarious road to maturity.
Their hands are many times there to help without being seen or appreciated. And every year as new classes move up, they meet new fears and apprehensions to cope with,
and new challenges to conquer, and once again mold a young heart and mind with their deep wisdom.

Our teachers are perhaps some of the most influential people in our lives. Standing in front of the library, the pathway to knowledge, are Mr. Charles A. Ravenna, Assistant Principal; Mr. Morris C. Allums, Science; Miss Marjory Lawrence, Social Science; Miss Neva Norsworthy, Mathematics; Sgt. Emile Charbonneau, ROTC.

Principal Inspires Students

MR. J. H. DUNCAN
B.A., Trinity University
M.A., University of Texas

Possessing a deep interest in all athletics in the school, Mr. Duncan proudly watches Byrd's football team strive for a victory.

Mr. Duncan is always willing to represent Byrd at various conventions and other functions. Gene Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Duncan enjoy the banquet of the Student Council State Convention, which was held at Byrd this year.

Giving most of his time and effort to improve the students of Byrd and the school itself, Mr. Duncan's hours are always full. Supervisor of Byrd's athletic, social, and academic programs, he still manages to find time to know most students personally. Representing Byrd, Mr. Duncan attends various meetings and conventions throughout the year. He lends a helping hand to any teacher or student who needs it and is a symbol of encouragement and accomplishment to all with whom he comes in contact.

Assistant Principals and Counselors

CHARLES A. RAVENNA
B.S., Centenary College
M.S., Louisiana State University
M.A., Peabody College

Mr. Ravenna, who shows his deep interest in Byrd students by learning all students by name, handles his varied and numerous jobs ably and efficiently. As assistant principal in charge of administration, his responsibilities include the supervision of student elections, school social affairs, discipline, and the preparation of attendance records. The outside interests of this master of the art of friendliness are gardening, hunting, and traveling.

MISS JANICE DAVIDSON
B.A., Louisiana Polytechnic Institute
M.Ed., Northwestern State College

Advising students in their choice of colleges or vocations, Miss Davidson is known to all juniors and seniors. Always willing to counsel with students and their parents, she checks senior credits and works with applicants qualified for scholarships. Our counselor's hobbies include bridge, music, people, and travel.

These teachers have become citizens of Byrd this year at mid-term: Miss Susan Schreiber, who teaches art, Mr. William Shaw, who teaches junior English, Mrs. Ocile Robinson, who teaches girls' gym, Mrs. Kirby Rowe, who also instructs junior English, and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, who teaches French II classes.

Endear Themselves to Students

MARY CLYDE WINTLE
B.S., Kansas State College
M.Ed., Stephen F. Austin

With her winning smile and delightful personality, Mrs. Wintle aids both students and teachers in the capacity of assistant principal in charge of the instructional program. She is sincerely interested in all her duties: orienting new teachers, supervising testing programs, averaging grades, and ordering all textbooks and materials. In her leisure time Mrs. Wintle likes to read, travel, and listen to music.

Enjoying themselves as much as, or more than, the spectators, Mr. Ravenna and Mrs. Wintle, dressed in "Gay Nineties" costumes, ride their two-seater bicycle once around the gym floor at the Byrd High Stingerettes' annual "Peep Show."

Mrs. Davidson helpfully checks senior credits with two girls as Mrs. Nissen prepares to remove the girls' records from the file.

MRS. SARAH RAINS
B.A., Centenary College
M.Ed., Northwestern State College

Mrs. Rains, counselor for all sophomores and first-semester juniors, lends her helping hand to all new students and aids them in acquainting themselves with the city of Byrd. She helps plan Orientation Day and holds individual conferences with new students.

Staff Keeps School Running

MAXINE CULBERTSON

Manager of the Byrd cafeteria, Mrs. Culbertson has attended business college. In leisure hours she finds pleasure in cooking, sewing, and reading.

ARMINTA HOLLENSHEAD

Mrs. Hollenshead, who attended Norton's Business School, is Byrd's bookkeeper. Boating and sewing are among her outside interests and activities.

JUANITA NISSEN

Mrs. Nissen, school registrar and secretary for the counselors, attended Draughon's Business College.

MARIAN McFERREN

Mrs. McFerren, who is Mr. Duncan's secretary, has her desk in office 101. Besides doing anything Mr. Duncan may request, she sends all the transcripts requested by students to the colleges of their choice.

The thirty-minute break for lunch is an enjoyable interlude for girls.

Among Margaret Freeman's duties as an office worker are answering the telephone and helping people check out. She calls one of the day's absentees.

Nancy Scott, who has given up her study hall to help in the office, deposits mail and other information in the teachers' boxes.

Clint Snell, Cathy Layton, and Miriam Shively select their plates from the various dishes served by members of the cafeteria staff.

on a Smooth Basis

In addition to faculty and students are the secretaries, cafeteria personnel and school engineers. These people add much to Byrd.

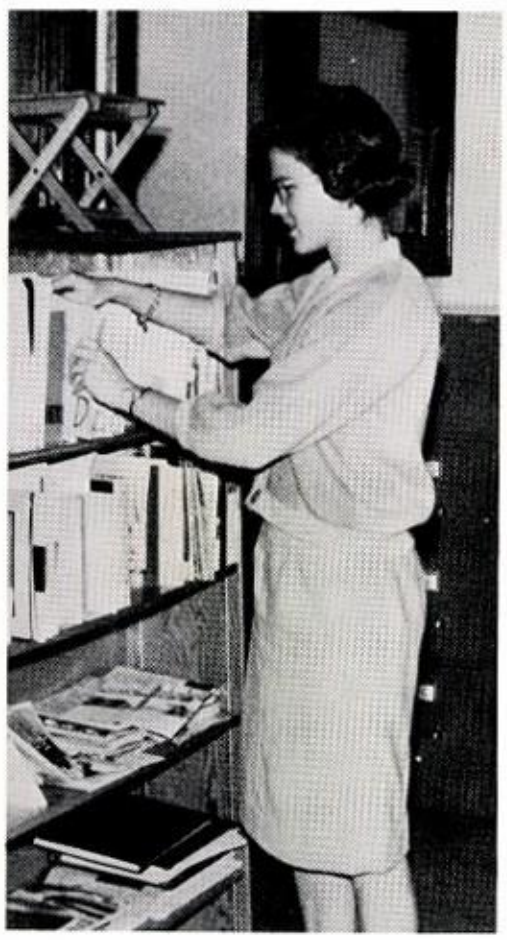
In the main office, four efficient secretaries give of their time to keep the city of Byrd in smooth working order. They perform various necessary functions, which include dealing with applications, records, accounts, and absentees.

Regulating the heating system, seeing that each classroom is kept clean, and keeping up the appearance of the building and grounds are among the duties of the school engineers. Without these people, our building and campus could not look as nicely kept as it does.

Giving much attention and time to serving students well-balanced and nourishing, as well as delicious, meals at noon, the cafeteria personnel are always kept busy. Cafeteria workers aid them by serving plates, handing out ice cream and milk, and keeping an adequate supply of clean silverware available. On special days, such as Christmas, Thanksgiving, and Valentine's Day, the staff rises to the occasion by taking special care to serve appropriate meals with a holiday flair.

Choosing their desserts at noon are Dick Midyett, Bill Denny, Janice Fowler, Robin Rankin, and Tommy Peyton.

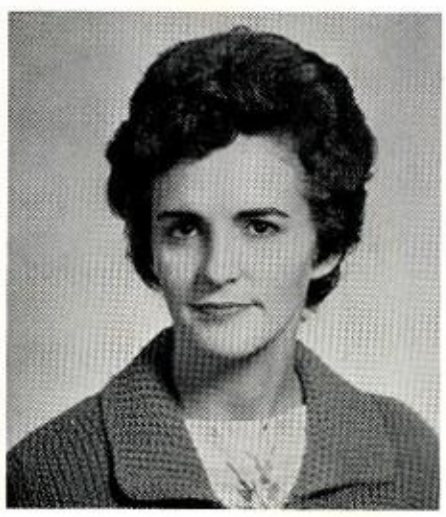
Taking time out between odd jobs to study a little bit are Virgilene Holobaugh and Gary Gentry.



Delores Rollings works for the counselors in the back offices. She is arranging the pamphlets and folders from colleges all over the country which students may refer to in choosing a college.

AUDREY POLAND

Mrs. Poland, who is the assistant manager of the cafeteria, enjoys bowling in her spare time.



BARBARA THOMAS

Serving as Byrd's attendance secretary, Mrs. Thomas also finds time to sponsor the Youth Council at her church. In leisure hours she fishes, plays tennis, or trains German shepherds.

GADDIS WARE

A graduate of Tri-State College of Engineering in Indiana and holding a B.S. degree, Mr. Ware is in charge of the refrigeration and electrical heating systems at Byrd. When not here at school, he enjoys various sports with his children.

Commerce Develops Clerical

FRANK BOYDSTON

Finding pleasure in gardening, fishing, and watching television, Mr. Boydston teaches typing at Byrd. He secured a B.S. degree at Centenary College and an M.A. degree at Louisiana State University.

Learning to take dictation rapidly is one of the first requirements of becoming a secretary. These girls practice taking shorthand in order to become efficient secretaries.

EVELYN CARMICHAEL

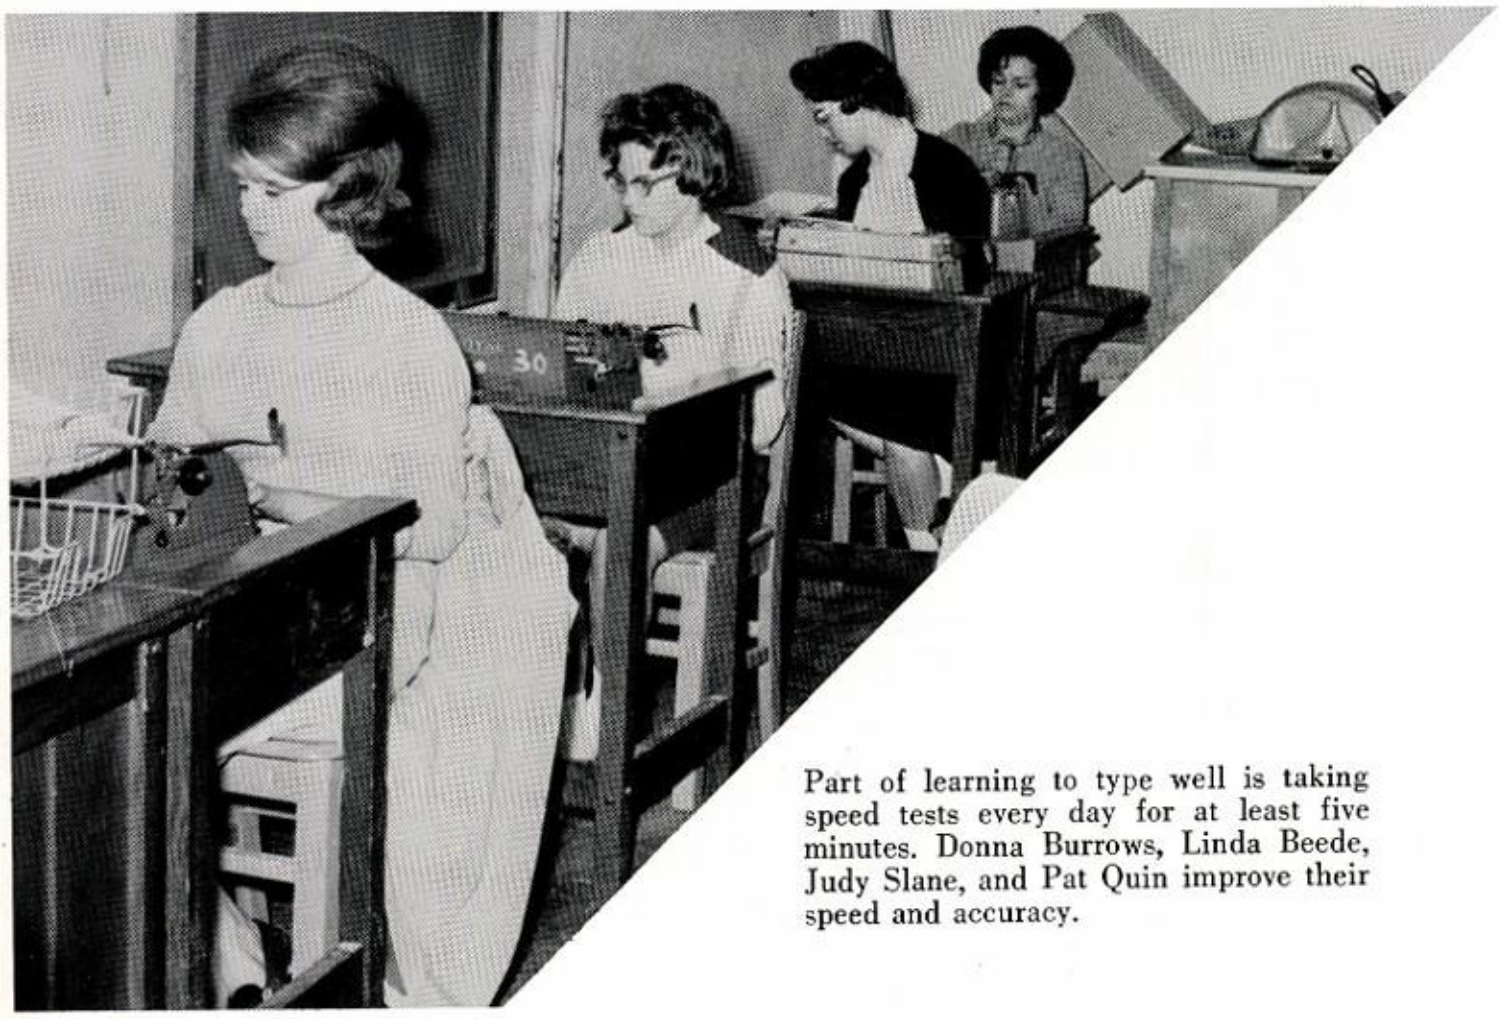
Mrs. Carmichael procured her B.S. degree from Northwestern State College and an M.A. degree from Stephen F. Austin College. When not teaching typewriting, she delights in doing things for other people and arranging flowers.

DAISY DOBSON

Having attended Louisiana Tech and Northwestern in Chicago, Mrs. Dobson graduated with a B.A. degree. Treasurer of the Teachers' Credit Union, she now teaches office practice.

DAISY ISGETT

This is Mrs. Isgett's first year at Byrd. She, who earned her B.S. degree at Louisiana Tech, now teaches typing.



Part of learning to type well is taking speed tests every day for at least five minutes. Donna Burrows, Linda Beede, Judy Slane, and Pat Quin improve their speed and accuracy.

EARLINE JORDAN

When not teaching shorthand, Miss Jordan enjoys reading, playing bridge, and music. Having attended both Louisiana Tech and Peabody College, she holds B. A. and M.A. degrees.

Skills for Future Use

EDNA JEWEL MORGAN
Having received her B.A. degree at Northwestern State College, Mrs. Morgan teaches typing. Among her other activities is being co-sponsor of the Future Teachers of America.

NELL SPINKS
Having received A.B. and M.Ed. degrees from Birmingham Southern College and Stephen F. Austin College, Mrs. Spinks teaches bookkeeping and Business English. Reading, music, and traveling are a few of her leisure pastimes.

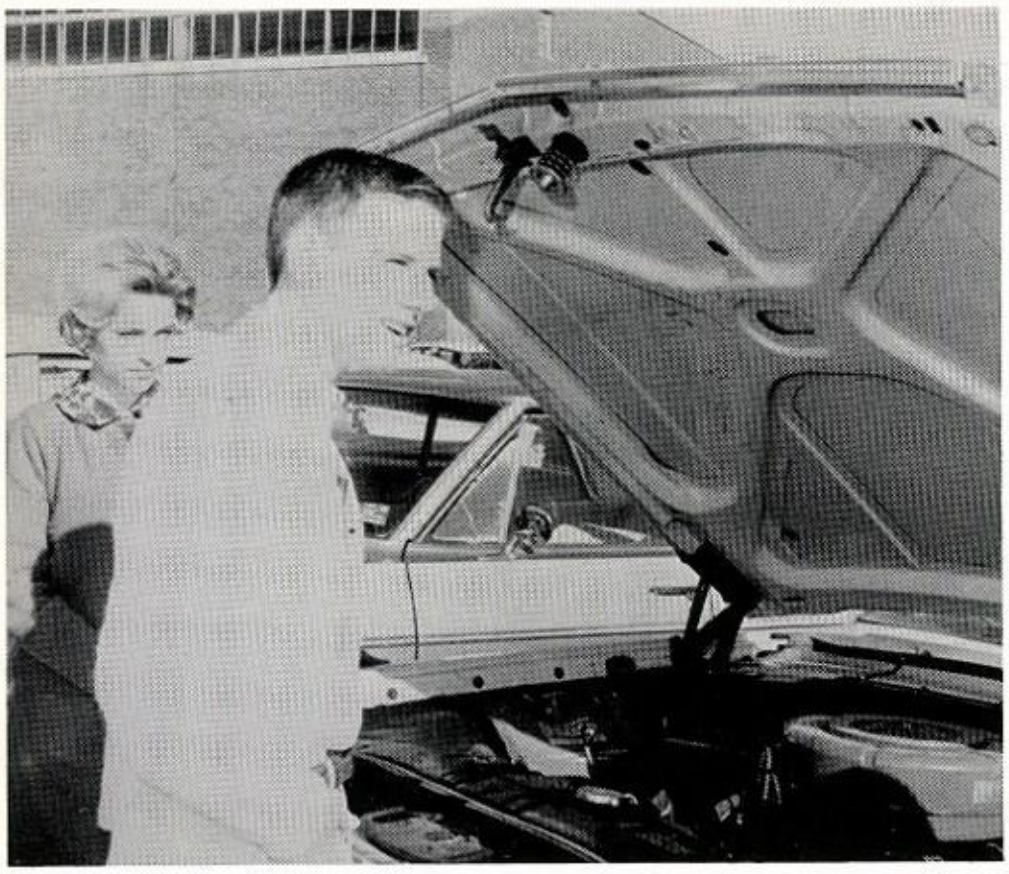
Preparing students for our modern business world, the Commerce Department endows future businessmen and women with a varied knowledge of office skills. Students taking commercial courses learn facts and business techniques and procedures which become invaluable to them in acquiring the job of their choice in one of the various fields of business offered.

Numerous courses in commerce are offered at Byrd to interested students. In Shorthand I and II future secretaries learn to take dictation rapidly. Typing I and II classes involve first learning the fundamentals of typing and then improving speed and accuracy. In Clerical Practice one can improve himself in all office skills, including typing letters and office forms. A study of the business cycle and entries in journals is included in bookkeeping, a course which is offered only to juniors and seniors. A commerce major may take Business English, in which he learns terms and correct business procedures.

Many offices of the Shreveport area are staffed in the executive and clerical fields by the very competent graduates of a department that teaches both theory and practice.

As others work diligently on their bookkeeping practice sets, Ray Gammill and Buddy Hammann consult Mrs. Spinks about cost ledgers.

In Business English students become familiar with terms and correct business procedures. These students prepare themselves for the business world by doing a good job on their classwork.



In Drivers' Education students learn to understand the mechanics of a car and the way to drive it. Wanda Savell and Nason Brookings inspect the inner workings of the D.E. car.

CHLOE CLARK

Miss Clark, a teacher of Distributive Education, also sponsors the Distributive Education Club. She holds a B.S.E. degree from Arkansas State Teachers College and an M.Ed. degree from the University of Arkansas.

MELVIN R. GRAVES

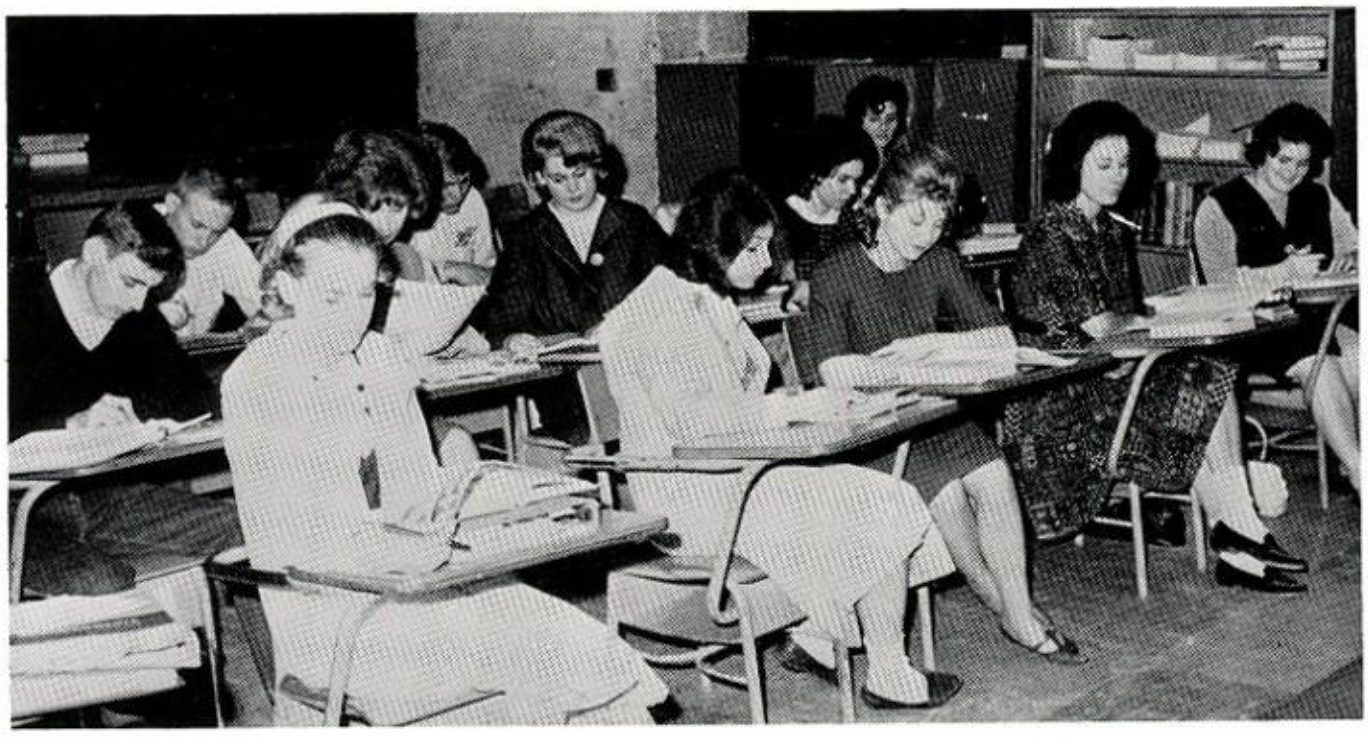
Having obtained a B.A. degree from Louisiana College and an M.Ed. from Stephen F. Austin College, Mr. Graves teaches driving. When not filling his responsibilities as the school's business manager, he finds enjoyments in golfing, fishing, and athletics.

D.E. and Driving Offer Useful Training

Offered to juniors and seniors at least sixteen years of age, Distributive Education is a course by which students can receive training and actual practice in wholesale and retail selling. They spend only one-half a day studying regular classes in school and the remaining half working in some local firm which distributes goods. By the end of the year, D.E. students have earned one credit for D.E. classwork and another one for on-the-job training. Since these students have also received the required credits for their regular classes, they graduate with seventeen credits and an acute knowledge of the business world.

Since experienced and educated drivers are safer for themselves and others on the road, Drivers' Education produces this type of driver. Having taken part in this program, which includes thirty hours of classroom education and six hours of actual driving, the student is well-qualified to receive his state driver's license. Drivers' Education is the only course at Byrd which continues for twelve months out of the year.

D.E. students spend half the day working in a local store. Ben Phelps arranges an attractive display to tempt buyers in a local shoe store.



An hour a day is spent in the Distributive Education classroom learning business techniques and good salesmanship. These students pick up various pointers from magazines.

NANCY C. LONNEGAN

Mrs. Lonnegan, sponsor of the Homecoming Court, is usually busy teaching sophomore English. After attending Henderson State Teachers College, New Mexico Highland University, and the University of New Mexico, she obtained her B.A. degree.

Affecting more students than any other department in any high school is the English Department. Every student that enters Byrd's doors is both directly and indirectly influenced by it. The knowledge gained here is used throughout life in any vocation a student may pursue.

Sophomores learn through appreciation of world literature, and acknowledgment of American literature is revealed to Juniors.

English literature is the basis for all Senior English study. To each class, in addition to literature, rules of grammar, punctuation, and spelling are drilled extensively. If full advantage of Byrd's English Department is taken by the student, he is sure to be able to associate with others in everyday living with the full benefits in the knowledge gained here.

MARY S. McCLANAHAN

After attending Hardin-Simmons University and Centenary College, Mrs. McClanahan obtained her B.S. degree. This English III teacher is interested in politics and reading.

Students Reap Benefits From ENGLISH

NANCY NOLEN

Teaching both English II and III, Mrs. Nolen enjoys reading and music as outside interests. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Mississippi State College for Women.

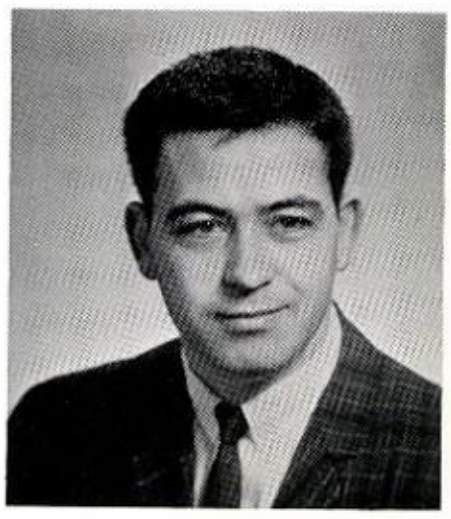
Being timed by Ken Francis in Mr. Roger's Speech class is Anne Petrey as she advances into the final two minutes of her extemporaneous speech.

JIMMIE N. ROGERS

Holding a B.A. degree from Southern State College, Mr. Rogers, sponsor of the National Forensic League and the Debate Club, instructs speech and debate. He is also executive secretary of the Louisiana High School Speech League.

JOHN RANDALL TABOR

In addition to being an instructor of English II and Journalism, Mr. Tabor sponsors the Editorial Staff of the High Life and Quill and Scroll. Holding a B.A. degree from Louisiana Tech, he gets pleasure from golf and educational television programs.



LOUISE WRIGHT

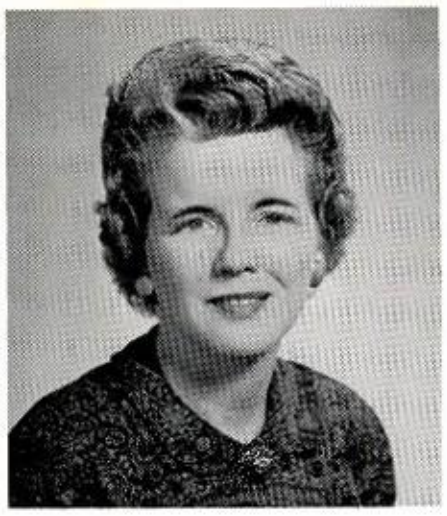
Holding a B.A. degree from Louisiana Tech, Mrs. Wright teaches Junior English. Sponsoring the Business Staff of the GUSHER and the Quill and Scroll, she still finds time for reading, bowling, and fishing.

SADIE V. YARBROUGH

In earning her Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees, Mrs. Yarbrough attended Sophie Newcomb College and Louisiana State University. Besides teaching Senior English, Mrs. Yarbrough is a sponsor of the Creative Writing Club.

ELAINE GUINN

Co-sponsor of the Drama Club, Mrs. Guinn attended Louisiana College and T.C.U. before obtaining a B.A. degree. In her first year of teaching sophomore English at Byrd, she enjoys music, drama, and reading.



VIRGINIA CHADICK

Having attended L.S.U. and the University of Arkansas, Miss Chadick graduated with B.A. and M.Ed. degrees. She has classes in English II and civics and is also co-sponsor of the National Honor Society. Miss Chadick also enjoys traveling and photography.

ANNA HOLMES McGRAW

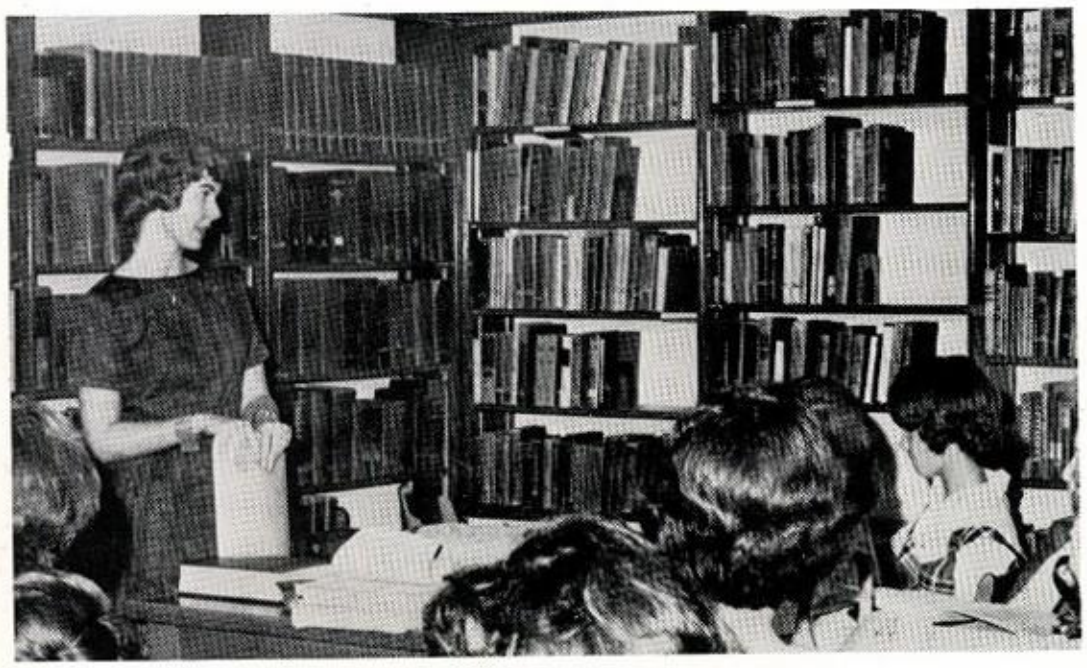
Reading and traveling being included among her outside interests, Mrs. McGraw is qualified to teach English III by having both B.A. and M.Ed. degrees from Northwestern State College.

Good GRAMMAR

CAROL MAGNAN

Interested in sports and reading, Miss Magnan teaches English III. After attending Louisiana Tech and St. Cloud State College in Minnesota, she secured her B.A. degree.

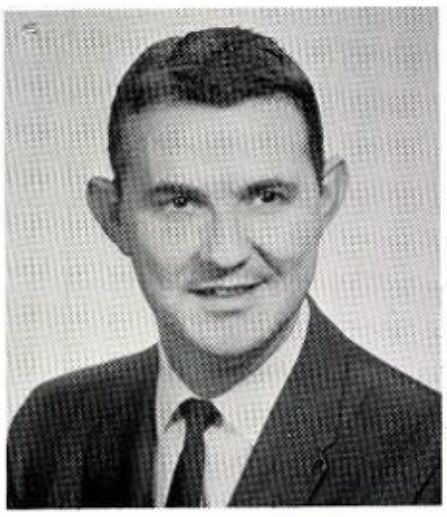
In Mrs. McGraw's English class, Pam George speaks to the group on the American novel as her classmates listen with interest.



Mrs. Martin explains to a sophomore English class the different assets of the library and shows them where everything is placed.

MAX EDMONSON

In addition to teaching English IV, Mr. Edmonson enjoys traveling and gardening as his outside interests. Possessing a B.A. degree, he attended the University of Washington.



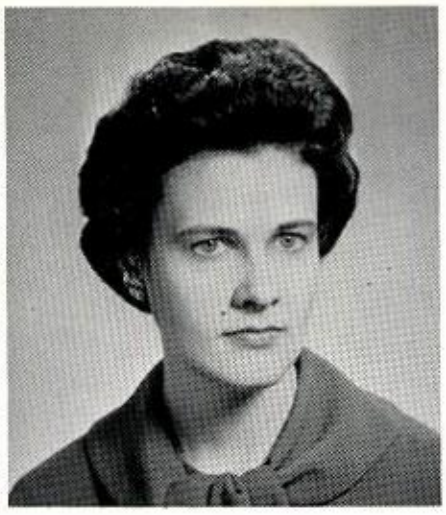
PAT ANN GLADDEN

When not occupied with teaching Speech I and II, Miss Gladden can usually be found enjoying sports, music, or knitting. A graduate of Northwestern State with a B.A. degree, she is the sponsor of the Drama Club.

Aids After Graduation

MAMIE BREAZEALE

After attending Centenary, L.S.U. and Chicago University, Mrs. Breazeale obtained her B.A. and M.A. degrees. Sponsor of the Quill and Scroll and the High Life Business Staff, this sophomore English teacher lists her grandchildren, sewing, gardening, traveling, and bridge as her outside interests.



GALE BRIDGER

Louisiana Tech furnished Mrs. Bridger with her B.A. degree which qualifies her to teach English II and IV at Byrd. A sponsor of the "Z" Club and the cheerleaders, Mrs. Bridger has many outside interests, among them reading, music, drama, and spectator sports.

MARY LOUISE FERGUSON

Miss Ferguson is a graduate of Northwestern State College where she received her B.A. degree. When not occupied with teaching English I and II, she enjoys reading and music. She is also a sponsor of the Student Council.

La VONNE HENRIKSEN

With music and reading occupying her spare time, Miss Henriksen teaches English III. Before beginning her teaching career, this former Byrd student graduated from Louisiana Tech with a B.A. degree.

MARIE RINAUDO

In addition to teaching English IV, Miss Rinaudo, who is sponsor of the R.O.T.C. Sponsors, graduated from Centenary College with a Bachelor of Arts degree. She enjoys reading, plays, photography, and sewing.

MARGEE SANDERS

Enjoying flowers and reading in her spare time, Miss Sanders teaches English IV at Byrd. Sponsor of the Editorial Staff of the GUSHER and Quill and Scroll, she holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Louisiana Polytechnical Institute.

Interested in parts of the Globe Theater and explaining how it was owned and operated by the King's Men are Bobbi Morris, Judy C. Smith, Richard Lane, Ivan Smith, Dottie Stone, and Richard Carruth.

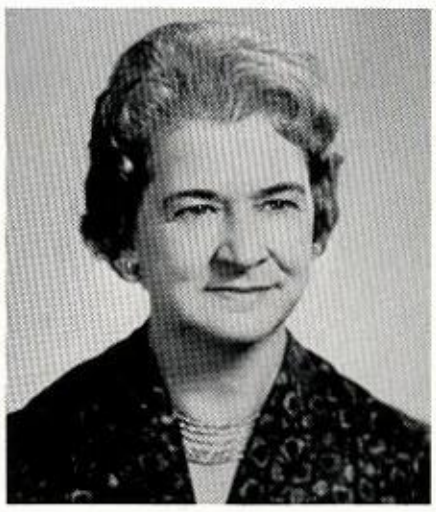
Fine Arts Courses Enrich

Peggy Brooke, John Kennedy, Karen Schlubach, and Kay Faler keep up-to-date on the latest news events by making use of the magazines in the periodical library.

WALTER M. CAUGHEY

Having secured a B.A. degree at Centenary College and an M.Ed. at the University of Arkansas, Mr. Caughey instructs Orchestra and sponsors Chamber Music groups. Besides being the Orchestra Division Chairman of the Louisiana Music Education Association, he also finds pleasure in forestry, golf, and archeology.

In visiting the art exhibit presented by the Brush and Palette Club students learn greater appreciation of the finer arts.



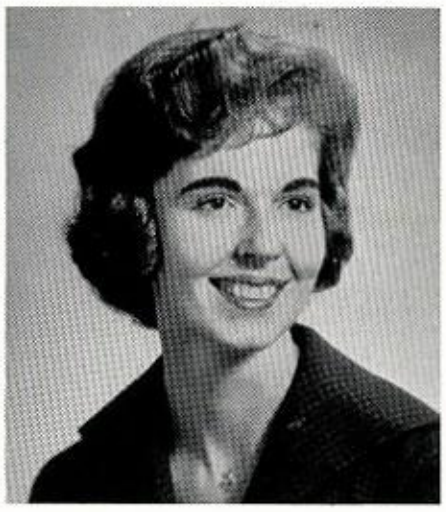
DOROTHY MOSS HANKS

Serving as one of Byrd's librarians, Mrs. Hanks has attended Centenary College, the University of North Carolina, L.S.U., and Northwestern University, and has obtained B.A. and M.A. degrees. She is sponsor of the Library Club and enjoys playing bridge in her leisure time.

Mr. Sullivan skillfully directs the boys' choir in a medley of songs from Broadway hits during a music assembly held in the auditorium.

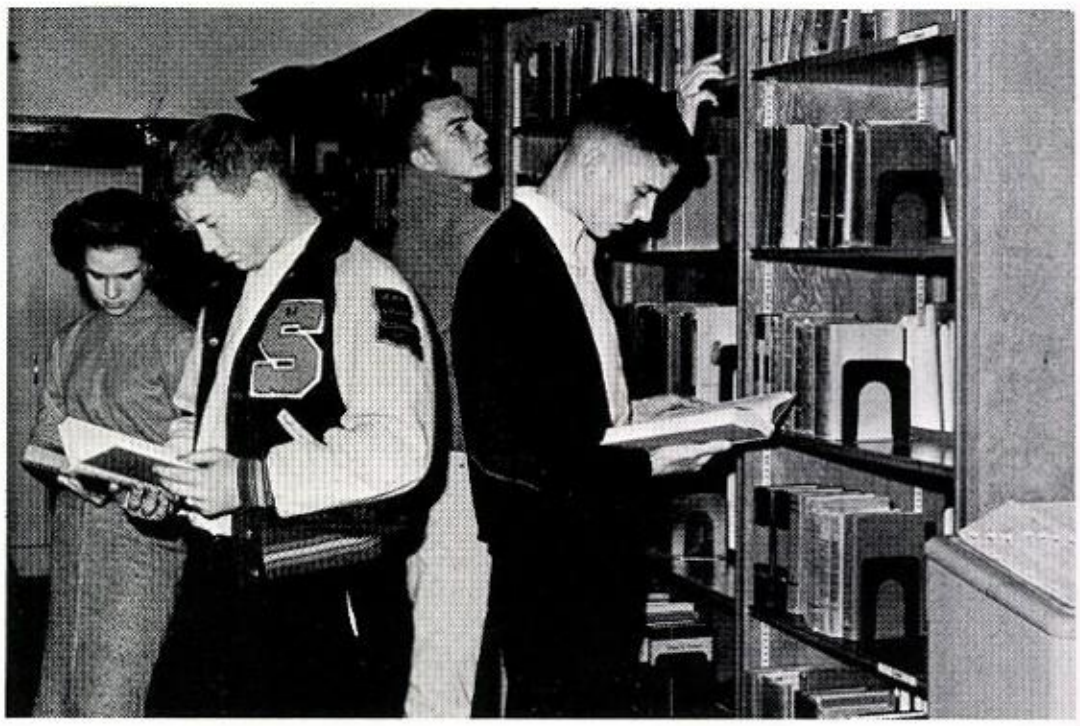
BETTY LAWRENCE

Miss Lawrence, who sponsors the Brush and Palette Club, is Byrd's only art teacher. Loving to read and fish in her spare time, she has procured an A.B. degree from Centenary and an A.A. degree from Judson College.



LINDA LEE MARTIN

A librarian and sponsor of the Library Club, Mrs. Martin enjoys reading, knitting, and target shooting in her spare time. She obtained her B.A. degree at Louisiana Tech.



Checking out books required for their English classes, Nancy McKenzie, Danny Atchley, Jim Adams, and Jere Day make use of Byrd's excellent library facilities.

Lives With Culture and Beauty

The Fine Arts Department, which brings an element of culture to Byrd, includes courses in music, both instrumental and vocal, art, and the library. Although credits in these courses are not required, the many students who take them add a substantial amount of cultural achievement to Byrd. The Byrd High School Band, directed by Mr. Thomas Watson, adds a bright spot to Byrd by boosting school spirit at pep assemblies, performing in football games, presenting concerts, and playing for the school in various programs throughout the year. This year, the band made a special trip to march in the parade at the Orange Bowl football game in Florida. The orchestra, directed by Mr. Walter Caughey, performs often for Byrd students and others. Each year members of the orchestra present concerts and play for the Christmas assembly and graduation exercises. The choir, which also performs at several assemblies and concerts, is under the direction of Mr. James Sullivan. Developing further the natural talent any student may have in art, Miss Betty Lawrence and Miss Susan Schrieber give daily training. In the library department Mrs. Dorothy Hanks, Mrs. Linda Lee Martin, and Mrs. Ora Robison aid students in finding books, magazines, and films in order to help them broaden their classroom knowledge.

ORA ROBISON
Mrs. Robison, who attended Elliot's Business College, serves Byrd in the capacity of secretary of the library. When not here at school, she enjoys collecting coins, reading, and knitting.

JAMES L. SULLIVAN
Mr. Sullivan, instructor of all vocal music at Byrd, obtained his B.S. degree in Music Education at Northeast Louisiana State College. When not teaching, he likes fishing, gardening, and church choir work.

Before the Christmas Holidays the rooms are made bright by festive decorations. Learning to prepare the lovely arrangements are Mary Eydenberg, Molly Biggs, and Charlotte Powell.

The Visual Aids Room contains the study helps, such as film strips, screens, and record players, that teachers use to broaden the subject matter of the class. Richard Choate and Butch Cappel play educational records on one of the new record players purchased this year for the Visual Aids Room.

Mr. Watson leads the Byrd Band in a preview of what they will play in the Orange Bowl Parade.

THOMAS W. WATSON
A graduate of the University of Arkansas and of Oklahoma City University and holder of B.S., B.A., and B.M. degrees, Mr. Watson instructs the Byrd and the R.O.T.C. Bands.

French, Spanish and Latin Promote

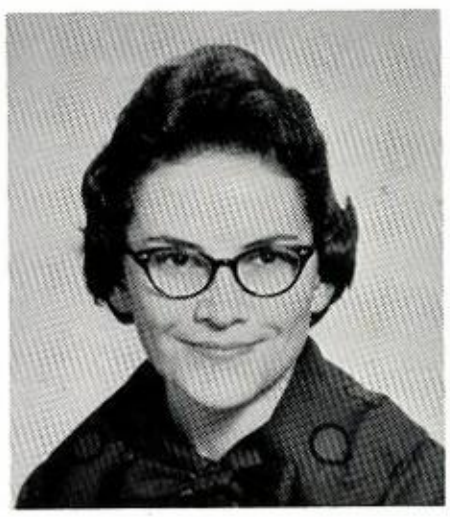
MARGUERITE WEATHERLY
Mrs. Weatherly, who teaches Latin II, obtained her B.A. degree from Stephen F. Austin College.

IRMA ROBINSON
Teaching Latin, sponsoring the Upper Latin Forum, and traveling in the summer, Miss Robinson remains active the year around. She attended Northwestern State College and Columbia University and holds both M.A. and B.A. degrees.

French I students increase their vocabulary and knowledge of customs and fashions by reading modern French magazines.

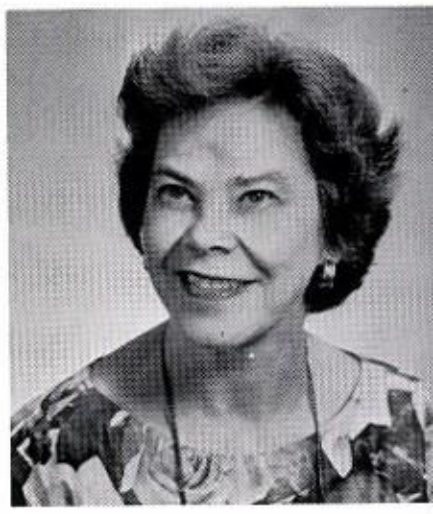
Being able to choose from four years in three languages, French, Spanish, and Latin, a student is able to acquire an excellent background in Byrd's thirty-four foreign language classes. In taking the first year of French or Spanish, a student learns the basic fundamentals of grammar, vocabulary, and oral comprehension. In Latin he concentrates on translating.

As students advance in knowledge in their second year, they are able to read short stories, one-act plays, and other literature. In third or fourth year courses students begin to look more deeply into foreign culture, novels, and authors.



LAURA CHAMPAGNE MADDOX
Having obtained a B.A. degree at the University of Southwestern Louisiana, Mrs. Maddox teaches French I and II and Spanish I. In her spare time she enjoys reading and music.

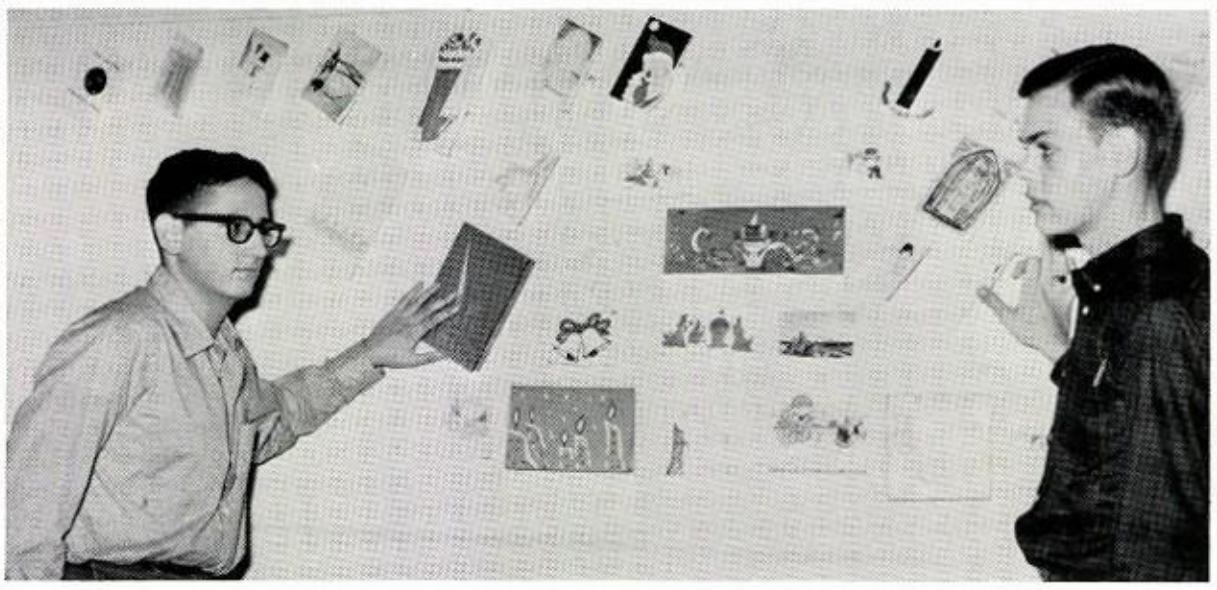
Learning about French cities and provinces and their locations is an important phase of French I and II. Barbara Brooke describes the city of Tours to Elizabeth Johnson, Lucretia Taylor, and Billy Reynolds.



MARIE-THERESE LEBLANC
In addition to teaching Frenc I and sponsoring Le Cercle Fran cais, Miss LeBlanc enjoys othe people, reading, and attending con certs. She holds B.A. and M.A. de grees from NSC and LSU.

Enthusiasm for Foreign Cultures

ANNETTE COOK HANKINS
Aside from teaching Spanish I and sponsoring Los Vecinos, Mrs. Hankins is fond of reading and sports. She acquired a B.A. degree at Northwestern State College.

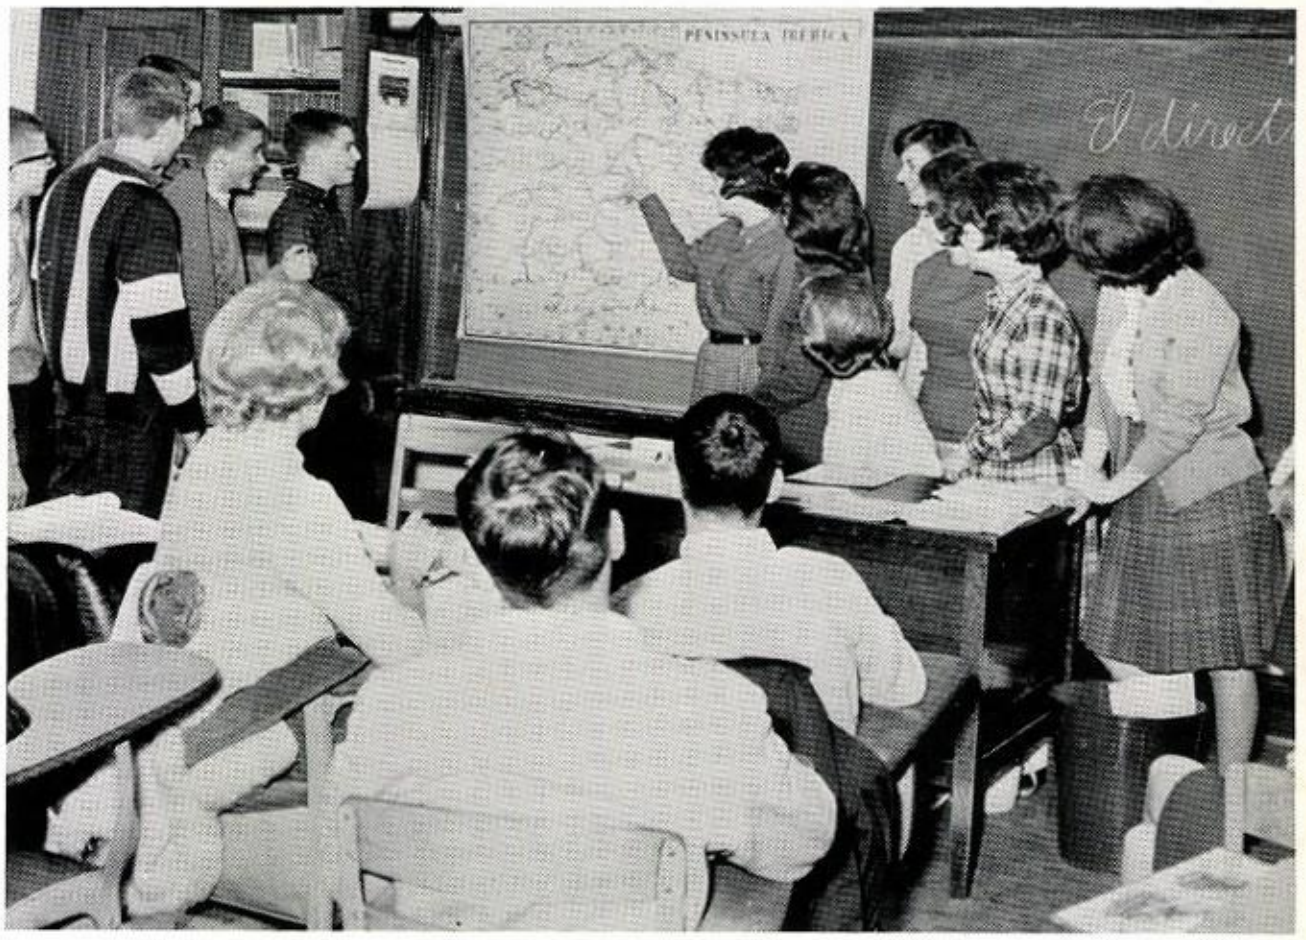


Latin classes design cards for the holiday season with greetings for a new year written in an old language. Joe Rieben and John Hoy inspect a display of Christmas cards with art by citizens of Byrd and language by citizens of Rome.

SHIRLEY S. BROWN
In addition to teaching Spanish and sponsoring the Pan American Forum, Mrs. Brown enjoys playing bridge in her spare time. Having attended Millsaps College, L.S.U., and the University of Uruguay, she holds a B.A. and an M.A. degree.

Creating an even greater enthusiasm for foreign lands and languages, various clubs meet twice a month after school hours. Programs put on by students, parties, and occasional guest speakers add interest as well as enjoyment to these meetings, with each language having several clubs geared to the different levels taught.

More than nine hundred "eleves," "alumnos," and "discipli" take advantage of the opportunity to "travailler," "trabajar," or "laborare" under Byrd's competent language staff of seven teachers.



"Madrid is the center of business and culture in Spain," Diane Brewton explains as part of her discussion of the influence of the past on the future of this country.

RUTH ANDERSON
Having obtained her B.A. degree at Centenary College, Mrs. Anderson teaches Latin and also sponsors the Lower Latin Forum. In her spare hours she finds pleasure in her family, church, and friends.

Checking a wooden replica of the Trojan Horse, which was part of Byrd's exhibit in the State Convention of the Junior Classical League, are Jolene Bullock and Tommy Peyton.

Home Economics Training Lasts a Lifetime

In Home and Family Living both boys and girls prepare themselves for adult responsibility. Mary Ellen Moore, Ronnie Smith, Nanette Carson, Robert Fuller, and Joyce Rudolph familiarize themselves with their various projects.

LAVETTE POLSON

Interested in church activities, bowling, and other sports, upholstering furniture, baking, and sewing, Mrs. Polson teaches Home Economics I and Home and Family Living. She is also sponsor of the Future Homemakers of America and graduated from Northwestern State College with a B.A. Degree.

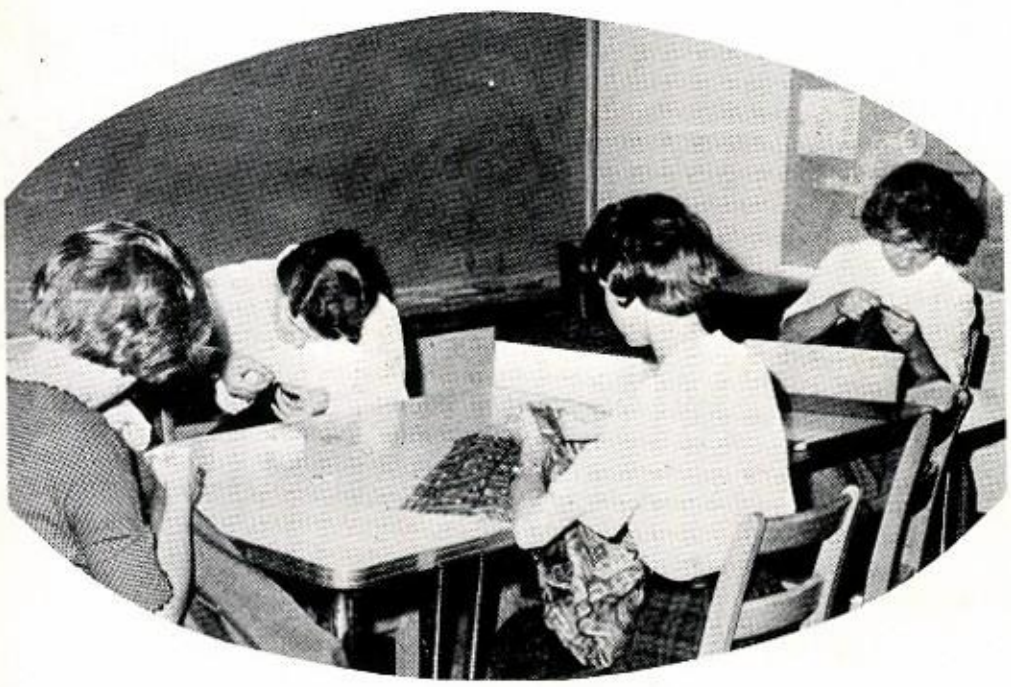
JANELLE FOWLER STAGE

Mrs. Stage, a Home Economics teacher, enjoys sponsoring the Future Homemakers of America. She procured a B.S. degree at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Since every girl is vitally interested in homemaking as a fundamental part of her future life, she would enjoy taking one or more courses in Home Economics. In the five courses offered, students are instructed in cooking, sewing, decorating, nutrition, child care, and first aid.

Homemaking courses I-IV, which advance each year, deal with food preparation, nutrition, sewing, child care, home decoration, and a study of various fabrics. The further advanced courses include a study of the caring of sick people and infants, the selection of clothing, and advanced cooking. Home and Family Living, the fifth course offered, concerns the enjoyment of one's present and future family life, and the deeper understanding of one's own personality and needs.

Each girl who has taken any of these courses will assuredly gain in poise and self-confidence, for she will be capable of running a home of her own competently.



Finishing the fine details on their dresses, such as hemming and sewing on buttons, are these "Home Ec" girls.

Giving freedom to their creative abilities, Chris Hinkle and Mary Eydenberg use colorful beads and other "odds and ends" to decorate a styrofoam Christmas tree for the holiday season.

Learning to make their own clothes, Linda Smith, Marie Jones, and Juanette Cone stitch together their dresses for the annual style show.

MATH Encourages Initiative

J. D. COX
Sponsor of the Varsity club, this Algebra II teacher is also actively interested in all forms of sports and fishing. Coach Cox holds an A.B. degree from Austin College and an M.A. degree from L.S.U.

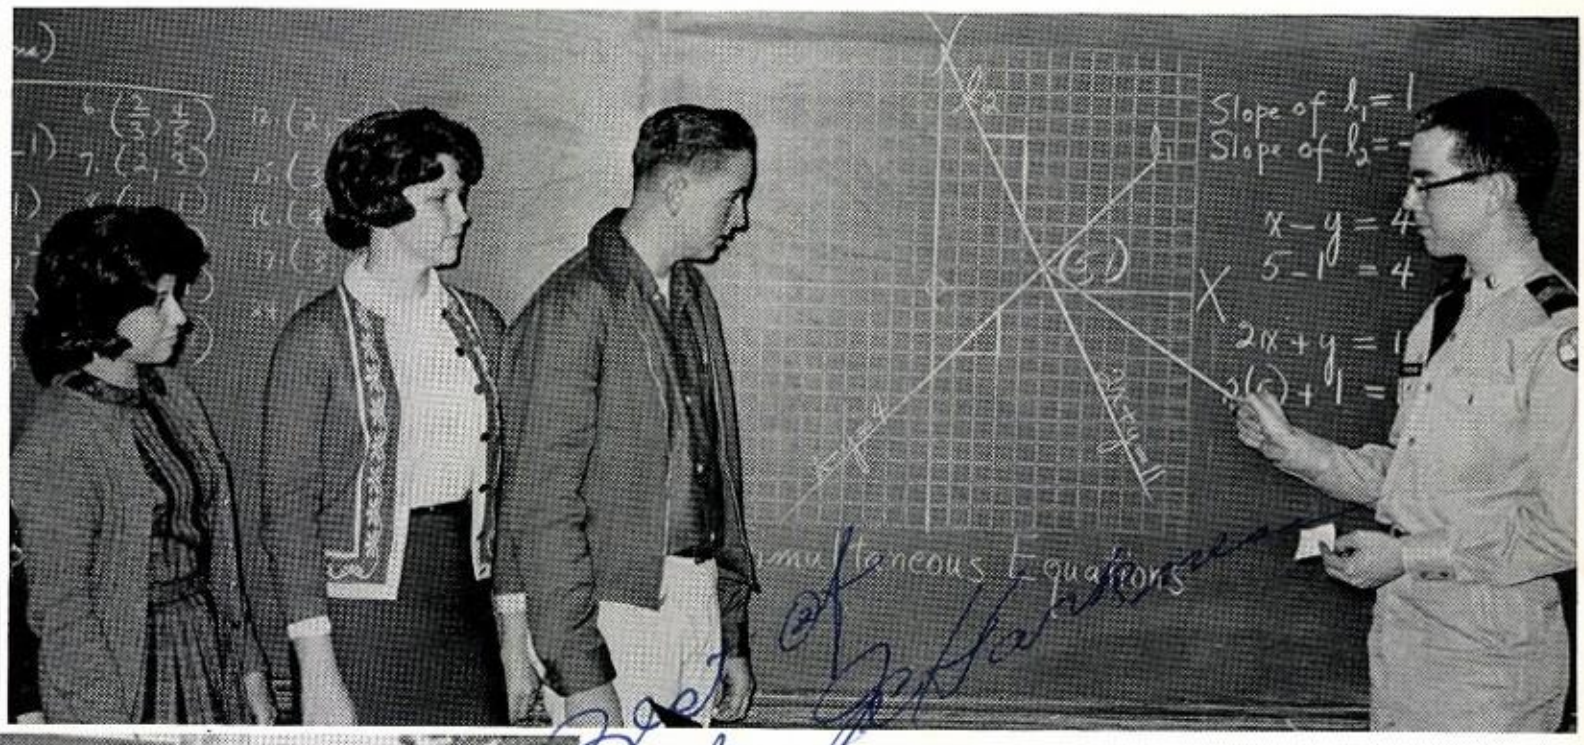
Objectives of Byrd's Math Department to each student are to teach reasoning and fundamental accuracy, traits more often developed than inherited. To each is offered a course which follows his interest and, if pursued to the fullest, will give many-fold in return of common knowledge.

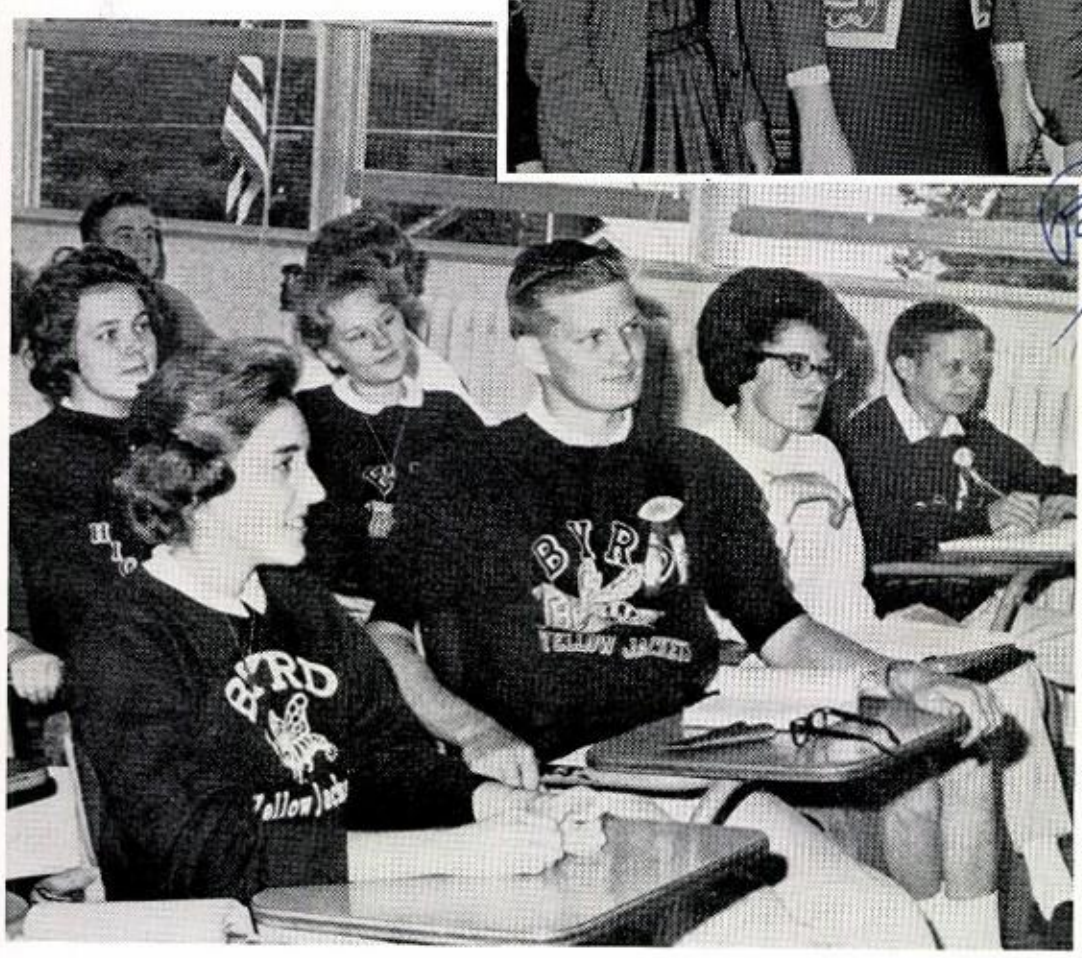
General math gives students a broad review of arithmetic fundamentals and a brief introduction to higher math. Algebra I gives the students a sense of working with signs and symbols and is a foundation for college entrance. A detailed continuation of this is Algebra II, which gives the student an insight into advanced theories. If the student wishes to progress even further, he can take advanced math, consisting of such things as solid geometry, trigonometry, and calculus. Although only two credits in math are required for graduation, every student is benefited by the pursuit of these versatile courses which increase his knowledge for his professional life afterwards.

JOSEPH B. DORNIER
Co-sponsor of the Math Club and assisting in track, Mr. Dornier also enjoys all forms of athletics and fishing. A graduate of Louisiana State University with both B.S. and M.Ed. degrees, Mr. Dornier teaches Algebra II.

ZELDA ALLEN GARDNER
Holding an A.B. degree from Northwestern State College and an M.S. degree from Louisiana State University thoroughly qualifies Mrs. Gardner to teach Algebra II and Accelerated Math III. Home and church activities take up her spare time.

Learning to determine the slopes of lines in simultaneous equations in graphs in Mrs. Gardner's Algebra II class are Sandra Liberto, Paula Turner, Len Kirby, and Ardis Robinson.



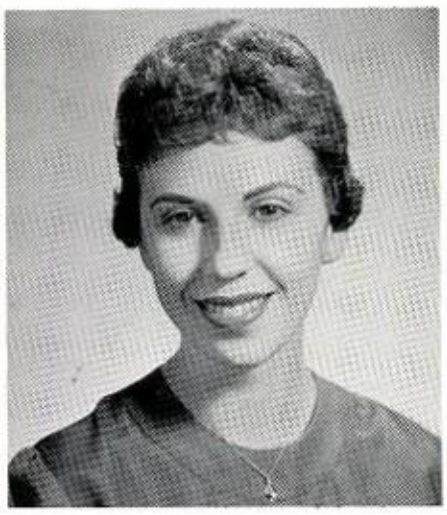


Mr. Harkness's plane geometry class listens attentively as he explains the congruency of two right triangles.

JOHNNY CLYDE HARKNESS
Mr. Harkness graduated from Louisiana State College with a B.S. degree. Teaching plane geometry requires most of his time, but he also enjoys all forms of sports.

LYDA MALLOY
Fishing, swimming, and sewing take up Mrs. Malloy's spare time when she is not found at Byrd teaching Algebra II. Mrs. Malloy attended Arkansas State Teachers College and the University of Arkansas before obtaining her Bachelor of Science degree.

Math Knowledge



JERRY MALONE

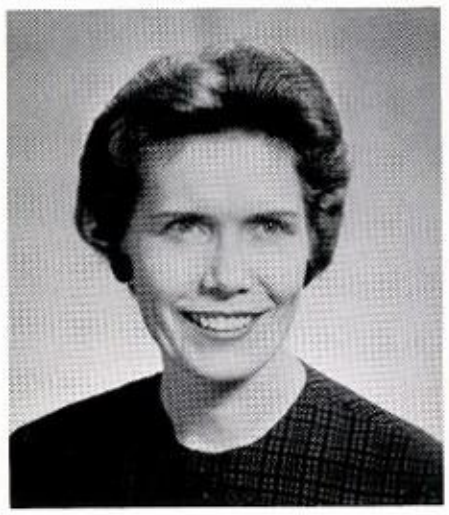
Holding a Bachelor of Arts degree from Centenary College excellently qualifies Miss Malone to be a mathematics instructor at Byrd. Besides being a co-sponsor of the Student Council, she enjoys music, reading, and travel in her spare time.

EDNA POPE MARTIN

Having graduated from Shorter College with a B.A. degree and from Stephen F. Austin with a M.Ed. degree, Mrs. Martin teaches plane geometry. Mrs. Martin enjoys working with flowers in her spare time.

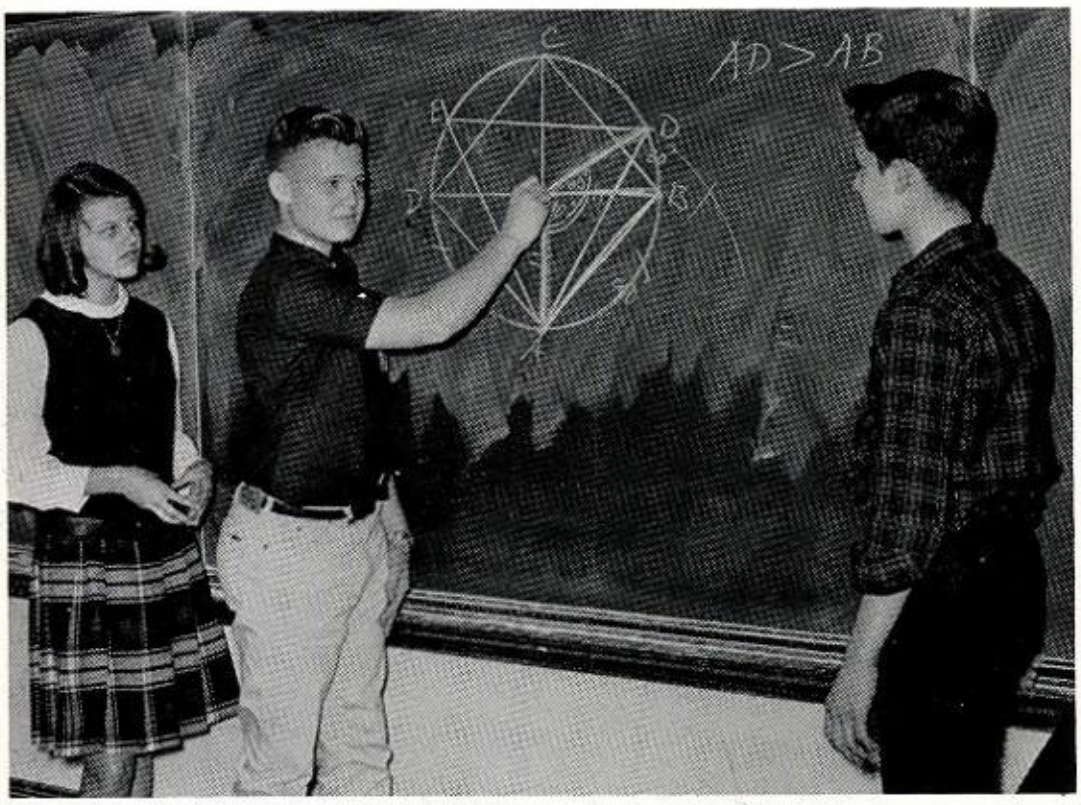
LUCILLE B. McCLENDON

Enjoying puzzles, travel, and reading in her spare time, Mrs. McClendon obtained her geometry background with a B.A. from Baylor and an M.Ed. from Stephen F. Austin College.



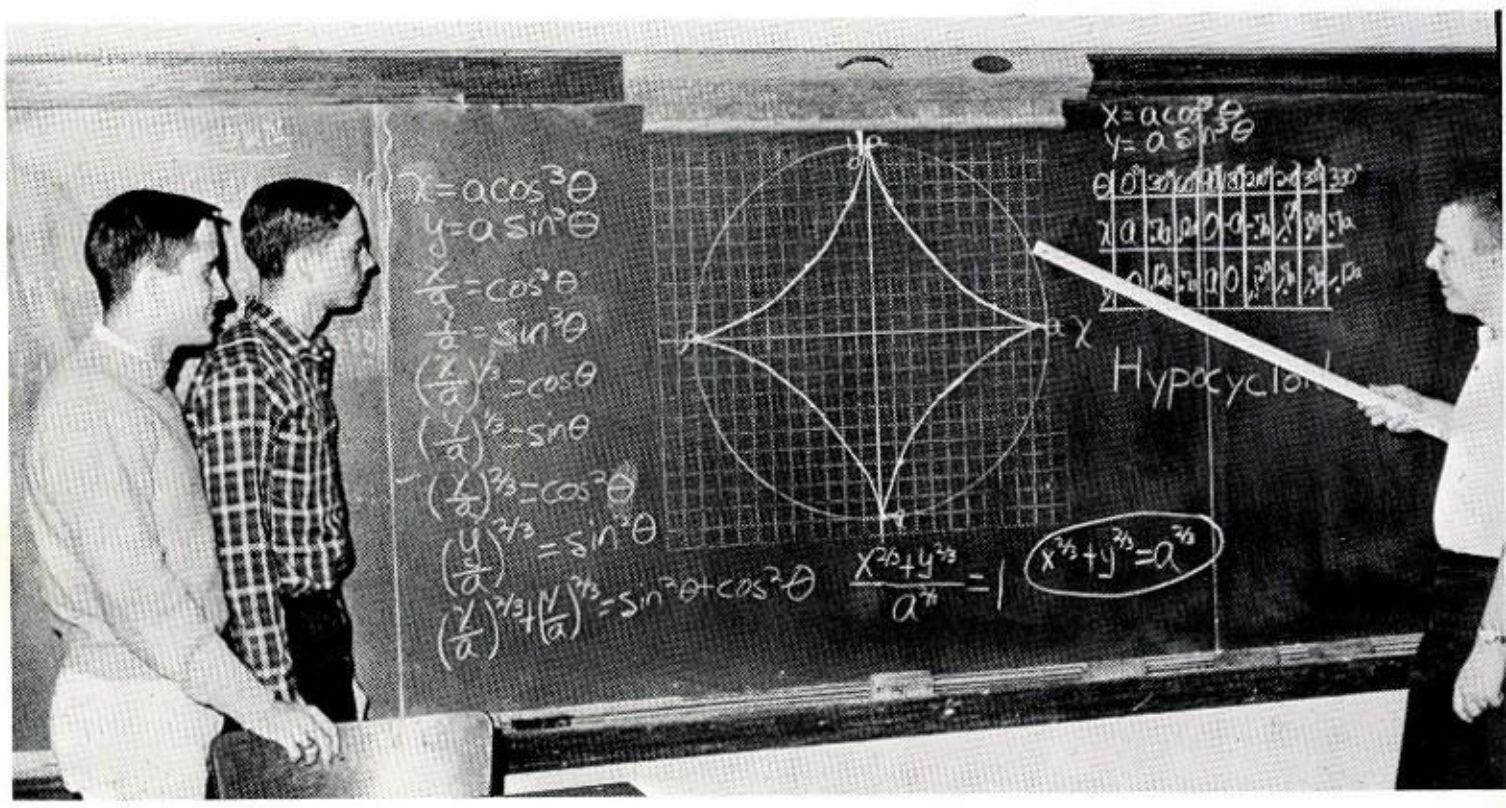
NEVA NORSWORTHY

A member of the Small Educational Council, Miss Norsworthy teaches advanced Math and Accelerated Math IV. Obtaining a B.S. degree at Northwestern, an M.Ed. from the University of Arkansas, and an M.A. from L.S.U., she sponsors the Future Teachers of America chapter and enjoys travel and her church activities.



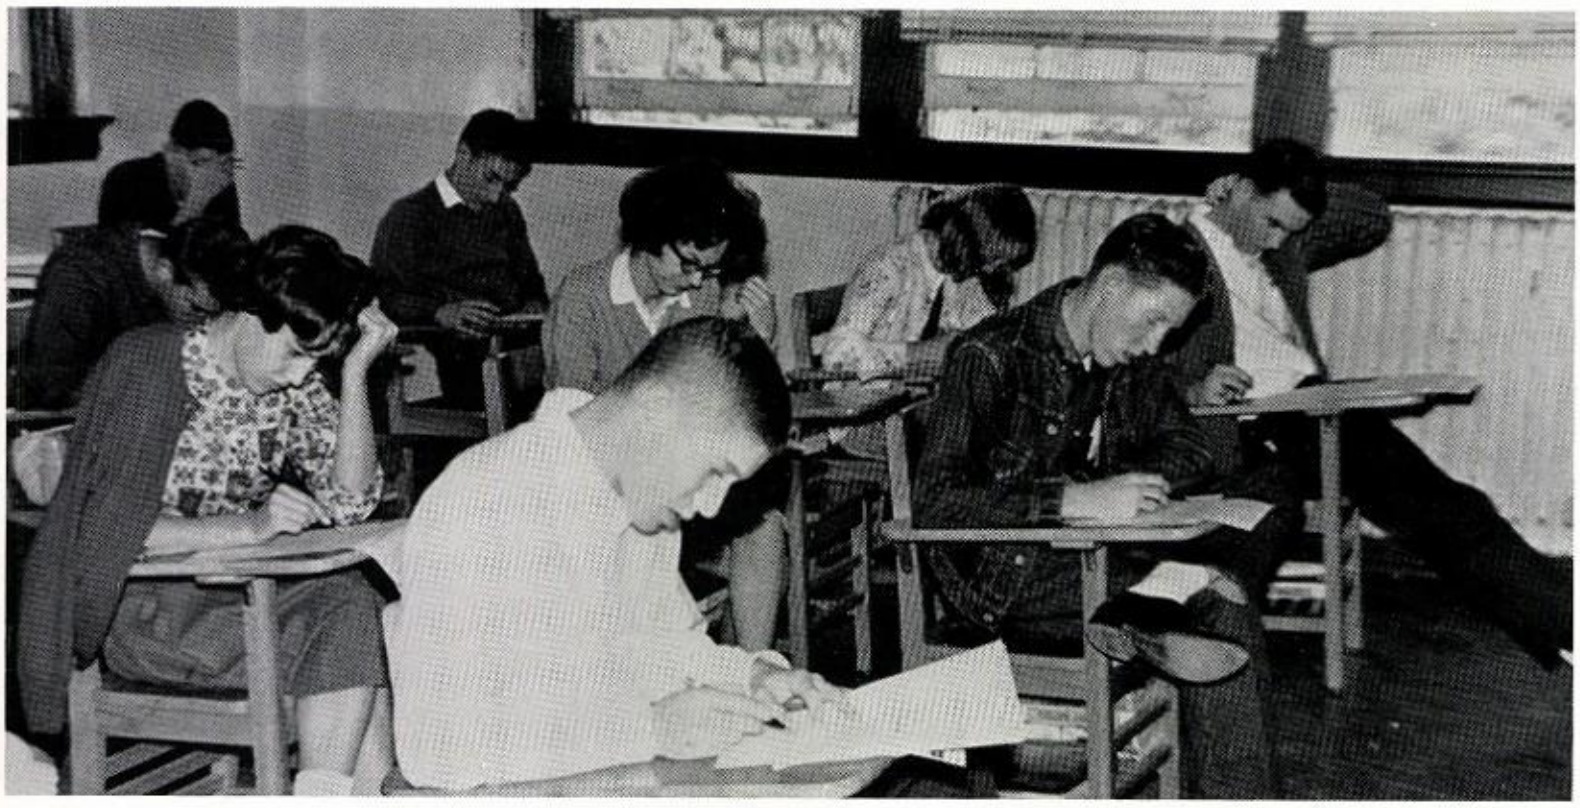
Explaining inscribed squares and inscribed triangles to the rest of Mr. Young's plane geometry class are Carla Chapman, Peggy Roberts, Randy Brazzil, and Ed Kinlzing.

Miss Malone amuses her business arithmetic class with a solution to a problem.



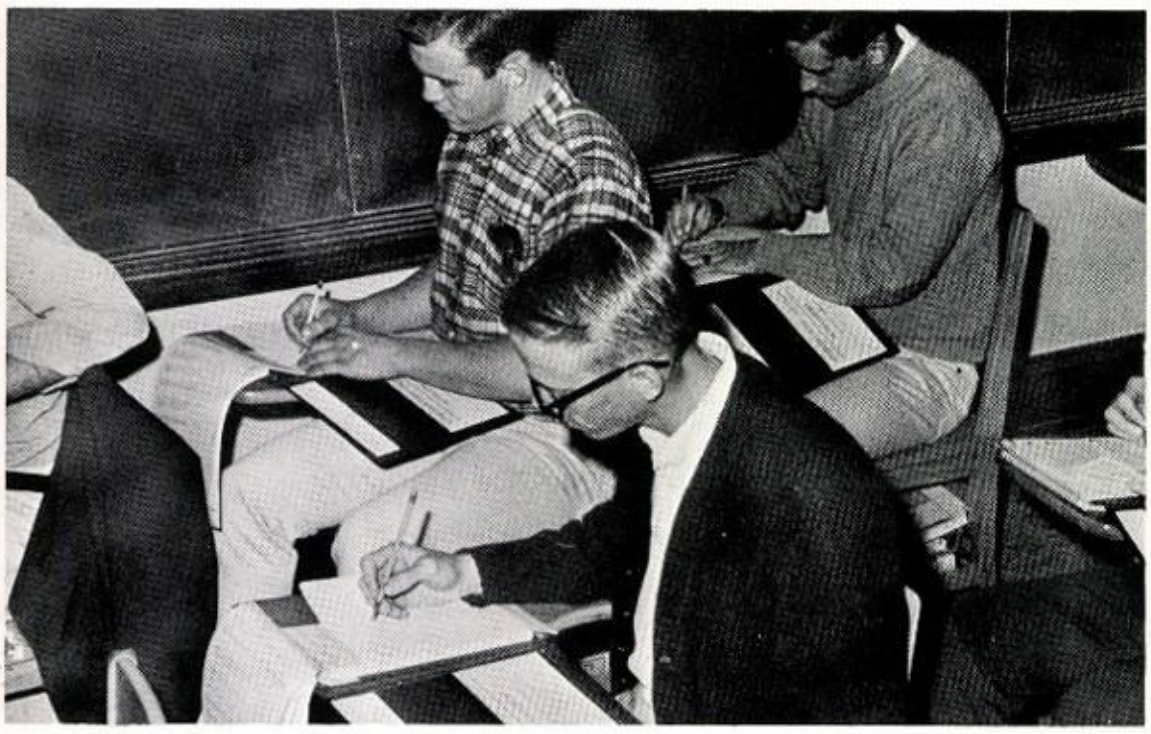
Jack Wilkerson and Walter Kelley watch and listen as Bill Denny explains the method of drawing a hypocycloid graph on a rectangular coordinate system.

Aids Later Life

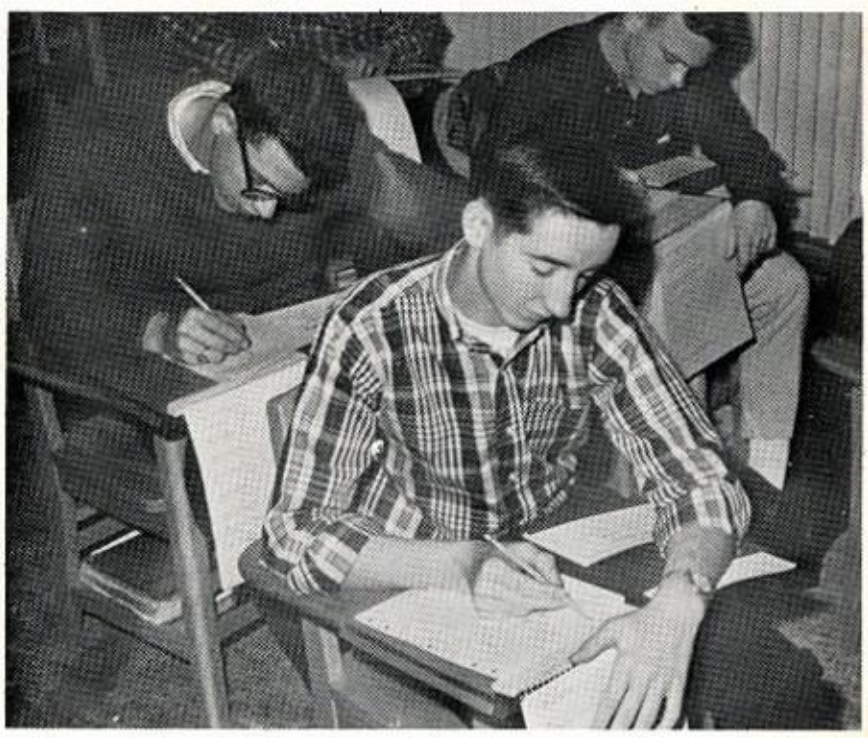


Math can be applied to many different uses in later life. Business arithmetic students work busily and nervously on an algebra test.

Miss Norsworthy's Accelerated Advanced Math class used the "TEMAC" Programmed Study of Calculus following their regular study of Conic Sections. Mike Vollmer, Barry Eiland, Jack Wilkerson work in the section of the study on functions, sets, unions, and other relations.



Corky Strong uses the programmed study to increase his understanding of elementary integral calculus.



JAMES POTTS

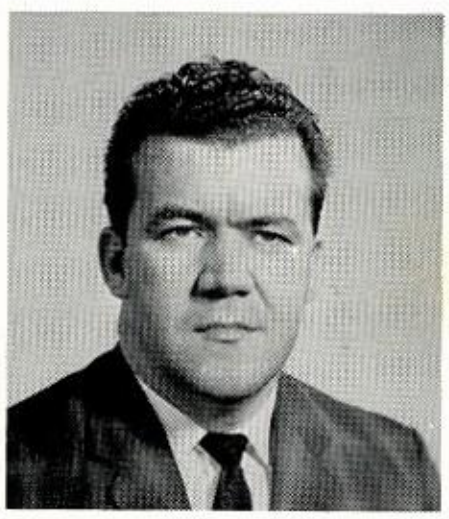
Any of the outdoor activities combined with chess and reading form the nucleus of Mr. Potts' outside interests. A graduate of Louisiana Tech with a Bachelor of Arts degree, he teaches business arithmetic in his first year at Byrd.

JANE FAY RITTER

Holding a B.S. degree from Northwestern State College, Miss Ritter teaches Algebra I. Being a "floating" teacher makes Miss Ritter's job unusually difficult.

WALTER SMITH

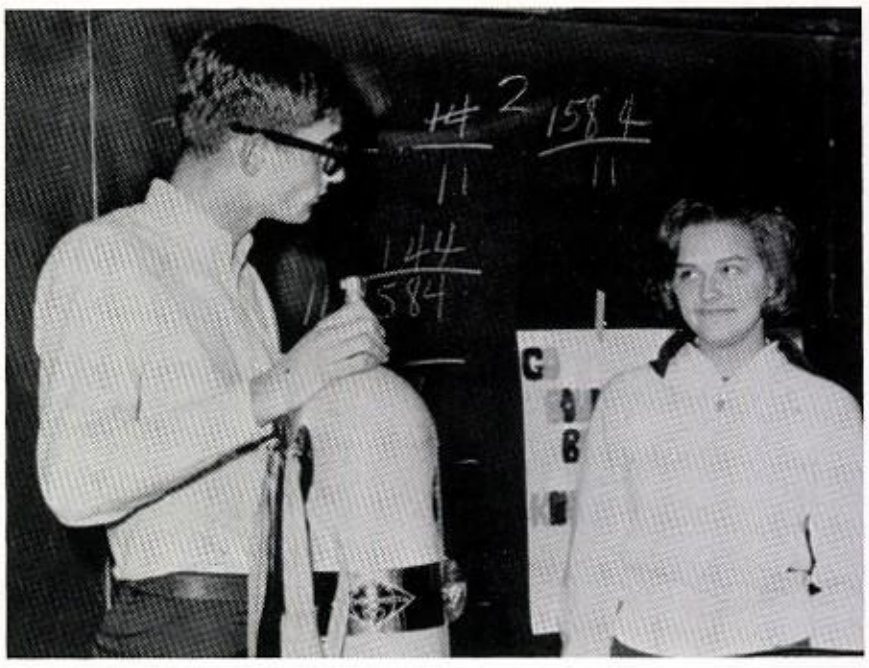
Claiming Mississippi State University as his alma mater, Mr. Smith instructs classes of both business math and general math. Water sports such as swimming and waterskiing, along with hunting, bowling, and bridge, take up Mr. Smith's spare time.



E. ASHE YOUNG

Director of the Byrd Youth Center, Mr. Young, a graduate of L.S.U. with a B.S. degree and Stephen F. Austin College with an M.Ed. degree, teaches plane geometry. Being a captain in the U.S. Army Reserve takes up much of his leisure time.

Examining scale models of the organs of the human body are Linda Markham, Diane Rodgers, Steve Askew. Judy Newbill, John Morrison, and Bill Dougharty study a diagram of the lymph system of the veins.



Explaining "scuba" diving equipment to Mr. Horne's general science class are Bob Nance and Marilyn Noble.

Dissecting a crayfish in Mr. Conover's biology class are three very interested students. They are Danny Curie, Nancy Grabill and Kathy Kelley.

SCIENCE Students

Interested students visit the medical center, the smell of hydrogen sulfide fills the hallways, a visiting lecturer discusses photosynthesis, a boy patiently records the effect of light on chlorophyl while another experiments with different types of rabbit feed—the science department is in action, developing the scientific thirst for knowledge in young minds. This desire to "know why", to know the truth, starts a new generation on a journey into the unknown. The journey begins in the classroom where the young adventurer learns what has been discovered; then he is ready to push the limit of "what's known" a little farther.

Byrd offers a well-rounded general knowledge of science, ". . . branch of study dealing with a body of facts, truths, and principles and showing the operations of general laws." Offered are: general science, the study of the elementary principles of science; biology, the study of plant and animal life; chemistry, the study of the nature and the composition of matter and their relationship one to another; physics, the study of changes in matter and energy. Each of these four courses plays its part, if pursued, in laying a good foundation for more advanced courses in college, but more important it instills within a student a discriminating mind and the ability to look at life practically as well as scientifically.

MORRIS C. ALLUMS

With fishing, hunting, and boating as his hobbies, Mr. Allums teaches biology at Byrd. He holds B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from Centenary, Northwestern, and S.F.A. colleges.

LEONARD SHELDON CONOVER

A photographer for the GUSHER, Mr. Conover received a B.S. degree from Peabody University and an M.S. from Ohio State University before he began teaching. Interested in astronomy, photography, gardening, and reading, Mr. Conover instructs biology and chemistry.

BILLIE RHEA CORLEY

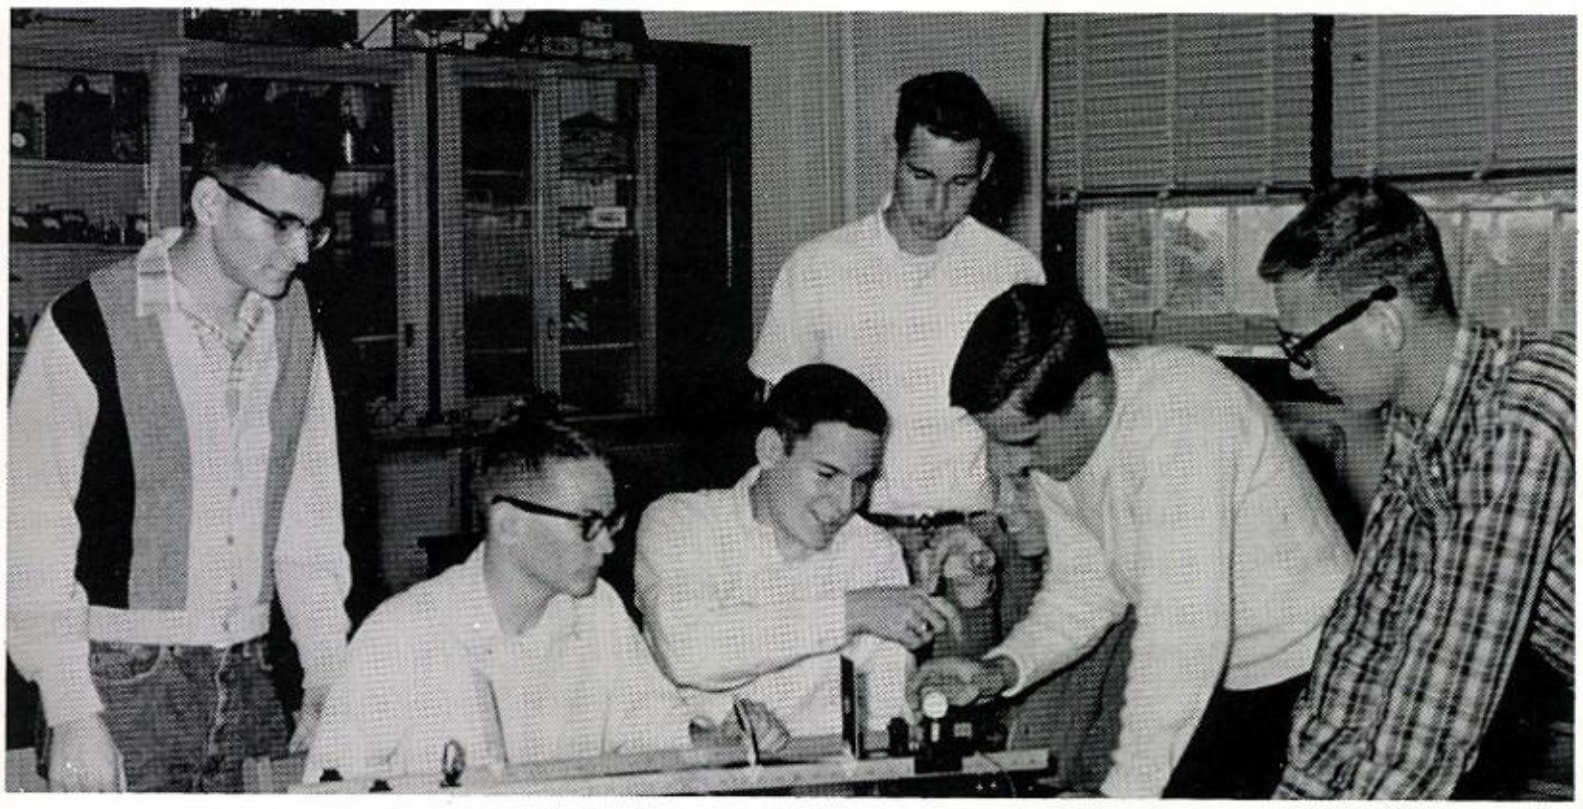
Attending both Louisiana Tech and Southern Methodist University before obtaining her B.S. degree, Mrs. Corley replaced Mr. White, who was transferred to another local school, as a general science teacher at Byrd.

BOBBY G. HORNE

An avid bowling fan, Mr. Horne holds a B.S. in Education from Louisiana State University and enjoys all forms of sports. He teaches classes in biology and general science.

With the theme of Science classes being "learn by doing," a chemistry class learns the characteristics of glass by bending it under heat.

Learn by Experimentation



Examining light through spherical mirrors in the process of making a telescope in their physics class are Gus Ginsburg, Charles Price, Randy Bratton, Fred Odom, Barry Eiland, Jack Wilkerson, and Ted Wade.

DOROTHY HUBBLE
Holding a B.S. degree, this Centenary graduate enjoys camping, tennis, and water skiing when not teaching biology. The C.T.A. faculty chairman, Mrs. Hubble is a member of the Caddo Legislature Committee.

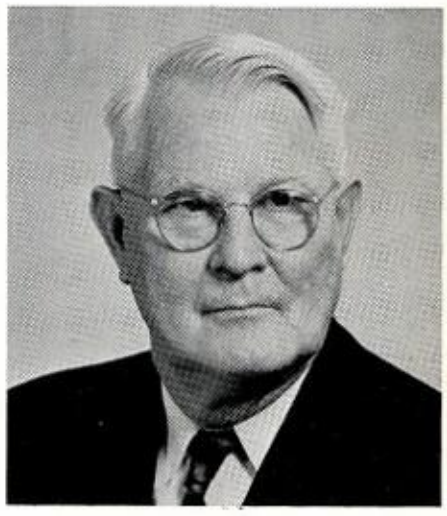
MAJOR CYRUS LARMOYEUX
Obtaining both B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from L.S.U., this retired U.S. Army major enjoys sponsoring the Science Club along with teaching chemistry. Major Larmoyeux's hobbies include fishing and gardening.

LILLENE MATLOCK
Attending Centenary to obtain her M.T. and B.S. degrees, Mrs. Matlock also enjoys being a sponsor of the Red Cross. Mrs. Matlock teaches biology here at Byrd.

JOSEPH E. PENNINGTON
While Mr. Pennington claims fishing as his hobby, he can usually be found teaching chemistry. Mr. Pennington received his B.S.E. from Arkansas A. & M. and his M.S. from the University of Arkansas.

LARRY JEANNINE PONDER
In her second year of teaching biology at Byrd, Miss Ponder enjoys travel, books, interior decorating, and music in her spare time. She attended Centenary and Louisiana Tech to obtain her B.S. degree.

R. A. SMITH
Claiming two degrees, B.S. and M.A. degrees from Southwest Texas State College and Peabody University, Mr. Smith sponsors the 4-H Club and is a biology teacher. The past president of the Louisiana Science Teachers, Mr. Smith enjoys gardening and observing and helping youngsters grow.



BERNICE PHIPPS

Teaching American history, Miss Phipps graduated from Centenary College with a B.A. and earned her M.A. from Arkansas University. In her spare time she enjoys music, government, and being the co-sponsor of the National Honor Society.

The Social Science Department offers courses which prepare students for tomorrow by teaching them of the past. Credits in civics and American history are required for graduation, but several other courses, such as World history, World geography, and Economics are beneficial and interesting.

Civics stresses the organization and workings of our national, state, and local governments. Many economic and legal problems are discussed in this course.

American history covers the span of our nation's history from its discovery until the present. Emphasis is placed on social, economic, and political developments. Current events keep students aware of the political situations in the world. Almost six weeks is spent in the study of Communism.

World history is the study of ancient civilization and nations, religions, feudal times, the Renaissance, and world events from before World War I to the present. It relates the progress of man from the stone age to the present atomic age. World Geography helps the student associate world events with the part of the world in which they occurred.

Economics is studied in two parts. The first semester is concerned with choosing vocations and making a living, while the second semester is a study of government.

All of these go into making the students the informed citizens of the future by giving them a background in the past.

SOCIAL SCIENCE Prepares for

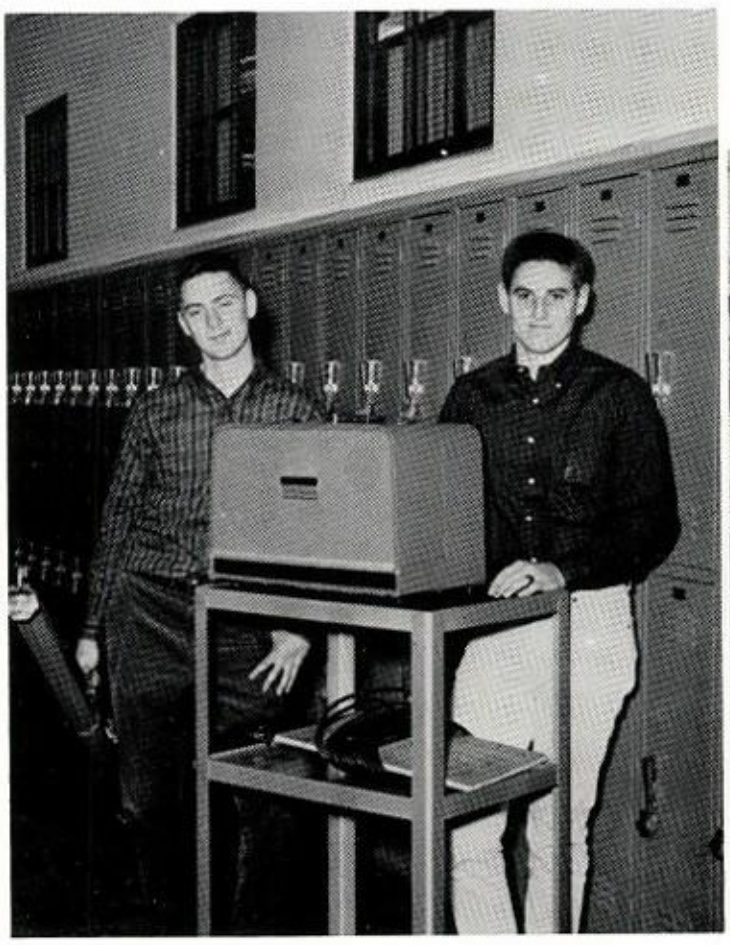
WILLIAM PRATT

Completing his second year of teaching at Byrd, Mr. Pratt sponsors the Meteorology Club and is interested in golf, hunting and traveling. He graduated from Northeast Louisiana State College with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

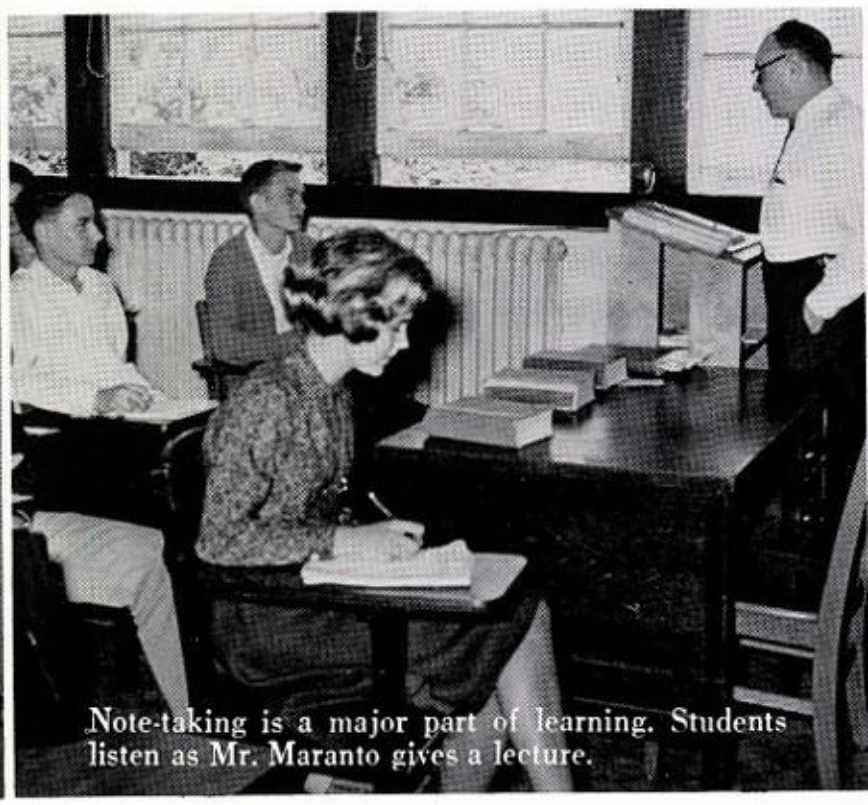
The committee presents its report on the social security system. Explaining the poster are Salley Knox, Ronnie Thomas, Steve Kimbro, Rick Malahy, and Tommy Hollenshead.

JOHN ROGERS

Having a B.S. degree from Indiana State, Coach Rogers is the head mentor of the basketball team and assistant coach in football. Besides teaching civics, he also enjoys hunting and fishing.



Films are used to supplement the text books. Taking the equipment to classes are Eddie Hornaday and Sidney Conley.



Note-taking is a major part of learning. Students listen as Mr. Maranto gives a lecture.

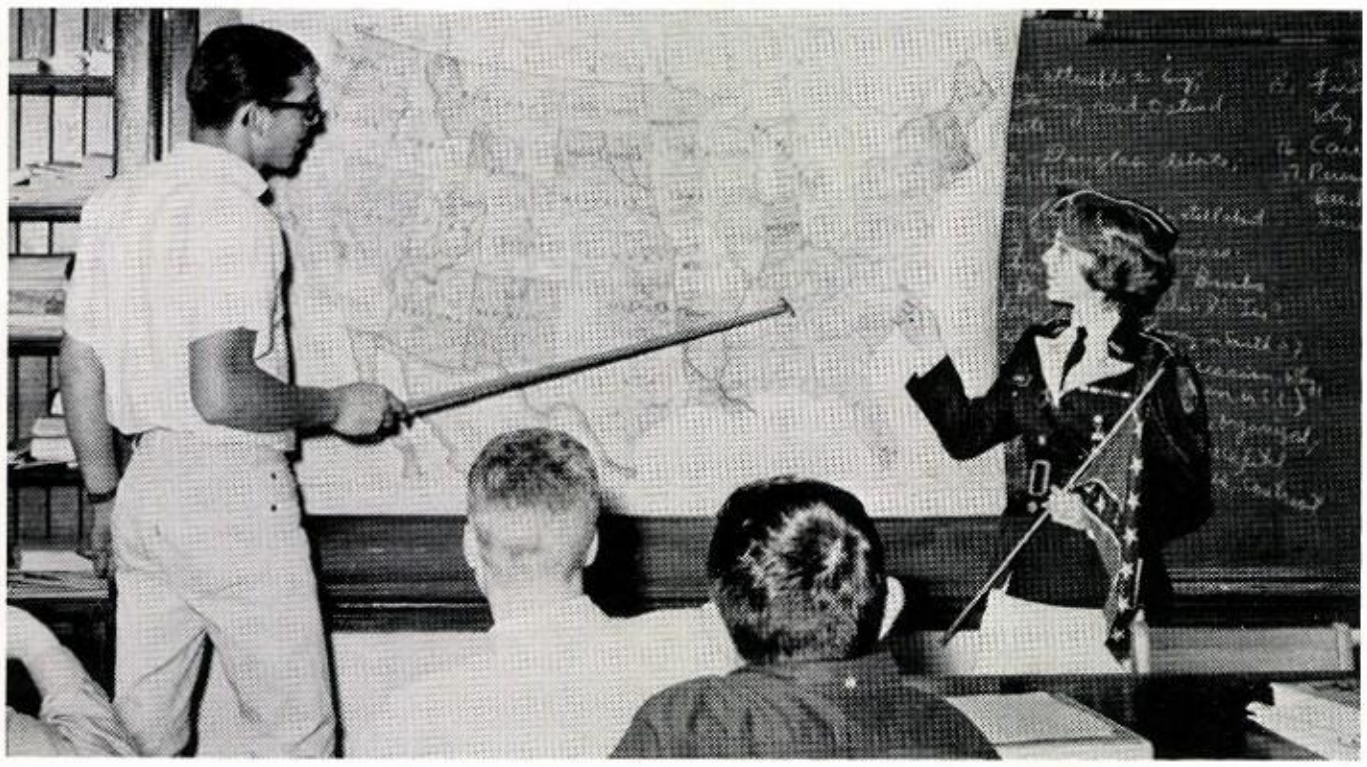
LEE BREITHAUPT, JR.
Teaching his first year at Byrd, Mr. Breithaupt can be found either hunting or fishing when not instructing his American History classes. He holds a B.A. degree from Louisiana Tech.

MATTIE GRAY BROWN
A graduate of L.S.U. with B.A. and M.Ed. degrees, Mrs. Brown teaches American History. This sponsor of the Gayarre History Club also enjoys gardening and music.

DOROTHY BARNES COX
Interested in politics and travel, Mrs. Cox teaches American History at Byrd. She holds a B.A. degree from Hardin-Simmons and an M.A. from Louisiana State University.

MARJORY LAWRENCE
A B.A. degree from Centenary College and an M.A. degree from Peabody qualify Miss Lawrence to teach World History at Byrd. She is also sponsor of the Lost and Found.

Future Responsibilities



Discussing the progress of the armies of the North and South during the Civil War before the class are Richard Dixon and Robin Rankin.

CLEO MOHR
When not teaching either Geography or Economics, Mrs. Mohr can probably be found painting or reading. She graduated from Northwestern State with an A.B. degree.

Explaining the parts of a sugar castle to an American History class is Kathy Lee.

Playing a tape to the class of an inaugural address is Ronny Alden. Social Science classes go farther than the text in gaining additional knowledge of their subject.

SAM J. MARANTO
Traveling and reading current events take up the spare time of this American History teacher. Mr. Maranto holds a B.A. degree from Kansas State and an M.A. from New Mexico University.

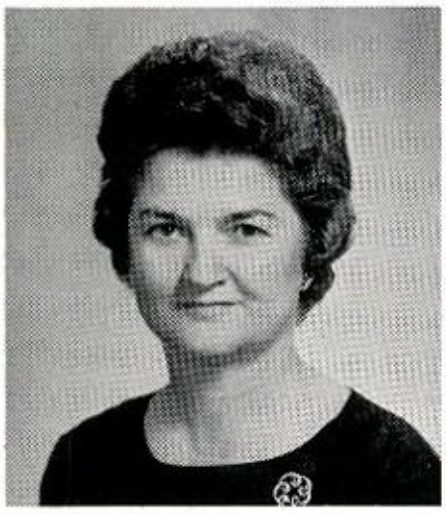
Physical Education Promotes Sportsmanship

LANELL NEWTON

Even though being Pep Squad sponsor and teaching P.E. takes a great deal of her time, Miss Newton enjoys basketball and reading. She received her B.S. degree from Northwestern State College.

FABOL DURHAM

Having attended Texas Women's University and gained a B.S. from L.S.U., Mrs. Durham now teaches P.E. and Health. Her spare time is spent in collecting old coins and stamps and playing tennis.



KAY GARRETT

When not teaching girls' P.E., Mrs. Garrett enjoys such outside interests as basketball, water skiing, sewing, and reading. She received a B.S. degree from Southeastern State College in Durant, Oklahoma.

CAROLYN LACEY

Enjoying golf, archery, reading, and sponsoring the Pep Squad are the interests that Mrs. Lacey lists as her favorites. She received her B.S. in physical education from the University of Mississippi.

PHALMAE CROMWELL GRAY

Claiming B.S. and M.Ed. degrees from Northwestern State College, Mrs. Gray instructs classes in Health and P.E. She enjoys both hunting and fishing in her spare time.

Although developing athletic skills and strong bodies is important in physical training, learning to participate and to get along with others is also stressed during the four years that Physical Education is taken, each year equaling one-fourth of a credit. With the attention that the nation has placed on physical fitness, the importance of building the student's endurance and physical abilities has been emphasized to a great extent this year.

The class in which a student is enrolled is determined by his age. In P.E., both girls and boys participate in team and individual sports, stunts, and self testing activities.

For those students with physical disabilities, a classroom course in health problems and safety habits is required. A full credit is given for this course. All in all, P.E. makes students conscious of health and safety as well as developing fine athletes.

WOODROW W. TURNER

Interested in all sports, Coach Turner now teaches Boys' P.E. and assists in coaching football when not occupied with the track team. He holds a B.A. degree from Northwestern State College and a B.S. from L.S.U.

MARY BURROUGHS

Attending Centenary and L.S.U. to obtain her B.A. degree, Mrs. Burroughs teaches P.E. and enjoys reading, sewing, and playing golf in her spare time.

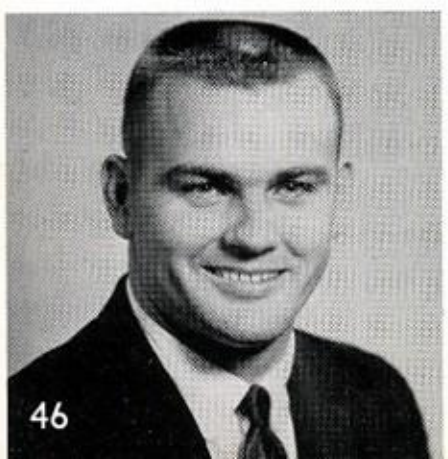
Interested in all kinds of sports, Coach Kahlden graduated from L.S.U. with a B.S. degree. He teaches P.E. in his first year at Byrd.

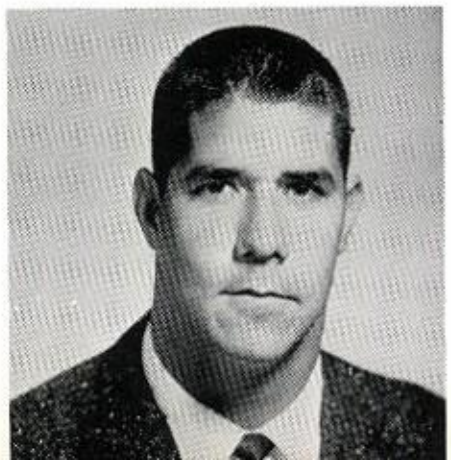


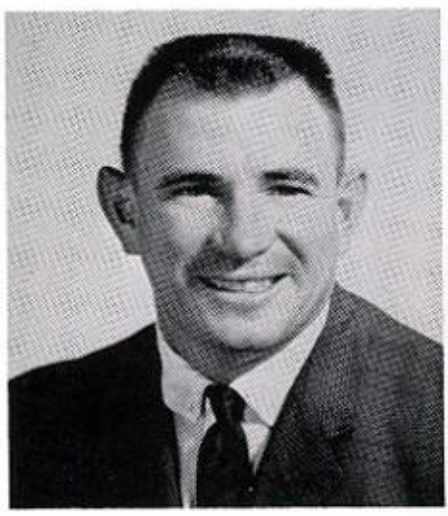
R. O. RICHARD

A former Byrd student himself, Coach Richard has returned to teach P.E. A graduate of Centenary College with a B.S. degree, he enjoys hunting and fishing in his spare time.

JAMES E. PATTERSON

In his year of teaching P.E. at Byrd, Coach Patterson enjoys hunting and fishing in his spare time. Louisiana Tech graduated Coach Patterson with a B.S. degree, while he obtained his M.Ed. from the University of Mississippi.





NICHOLAS B. LESTER

Sponsor of the Varsity Club and the Key Club, Coach Lester graduated from Centenary with a B.S. degree and from the University of Arkansas with an M.Ed. Hunting and fishing are among his outside interests.

Craftsmanship Stressed by Industrial Arts

HILREY HOLMAN

Holding a B.S. degree from N.S.C. and an M.Ed. degree from the University of Arkansas, Mr. Holman enjoys hunting, boating, and baseball when not teaching woodwork.

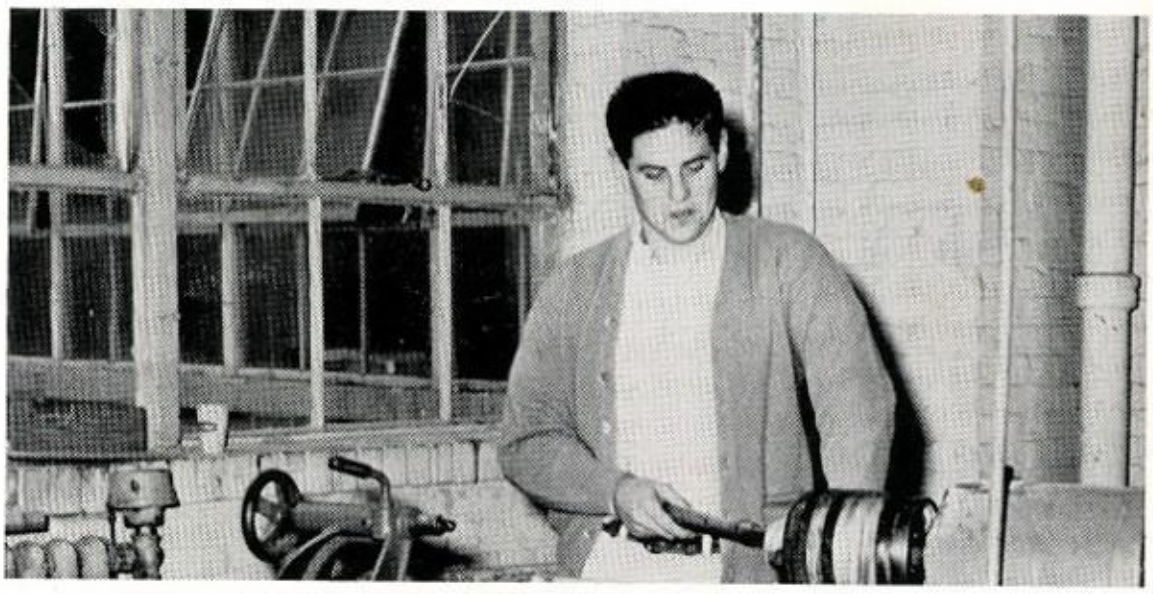
Tom Graves, John Rogers, Bill Marsh, Eddie Hornaday, Paul Courtney, Bill Taylor, Danny Atchley, and Claire Porter look over the floor plan for a house.

LOWELL BROWN

Graduating from Northwestern State College with a B.S. degree, Mr. Brown is Byrd's mechanical drawing teacher. Besides sponsoring the Industrial Arts Club, he includes fishing among his outside interests.

Eddie Jones and Sharon Stilley sand a section of wood to be used in a piece of furniture.

Sidney Conley turns a wooden bowl on a lathe.



David Faith and Mike Patterson replace tools after finishing a woodworking assignment.

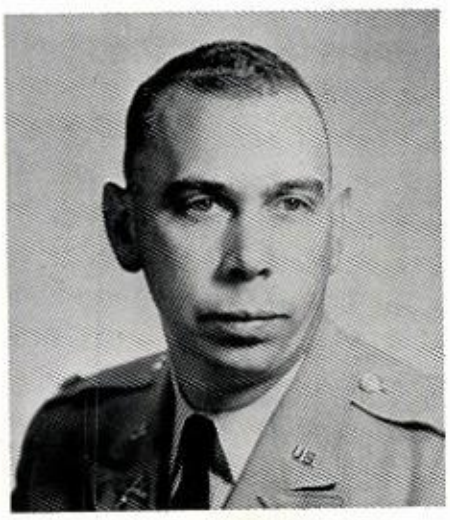
Teaching various skills which can be used after graduation, Industrial Arts puts emphasis on exactness and precision. Through the two years of Woodwork offered at Byrd, a student has the opportunity to acquire dexterity in construction and carpentry, while at the same time creating objects and furniture to beautify his home. By taking mechanical drawing an individual is taught the art of draftsmanship and is given a chance to start in a career of architecture. But above all, in each Industrial Arts class, the fulfillment of the needs of the student and his safety are stressed at all times. By gaining skills in these basement classes, the Industrial Art students will become the engineers and builders of tomorrow.

ROTC Stresses Respect and Responsibility

The Federal Inspection of the Byrd ROTC unit was held this year on April 3. The inspecting officer questioned each cadet; here a spotless rifle is shown by a cadet.

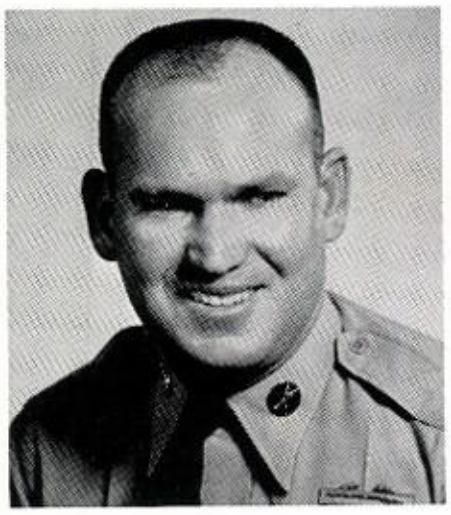
MARVIN R. DUNCAN

SFC Duncan, who sponsors the NCO Club and the Byrd ROTC Rifle Team, has been in the U. S. Army for thirteen years. Fishing, hunting, and riflery are among his outside interests.



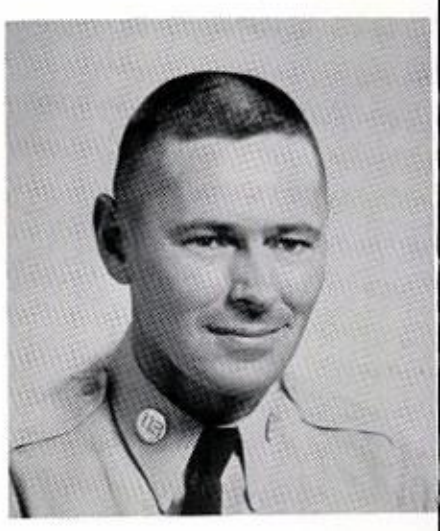
HERMAN E. SCHUBARTH

Professor of Military Science of the Shreveport High Schools, Major Schubarth received his BGE degree at the University of Omaha. He finds pleasure in hunting or reading in leisure hours.



ARTHUR P. BUCKELEW

Military III instructor, Platoon Sergeant Buckelew, who transferred to Fair Park this fall, was also in charge of keeping ROTC equipment in good condition.



EMILE Z. CHARBONNEAU

Sponsor to the drill teams and the Officers and Sponsors Club, M-Sgt. Charbonneau has been in the U. S. Army for fifteen years. When not filling his duty as Commandant of Cadets, he enjoys fishing and bowling.

M/Sgt. Charbonneau inspects Sponsor Judy Nelson's position of attention.

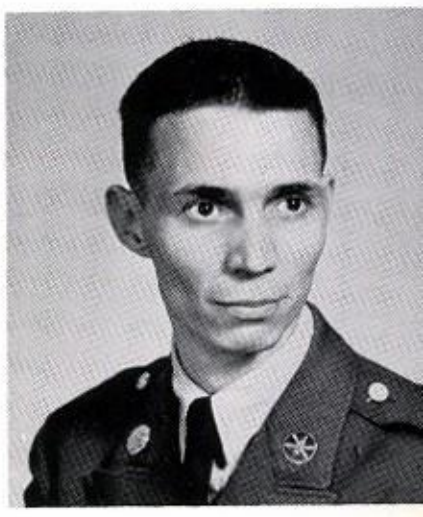
Seasoning boys for both leadership and responsibility, Byrd's ROTC Unit, which is over a quarter of a century old, offers three complete years of excellent training. Cadets learn military courtesy and customs of the Service, along with principles of hygiene, sanitation, and first aid. Every ROTC boy is well-versed in map reading, scouting, and patrolling, and in his duties as a United States citizen. He learns to cultivate habits of orderliness and precision and knows how to receive discipline and authority properly. New at Byrd this year is the Deputy Division Commander, who is the highest ranked cadet. The early training received by Byrd's ROTC cadets endows them not only with valuable military training, but also with a greater sense of patriotism.

ROLLIE L. TANNER

Enjoying as a hobby his work with guns, Mr. Rollie Tanner is Military Property Custodian of the Byrd ROTC Unit.

JAMES R. WILLETT

Having attended Monterrey Peninsula College in Monterrey, California, SFC Willett now serves as Administrator of the Byrd ROTC Department.



Many hours are spent locating the trouble before actual maintenance is begun. Vernon Kimberlin, Osey Joshlin, Tommy Tennison, Charles Gray, Ronald Saurier, and Earle Arnold examine a car to determine what is wrong with the engine of their patient.

Vocational Training Is Given in TRADE SCHOOL

Students who are interested in acquiring more skill and dexterity concerning jobs which involve manual skill are eligible to attend the Trade School. Those who have enrolled receive training in such courses as auto repair, barbering, machinery, welding, and radio and T.V. repair. The first part of the day is spent learning crafts at the Trade School, and then classes are dismissed at 11:00 in order that the boys may return to Byrd to study those courses required for graduation. At the end of the four year period, they will graduate from both Byrd and the Trade School, being able to accept jobs in their chosen professions.

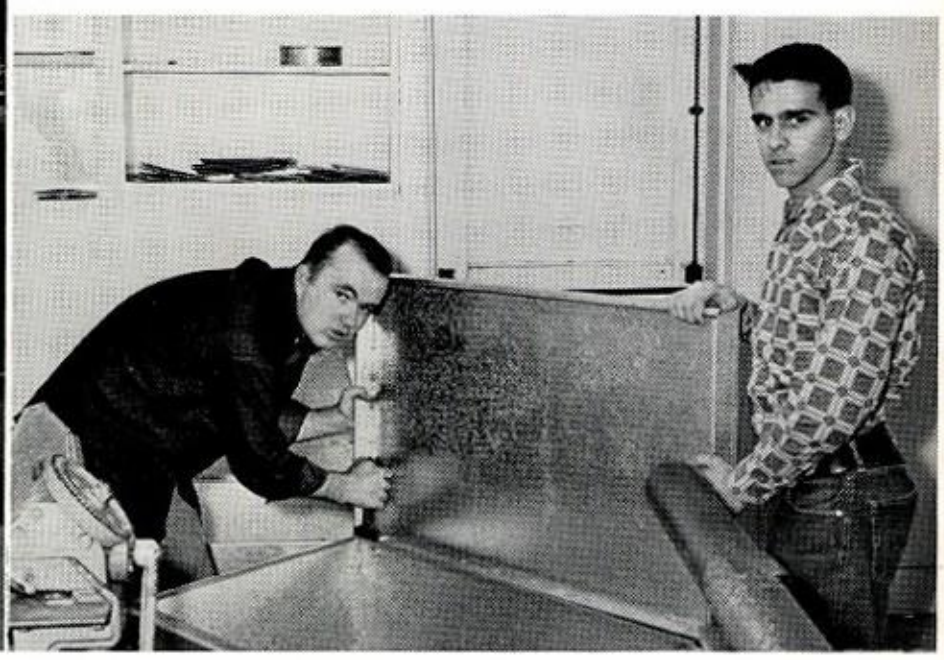
Sanding the front fender of a car are Roy Cascio, Olan Davis, and Leroy Fredericks.



George Hicks and Mickey Fertitta work together in the sheet metal department.

"Our grand business is, not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand."

Idem Essays: Signs of the Times

The train station is to commerce as organizations are to the City of Byrd. Being the hub of activity, the trains stem from it going in many directions just like many interests may develop from membership in clubs at Byrd. Standing on the busy platform and representing their various organizations are Tommy Peyton, President of Gayarre History Club; Dianna Hendrick, "Z" Club Senior Board Member; Marcia Short, Business Manager of the GUSHER; Kathy Kinnebrew, President of the Meteorology Club; Susan Elgin, Treasurer of the French Club; Connie Nolen, of the Drum Corps; Bill Wray, Vice President of the Quill and Scroll; Mike Vollmer, of the Varsity Club.

Activities

Keepers of the storehouse of man's knowledge are the library helpers. Charged with the preservation and distribution of the books, pamphlets, newspapers, records, and film strips owned in common by Byrd's 2600 citizens are the busy members of this club. Mrs. Dorothy Hanks and Mrs. Linda Lee Martin are sponsors of the Library Club, which was created in 1948 to increase literary development and the use of the library among all the students at Byrd. The club consists of twenty-eight girls who are either past or present library workers. Meetings are held one Tuesday each month at which skits, guest speakers, and other forms of entertainment are presented. National Library Week is acknowledged each year with special displays and posters. The club also gives recreation and entertainment to its members in the relaxed atmosphere of a social gathering.

Cindy Courtney, Sandra Smith, Donna Wood, and Ann Taylo work hard checking out books.

First organized in 1947, the Byrd chapter of Future Teachers of America strives to cultivate the personality, character, and leadership ability which are essential for a good teacher.

Some of the activities include serving as guides on Go-To-School Night. The club sponsors are Miss Neva Norsworthy and Mrs. Edna Morgan.

Jo Bains, Kathy Hickok, and Ellen Prudhomme enjoy themselves and learn a great deal while attending the state convention.

DRAMA CLUB

OFFICERS

Vicki Frldman—First Vice-President
Zilla Rae Lyles—Second Vice-President
Pat Thatcher—President
Susie McWilliams—Treasurer
Sue Bryant—(not pictured)—Secretary

Going over their lines for the melodrama that was presented by the Drama Club are villain Raymond Rodgers and heroine Linda Hailey, while Patsy Festervand and Mike Meece look on.

Founded in 1961 by Miss Gladden, the Byrd Drama Club is composed of members and pledges who show a sincere interest in drama. The club is organized on a system of points, whereby pledges of the club can earn these points toward membership by activities related to dramatics. At various times the club is open to new pledges to fill the vacancies left by those who earn their membership.

First row: Claire Potter, Linda Dowden, Frances Victory, Debby Brown, Janis Sinks, Ellen Victory, Pam Auxter, Janelle Bramlett.
Second row: Jackie King, Sharon Feldman, Susan Beauchamp, Renda Bradford, Sandy Haney, Patsy Festervand, Janie Needham, Tommy Baremore.
Third row: Joe Bell, Mike Meece, Barbara Buckner, Shirley Tompkins, Jan Courtney, Hal Higginbotham, Kathy King.

Presents "Melodrama"

First row: Jan Ferguson, Cheryl Love, Barbara Best, Ronnie Jo Simon, Beverly Bagbey, Cynthia Hammett, Marilyn Givens.
Second row: Sandra Beaty, Suzanne Fisher, Margaret Bond, Barbara Kendrick, Sharon McDonald, Elna Godby, Carol Hamilton.

This year the club presented two plays, "A Melodrama" and "Nothing to Destroy." Both were considered to have been a success. It is through club functions like these that the members indulge a flair for the dramatic world and enrich their own lives as well as those in the City of Byrd. Teacher sponsors are Miss Gladden and Miss Gwinn.

Carol Minor, Mike Meece, and Wendall Robison act out one scene in "A Melodrama" in which the villain tries to get the deed to his property.

First row: Suzanne Reisz, Karen Schlubach, Patty Sullenberger, Kathy Kinnebrew, Jean Ann Sallee, Wayne Simon.
Second row: Judy Terry, Lyn Meyerson, Trudy Smith, Marilyn Noble, Sharon Rowe, Diana Formby, Mary Woods.
Third row: Wendall Robison, Ann Carroll, Charlotte Terry, Ann Taylor, Carol Minor, Pam Rainwater, Linda Hailey.

BRUSH AND PALETTE Members

Formed only three years ago, the Brush and Palette Club has already made a lasting name for itself at Byrd by helping to further the interests and activities of art students. This year the organization presented an exhibit of paintings done by the art students themselves. Any interested persons were able to buy the pictures they particularly liked at inexpensive prices. The proceeds went to the Betty Lawrence Memorial Scholarship Fund, formed in honor of the Club's recently deceased sponsor. This fund, to be continued each year, will be an aid for one deserving senior who plans to study art in college.

Twice a month members meet in Room 9 under the able guidance of their sponsor, Mrs. Ann T. Reeks. Realizing that "Industry in art is a necessity", they create their own work and helpfully criticize it and that of others. Occasionally meetings are further brightened by guest speakers or field trips to local art exhibits.

Brush and Palette members Zeldean Porter and Fred Goza study one of the abstract paintings entered in the art exhibit.

First row: Gean Wimer, Marjorie Tatum, Penny Durham, Donna Welbourne, Susan Elgin, Lynne Hancock, Carol Ann Lewis, Lynda Aycock, Judy Norris, Madelyn Erwin, Liz Hamiter.

Third row: Tommy Greer, Colleen Jones, Rosemary Pullen, Susu McCreight, Carol Ann Abney, Charlotte Terry, Nason Brookings, Tommy Valliere.

Increase Artistic Abilities

Strengthening their artistic abilities, Susan Elgin, Kay Taylor, Carol Cosgrove, Margaret Fortson, all seated, and Lynne Hancock, Carol Ann Abney, Roby Odom, and SuSu McCreight, standing, examine examples of different types of artistic design.

First row: Lyn Norman, Sandy Bowen, Nancy Scott, Donna Schneider, Ronnie Jo Simon, Jean Bailey, Louise Murdock, Susan Rolandt.

The members of D.E. for 1964 are:
First row: Louis Waner, Keith Howard, John Neal, Paul Timlin.
Second row: Bill Phelps, Paul Carson, Marilyn Lockhart, Peggy Lomax.
Third row: Nancy Olive, Fred Schmidt, Claire Porter.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION Gives

Being part of a state-wide effort, Distributive Education was begun to give students a head start in their chosen vocation. This is accomplished by having the student leave school after four periods and go to work in one of the many retail, wholesale and service selling stores of Shreveport. In this way, the club offers its members a broader and more comprehensive view of the business world. By being in D.E., a student is given the opportunity to have prominent business leaders speak to him, view training films, and visit various businesses. He is also allowed to attend the Employer-Employee Banquet, state and national conventions, and Faculty and Business-men's coffees. Both juniors and seniors are eligible for membership and service. The club was sponsored this year by Miss Chloe Clark and Mrs. Elizabeth Dees.

Evaluating a sonnet for possible entry in a contest are Vicki Feldman, David Fuller, Leta Bills, and, sitting, Betsy Erskine.

Although the Creative Writing Club is the youngest organization in Byrd, it has big plans for the future. Organized in the spring of 1963, the club is working toward the goal of publishing a magazine composed of the work of its members. Every other Monday the group meets after school to evaluate and criticize the work of the "young Shakespeares." Last April, two young poets belonging to the club took first and third place honors in the Louisiana Poetry contest. The organization, sponsored by Mrs. Sadie Yarbrough, has also planned to enter other writing contests throughout the coming years.

Le Cercle Français, la plus vieille organisation de Byrd High School, fut fondée en 1921. Sous la direction de Mlle. Marie Thérèse LeBlanc, les réunions ont lieu le deuxième et le quantrième mardi du mois. Aux réunions les programmes varient. On donne des pièces et des films; on chante et on s'amuse aux jeux français. On invite des Français à faire des petits discours. Le but du cercle est d'aider les élèves à mieux parler et à mieux comprendre la langue française et aussi les coutumes et la culture de la France. L'année se termine au printemps par un banquet auquel on invite un Français de la ville à faire un discours.

"Z" Club Strives

"The highest of distinctions is service to others."—King George VI. Service to the school and community, the development of better citizenship, and preparation for leadership are the main objectives of the "Z" Club. One of the most important projects this year was the presentation of a Christmas style show to raise money for the Band's trip to Miami. Serving as guides for the 1963 Student Council Convention, welcoming the new students of Byrd with a coke party held in the Youth Center, and having an Easter egg hunt for a local orphanage were a few of the various other projects. In February a Valentine's tea was held at the North Highlands Community Center for the installation of officers and initiation of new members.

Members are selected from the applications of girls in the senior, junior, and sophomore classes on the basis of character, scholarship and leadership. Mrs. Gale Bridger sponsors the group, which meets once a month.

Taking time out of rehearsal to pose for a newspaper photographer are these models.

One of Byrd's oldest organizations, the Upper Latin Forum, was established in 1925 by Miss Hetty Ecker, a former Latin teacher. Presently sponsored by Miss Irma Robinson and Mrs. Marguerite Weatherty, membership includes second, third, and fourth year Latin students. Also active are former students who have continued their interests in the language.

The Forum, composed of 243 members, makes up a chapter of the Louisiana Junior Classical League, an organization of high schools. According to the Roman system of government, the club has two consuls, two scribae, two tribunes, and a quaestor.

Activities undertaken each year include an annual Christmas party, a celebration of National Latin Week, and a spring banquet in the ancient Roman style. Each year the club sponsors a trip to the State Convention of the Junior Classical League, and each summer it sends delegates to the National Convention. Last year the Byrd representatives to the National Convention were Amanda Miller, Mary Sanders, Katie Miller, Ann Houchin, Dorthy Peters, Jane Anderson, and Lynda Monzingo.

On March 2 and 3, 1963, the Byrd chapter of the Junior Classical League hosted the State Convention. There were delegates from all parts of the state which comprised a grand total of over 800 students. Byrd won top honors in many fields including the coveted cup of General Excellence.

Through these activities, on both local and national levels, the Upper Latin Forum strives to promote an awareness and appreciation of our great debt to ancient Rome and its culture.

METEOROLOGY CLUB Inaugurates Weather Study

Organized in 1962 for the specific purpose of establishing a weather station that would alert the students and faculty with an upcoming weather report, the Meteorology Club is headed by Mr. William Pratt.

Activities included in its freshman year were a tour of Barksdale Field and a tour of the Greater Shreveport airport weather station. This year's members went on to acquire a better understanding of the field of meteorology.

RED CROSS Promotes Safety

Instituted to serve others, the Junior Red Cross Chapter of Byrd High is sponsored by Mrs. Lileen Matlock. Besides compiling the Student Directory, it has also sponsored drives to fill gift boxes for children overseas and to provide happiness for others at home by filling Christmas boxes with food and clothes to be distributed locally.

The functioning committees are Typing, Publicity, Hospitality, Art, Student Directory, Membership, Workshop, and Special Projects. Members of the Red Cross are elected from their homerooms, a representative and alternate being chosen at the same time, and each attend monthly meetings. The Girl's First Aid Room is sponsored by Mrs. Daisy Dobson.

LOS VECINOS Encourages

Serving as officers for Los Vecinos this year are: First row: Jackie Fisher, Reporter; Ann Crain, President; Barbara French, Treasurer. Second row: Jere Jones, Secretary; John McConnell, Program Chairman; Candy Green, Vice-President.

Spanish music is enjoyable to most Spanish students. Artis Hudnall accompanies Los Vecinos members as they sing their favorite Spanish folk songs.

Being an extension of the classroom instruction, Los Vecinos presents to its members the atmosphere and music of the romance lands. In the relaxed surroundings of a social club, members of this group discover folk songs and native dances and discuss heroes of Spanish origin as well as history of another land. Thus, the study of the language comes alive, taking on the dimensions and perspective of people in a real world.

During the year Los Vecinos members enjoyed hearing many speakers on the Spanish culture of various countries. Some of the programs consisted of learning Spanish songs and games. In December the club enthusiastically participated in a Christmas party where the traditional breaking of the pinata was the main event. Celebrating the anniversary of the organization, the group, meeting at El Chico, was served tortillas, enchiladas, tacos, and the exotic foods of the warm countries to the south. Sponsors of the group this year were Mrs. Frieda Nickel and Mrs. Annette Hankins.

Composed of the second and third year Spanish students, the Pan American Forum is sponsored by Mrs. Shirley Brown and Mrs. Laura Maddox. The club, whose purpose is to acquaint the members with the Spanish language and customs, is in its fifth year at Byrd. Meetings are held once each month, and slides, lectures, movies, or demonstrations are presented. The annual Christmas meeting takes the form of a pinata party with the traditional showering of candy and cookies, and to climax the year, a banquet is held at a Mexican restaurant in the spring.

Serving as officers for the Lower Latin Forum are George Seymour, Treasurer; Carolyn Rainey, Consul; Susan Beauchamp, Scriba; Bert Ball, Consul.

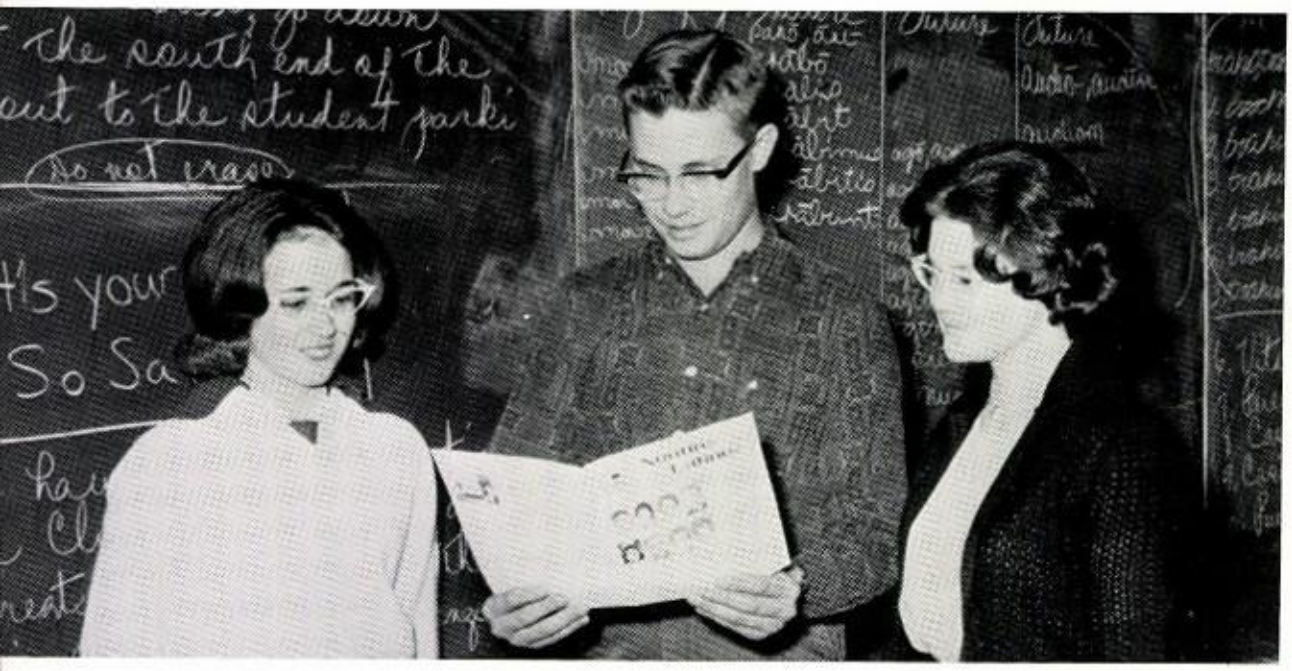
Membership of the Lower Latin Forum is composed of first year Latin students. This Forum in conjunction with the Upper Latin Forum makes up a chapter of the Junior Classical League, a national organization of Latin students.

Meetings are held every third Wednesday of each month with Mrs. Ruth Anderson as the club sponsor. The programs are presented by the students whose object is to promote an interest in ancient Roman and Greek languages, civilization, literature, and art.

At the October meeting an impressive candle-lighting ceremony highlighted the induction of the new members of the J. C. L. The state convention was held in April at Istrouma High in Baton Rouge.

The spring banquet where all were attired in Roman dress reflected the old Roman costumes of modern times.

in Ancient Civilization



Byrd was host to the eleventh annual Louisiana Junior Classical League Convention which proved to be a great success. Looking at the convention program are Sandy Deputy, scriba; Fred Norton, and Elizabeth Ware. Byrd captured sweepstakes honors by tallying the largest number of points in competitive events.

First row: Beth Sour, Margaret Shaw, Peggy Simpson, Barbara Monsour, Susie Stone, Dorothy Peters, Suzy Pharis.

Many projects were made for the J.C.L. convention held at Byrd. Studying some of the projects are Eddie Wood, David Holt, Evelyn Santora, and Mildred Porter. Students from Byrd who accounted for the sweepstakes honors were Frances Chandler, Don Weigel, Delores Rollings, Brad Foster, Betty Jordan, Kitty Johnson, Marilyn Squire, and Amanda Miller.

Leading the Council to another successful yea are the teacher sponsors, Miss Jerry Malone an Miss Mary Ferguson. Only in their second yea of sponsoring the Student Council, they hav produced a record to be envied.

STUDENT COUNCI

Under the supervision of Miss Mary Ferguson and Miss Jerry Malone, the 1963-64 edition of the Student Council, like its twenty-two predecessors, served well the City of Byrd.

Our Student Council, which is run in much the same way as our federal government, aids in the training for and practice of good citizenship. The organization coordinates the activity program and sponsors projects which will benefit the entire school.

The Council itself consists of six officers elected by the student body, fourteen standing committee chairmen appointed by the President, and representatives elected by the homerooms, A few of this year's projects have been: Go West Day, a Faculty Luncheon, Leadership Day, Career Day, Basketball Day, Good Night Knight Day, and the annual talent show.

However, the Student Council's work does not end with the conclusion of these projects not does it cease with the end of school. Byrd is a member of the National, Southern, and State Associations of Student Councils. During the past summer our Council sent delegates to the National Convention, the National Student Council Leadership Conferences, the Southern Convention, the Louisiana State Convention, and the Louisiana Workshop. The endless efforts of Byrd's Student Council have created greater efficiency, more privileges, and a deeper pride in our school for each student.

Students from various Louisiana high schools visited in the halls of Byrd between meetings. Many new friends were made and ideas formed.

Mr. Earl Reum delivered the keynote speech of the convention. Mr. Reum, besides being an authority on Student Councils, is the director of the National Student Council Conference at Camp Cheley, Colorado.

COUNCIL Hosts Convention

Students arrived at the City of Byrd throughout the day Friday and accompanied Byrd students during their daily activities. Having just arrived, they found a wonderful hospitality.

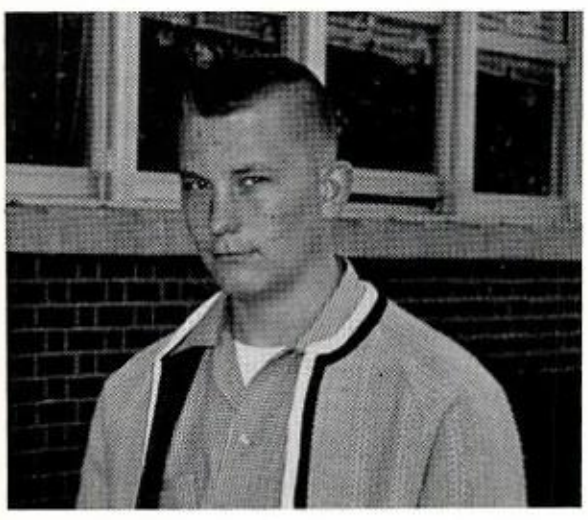
This year, through the efforts of the Student Council, Byrd was elected host of the fourteenth annual conference of the Louisiana Student Council Association. Students from Byrd cooperated to the fullest by housing delegates who came from all over the state to the convention. Many new faces were seen around the campus as the school representatives began arriving for the two day conference. The Youth Center and auditorium were used for discussion groups and the election of officers for next year's convention. But it was not all work; the delegates were given a concert by the Centenary College Choir. Also, there was a banquet and dance held in the Crystal Ballroom Friday evening for the representatives. At the close of the meeting, everyone who attended felt that he had gained much from sharing ideas and good times with new friends.

About 500 students attended the banquet and dance. Good food and a good time were the fruitful rewards of the afternoon's work.

Better Living Through

Officers for the 4-H Club this year are John Durham, Treasurer; Candy Coody, Corresponding Secretary; Carolyn Rainey, Secretary; Diane Gammill, Reporter; Brenda Coleman, President; Johnny Gardner, Vice-President.

Sponsor Mr. R. A. Smith received this citation for outstanding service to the 4-H Club of Byrd.



Johnny Gardner brought many honors to the Byrd 4-H group.

Established in 1935 to promote better living through richer citizenship toward the school and community, the 4-H club of Byrd has as its motto, "To make the best better".

The sponsor for the group is Mr. R. A. Smith, a biology teacher at Byrd. Mr. Smith retires this year after 43 years at Byrd; this is the longest in years of service for a teacher in our City.

Members are required to carry on at least one project. Among these are baking, serving, home improvement, dairy, beef, lambs, and gardening. Also, it is required of a member to attend and participate either in Achievement Day, the Louisiana Parish or State Fair, or the Baton Rouge Spring Livestock Show. The most popular projects include clothing, food preparation, quarter-horses, livestock, handicraft, and electricity.

Experts demonstrate to the club modern methods of preserving food, show how to operate new dairy equipment, and teach the proper care of stock and swine.

Richer Citizenship

Many Byrd members have received parish, district, and state awards, Johnny Gardner received several top awards in his livestock project. He was top man of Louisiana's Livestock Judging Team. This team placed first in the nation at the Chicago International Livestock Show. Top honors were also received by Brenda Coleman's quarter horse. Richard Huff has won honors with his sheep project, and the district electric award was won by Carolyn Rainey.

At the Louisiana State Fair, Brenda Coody and Carolyn Rainey both placed high in the adult quarterhorse show; Johnny Gardner placed his calf in second place. He is on the state livestock judging team and also has competed with other state teams in Chicago, Linda Knight's calf placed fifth, and Richard Huff topped the group with his first place lamb and champion of breed.

The International Livestock Exposition in Chicago is a goal to strive for if one is a 4-H member. But Johnny Gardner, second from left, did better, being part of the first place International Judging Team, he displays his ribbons won there.

Carolyn Rainey displays some of the fine handicraft that is made in 4-H. She has won many fine gifts through her skills in 4-H activities.

Gayarre Presents Program

Founded in 1929 by Miss Lilia McLure, the Gayarre History Club has grown from a membership of 29 to 365. Through the years the club has stimulated the interest of its members in the study of the history of Shreveport and the immediate area.

Meetings for the organization are held on the last Wednesday of each month, and any Junior or Senior who maintains a C+ average may join. Highlighting the club's activities for the year was an educational assembly on the flags that have flown over Louisiana during its colorful history. A banquet held in the honor of the club closes the activities of the group, but many memories of an exciting year are carried on by its members.

"HIGH LIFE" Is Always

From all the articles submitted by the reporters, the editors must choose the lead story. Planning the first page are Kathy Hickok and Jo Bains, Co-Editors-in-Chief, and Betsy Erskine, Managing Editor.

Ten deadlines in one year, plus such minor crises as the "misplacing" of the galley proofs for an entire issue or the sudden notice that the shutter did not work during the whole series of elaborately posed pictures, keep the staffs in 307 both haggard and happy. Striving to cover all the current news at Byrd, members of the business and editorial staffs work together to put out the official school newspaper. Members of the art staff, the journalism classes, and those who edit the paper compose the editorial staff, which is in charge of reporting, proofreading, and make-up.

Fred Phillips, Circulation Manager, Steve Hidalgo, Business Manager, Dottie Stone, Business Manager, and Terry Udes, Assistant Business Manager, check the account book in which each ad that has been sold is recorded.

Ad salesmen make the publication of the "High Life" possible. These students are responsible for the financial well-being of the newspaper.

Second row: Wendall Robison, Ken Hawkins, Tommy Peyton, Susanna Perry, Connie Nolen.

Bert Ball, Exchange Editor, Jackie Wheeler, Advertising Manager, James H. Anderson, standing, Advertising Manager, and Elizabeth Sessions, Assistant Advertising Manager, paste ads on the dummy sheet to determine their position in the "High Life".

Eagerly Anticipated

Advertising, bookkeeping, and circulation are the responsibilities of the business staff.

Two contests are sponsored during the school year by the newspaper. The most popular senior boy and girl are selected in the "Mr. and Miss Mistletoe" contest held in December. When the winners are announced, the "High Life" features their pictures at the top of the front page.

In 1963, the newspaper, sponsored by Mrs. Mamie Breazeale and Mr. John Tabor, received a first place rating from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. In addition to this honor, in the public school division, the paper was judged "All-American" by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Mrs. Mamie Breazeale and Mr. John Tabor, sponsors of the newspaper, look at an issue which has just come back from the printing company.

Sheila Wharton, Leta Bills, and Janis Jinks, Junior Assistants, and Rick Lenert, Sports Editor, check the schedule on the board in the High Life room to see the dates on which their assignments are due.

News Editors Tommy Baremore and Amanda Miller and Personality Editors Karen Dowty and Johanna McGraw check inches published by each reporter to see which ones are eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll.

Displaying the award presented to the "High Life" in 1963 by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association are Frances Victory and Judy Moore, Feature Editors, and Tucker Neilson, Club Editor.

Sharon Shelton, Martha Blake, Art Editor, and Zeldean Porter study ideas for the art work to be used in the newspaper.

"HIGH LIFE" and GUSHER Involve

Members of the "High Life" staff present a skit in an assembly urging students to purchase the first issue of the paper.

Reporters for the "High Life" check their stories for errors before submitting them to the staff for publication.

Excited students eagerly inspect the newly arrived Gushers at the signing party held in the gym to which all are invited.

Those interested in working on the business staff of the GUSHER fill out applications in September.

Every year at Christmas time a senior boy and girl ar selected by the student body to serve as "Mr. and Mi Mistletoe". Merrie Beth Graves and Mac Griffith, selecte this year, show Santa Claus mugs typical of the season.

All Citizens at "City of Byrd"

When the pictures that are not used in the Gusher are offered for sale, those desiring to purchase any are asked to come to the GUSHER room to see them.

Members of Mr. Tabor's journalism classes, who write many of the articles that appear in the "High Life", look proudly at the finished product.

n late September, interested junior and senior upils apply for membership on the editorial taff of the GUSHER.

Before having his picture made, each person must pay the required amount and then patiently wait his turn.

GUSHERS and

The selling of the "High Life" causes much excitement. The ten issues of the paper are distributed in homeroom classes.

Linda Buchanan poses for her picture for Mr. Shorter, the photographer who takes many of the pictures for the GUSHER.

The arrival of the yearbook always causes great excitement throughout the school. On the night prior to the distribution of the GUSHER'S, the staff has a party at which they receive the first look at the finished product.

For weeks Byrd students await the distribution of the "High Life". Jim Mayhan, Lynn Stonecipher, Jo Dean Nicols, Sammy Toys, and Jim Baremore enjoy reading the paper during their study hall.

"HIGH LIFES" Are Treasured

Dressed in their best bunny attire, the GUSHER children gave a "bunny blast" at which the 1964 senior favorites were presented. All sophomores that have applied for the GUSHER staff are invited to a coke party held in September. Here they become acquainted with the present members of the staff and they learn something about the work involved.

Picture-taking days are always met with enthusiasm and confusion. Students are often seen going in every direction at once.

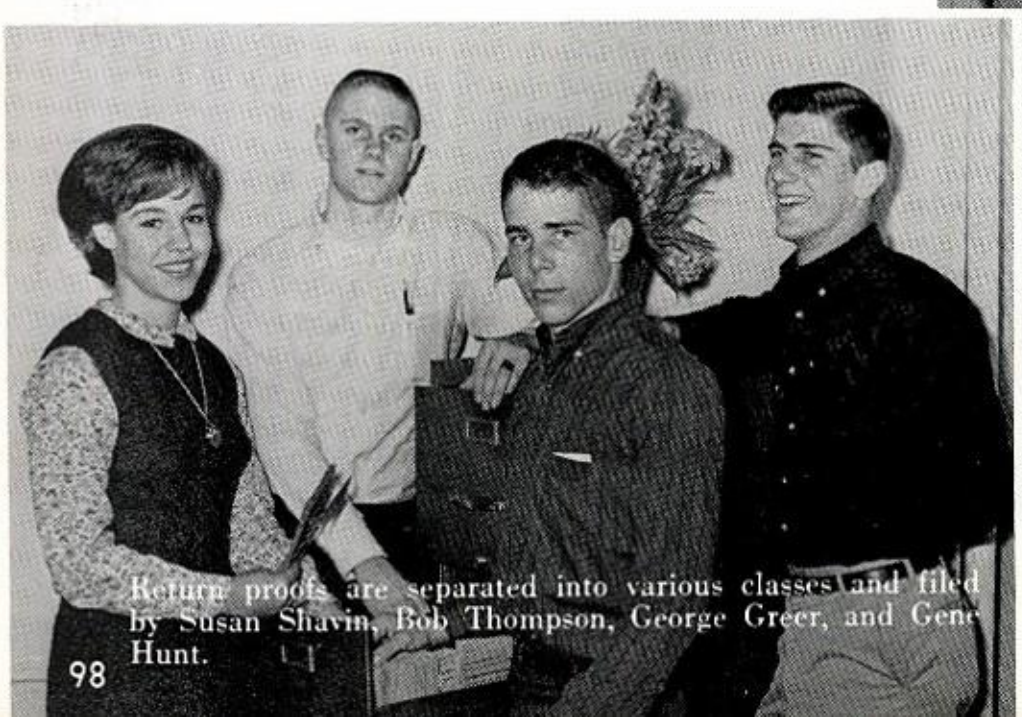
Returning GUSHER receipts to the students are these business staff members: Franny Parker, John Knost, Bill Wray, Mike Vollmer, and Penny Bullock.

Work and Cooperation

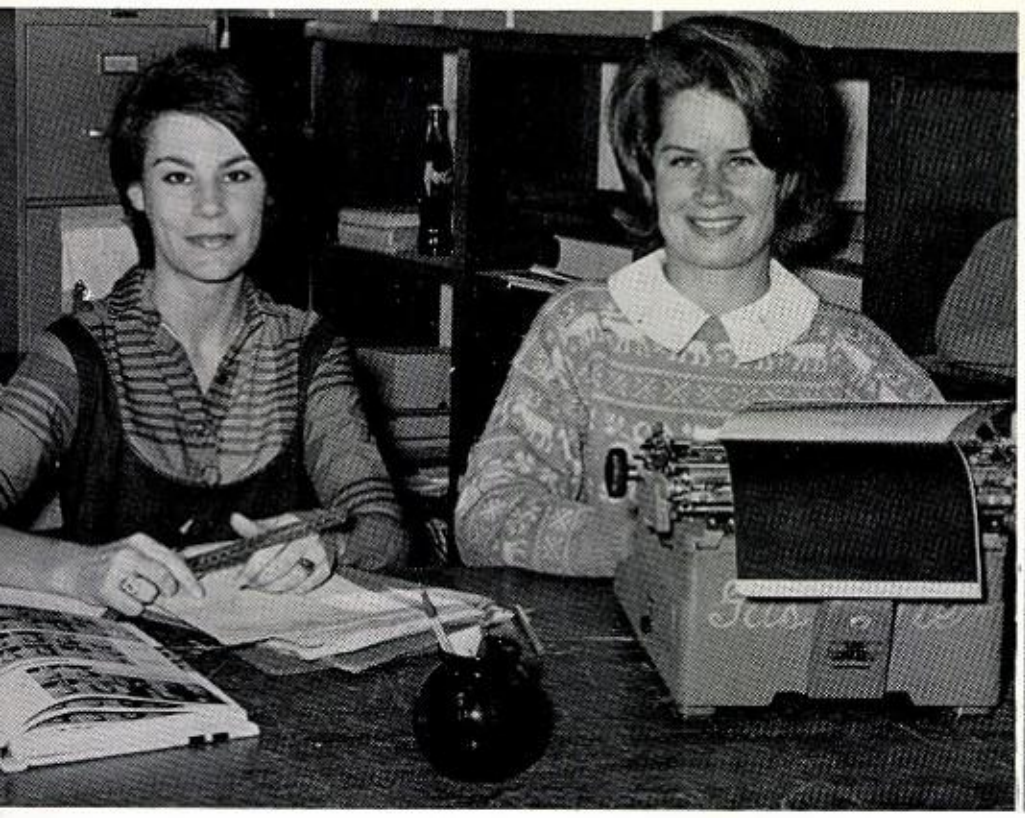
Symbolizing the work of the organizations, the activities of the students, and the thrill and excitement of the honors in the "City of Byrd" is the GUSHER. Emblemizing both our achievements and our failures, the yearbook records the events of each year.

Members of the GUSHER staff work with determination planning and designing with the aim of producing a superior yearbook. A great deal is involved in the production of such a publication as the GUSHER. Such things as the frequent and despairing search for "disappearing" rulers and the fear of the ever-approaching final mailing date are the compelling forces which keep the three departments of the GUSHER staff constantly at work.



Return proofs are separated into various classes and filed by Susan Shavin, Bob Thompson, George Greer, and Gene Hunt.

Editorial staff members find many ideas by looking at different yearbooks from schools all over the nation. Geralyn Pope, Betsy Cobb, Bill Ward, Pam George, and Al Childs study these annuals.



After an advertisement is sold, it must be transferred to the copy sheet. Taking extra care to make sure that the names are spelled correctly are Business Manager Lee Hughen and Advertising Manager Marcia Short.

Publicity for the GUSHER is the responsibility of the business staff. Madelyn Erwin, Sherrie Powell, and Dianna Hendrick put up a banner reminding students to subscribe while Cammie Owens and Mary Turner check for accuracy.

Produce the GUSHER

Each page of the yearbook is drawn up by the editorial staff, while advertisements and subscriptions are sold by the business staff. Responsible for the art work and the cover design are the art staff members.

Miss Margee Sanders sponsors the editorial section and Mrs. Thomas Wright is the sponsor of the business staff.

Another activity sponsored by the GUSHER is the selection of senior favorites in early February. Every senior votes on eight boys and eight girls to represent the senior class in the yearbook. Those chosen are announced by staff members in a special student assembly.

In competition with other yearbooks in the nation, the GUSHER acquired an "A" rating from the National Yearbook Association and a "First Place" from the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

After having his picture made, each student receives several proofs from which he chooses the one to be used in the yearbook. Delivering these is one of the duties of editorial staff members Suzanne Musgrave, Lyn Meyerson, Betty Wray, Fred Goza, and Dick Seale.

After the early morning arrival of the over ninety boxes of GUSHERS, excited staff members store them until time for their delivery to unsuspecting students. First row: Mike Tooke, Jean FitzGerald. Second row: Nancy Dilworth, Wesley Crawford.

"I will take time to wander down
A woodland path, cathedral dim,
Where I can kneel in solitude
And lift my heartfelt thanks to Him
Who made a world divinely fair . . ."

Marie Elmore Baxter

Sometimes the loftiest and most beautiful things have the lowest beginnings!
A strong, mighty tree was at first only a small, insignificant seed, but that seed had aspirations to overcome all the obstacles at hand. A small, woodland animal doesn't know how long it will survive among other animals of greater size and strength; it only has its cunning and fortitude.
And so it is with great works of art.
A beautiful composition of music sometimes emerges from one without vast wealth or intelligence, but with overwhelming feeling that cries to be expressed.
The instrument used to turn this feeling into reality needn't be the costliest one, but the hands which motivate the instrument must have behind them all the loving touch of a fine master.
To one's life this same principle may be applied.
It isn't so much the origin or background of a life, but the path it chooses to take.

Many of our finest musical stars started their paths to success wit second-hand musical instruments from a pawn shop. Trying the talents on some of these instruments are Danny Scarborough, A

Miami Orange Bowl Trip

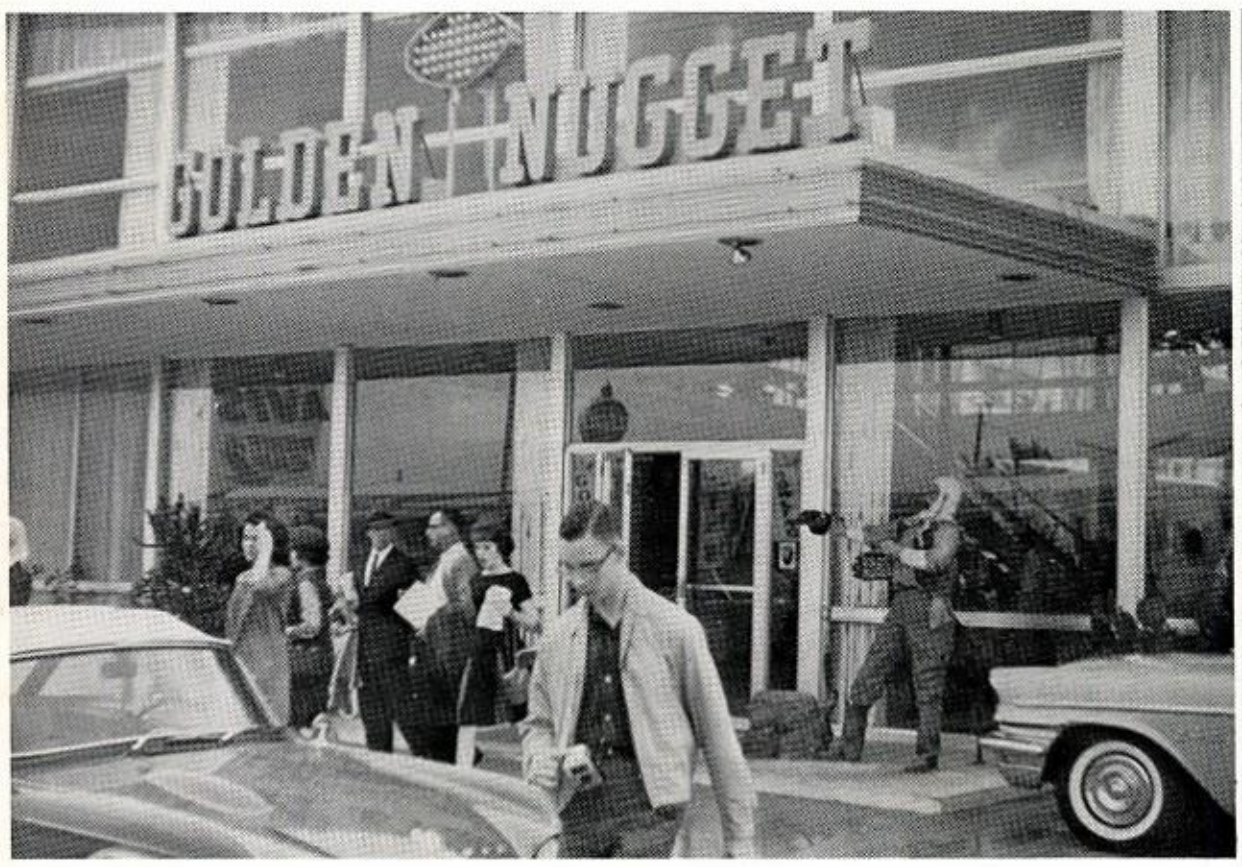
For 107 Byrd Band members the trip to Miami, Florida, for the Orange Bowl Parade has highlighted 1963-1964. The group left on December 29 and traveled by air to Miami. The agenda for the four day vacation included marching in the parade, pool-side parties at the Golden Nugget Motel on Miami Beach where the band stayed, scenic trips, and a New Year's Eve party.

This "Florida vacation" cost the band approximately $17,000. The money had been raised by rummage sales, candy sales, fruit cake sales, hobo days, paper drives, a bazaar, a variety show, and donations. Under the direction of Mr. T. W. Watson the Byrd Marching Band has brought great recognition to Byrd through its tremendous will and talent displayed on this trip.



At the Golden Nugget Motel on Miami Beach the band unpacks and prepares for their four day stay in Miami, Florida. They are awaiting their pool-side party and barbecue planned for Sunday night.

Excited and relieved the band lands in sunny Florida for their "Winter Vacation" and the "King Orange Bowl."

Highlights Music Year

Entertaining for the Byrd "Hootenanny" presented by the Music Department are Claire Potter, Catherine Conly, and Donna Wood.

In Byrd's music department, as well as in any other field, the behind-the-scenes workers are the backbone of the organization. Each one plays his important role in furthering its development.

Band librarians, Ann Gardner, Curtis Martin, and Candy Green file and arrange music for each section of the Band.

Band uniform managers, Chuck Melancon, Bob Scales, and Bill Farmer carry out their responsibility of checking and filing uniforms.

The Byrd Choir performs at the annual Christmas assembly for the student body.

Caring for the band instruments are the instrument committee: Fred McClanahan, Tommy Cole, Tommy Brown, Don Meloed, Richard Hoffman, Richard Steelman, Bubba Jones, Robert Giddens, and Wallace Putman.

Cindy Jordon, pianist for the Byrd Girl's Glee Club gives of her time and her talent to play for them. She accompanies them in performances and every-day practice.

Byrd's "A" Choir Is

Director of the "A" Choir, Mr. Sullivan gives much of his time, his leadership, and his talent to the group, in order to help them attain excellence.

The musical talent of Byrd's "A" Choir comes through many hours of practice

Striving for high goals during 1963-1964, the Concert Choir participated in many activities. A fulfillment of one aim was a rating of excellence at the District Music Festival in Natchitoches, Louisiana, and the representing of Byrd at the Del Mar Festival in Corpus Christi, Texas.

The Choir gave a Christmas concert and Spring concert, and sang for civic clubs and other organizations. It also performed for Youree Drive, Broadmoor, and Hamilton Terrace Junior High Schools.

Among the goals for the Choir are its attendance at the Solo Festival in Natchitoches, Louisiana at Northwestern State College and the District II Festival there in March. Groups winning a superior rating at this festival will be eligible for state competition in the spring.

While taking an active part in all these things, they are still finding time to give several All-Sacred Concerts in various churches this spring. Annually, the Choir also presents a Spring Concert, the high point of the season.

Music Groups Excel in Entertainment

Byrd's Girls' Glee Club and the Boys' Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Sullivan, spend many hours in practice to achieve excellence.

The Girls' Glee Club received a superior rating at the District Music Festival in Natchitoches, Louisiana and rated superior also at the State Music Festival later in the year.

At the District II Festival in Natchitoches, Louisiana, the Boys' Chorus received a superior rating and were made eligible for the State Festival in April.

In the Spring both groups participated in concerts with the Choir for the Byrd student body and clubs in the city.

Standing by the trophies won by the Girls' Glee Club are its officers Barbara Gauerke, President, and Glee Galbrauth, Librarian.

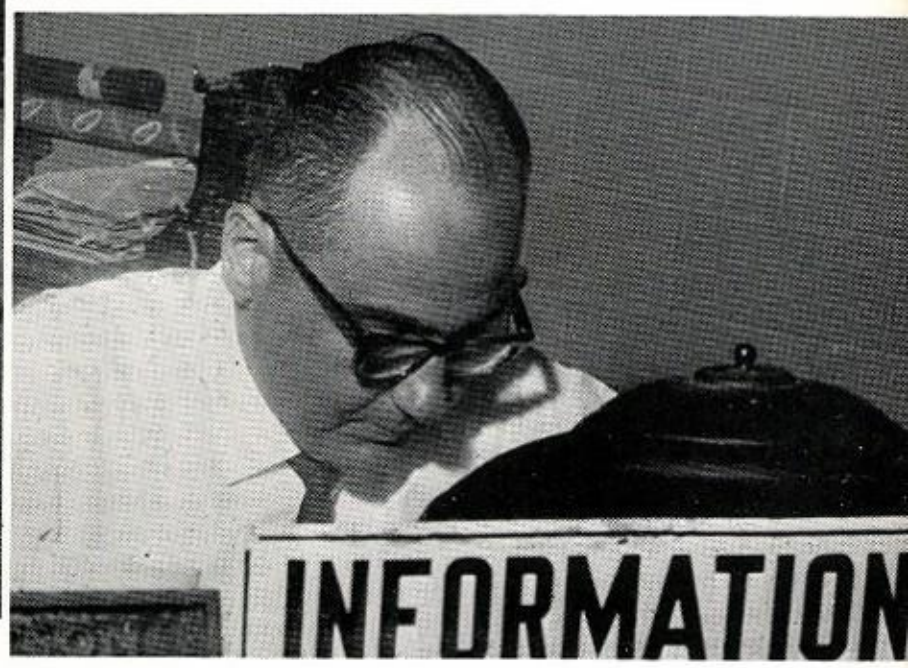
Music Fills the Air

Entertaining during an assembly for the student body are Artis Hudnall, Leslie Cook, and Tommy Kirkpatrick, the "KC Trio."

Music must take rank as the highest of the fine arts. Whether from the strings of a harp or the heart of a man, music fills the air. From the harmony of the Choir to the precision marching of the Band, Byrd takes pride in its versatile music department. It includes the Byrd High School Band, led by Mr. Thomas Watson, which plays at many football games, assemblies, and concerts, the Orchestra, directed by Mr. Walter Caughey, which performs at concerts and Graduation Exercises, and the choral groups, under the supervision of Mr. James Sullivan, which sing often at special assembly programs and concerts. Each group plays its part in the advancement of this culture and by their many hours of practice develops the art of music.

Precision marching is one of the many facets of the Byrd Band. Here they are accepting a donation for their Miami King Orange Parade trip from the "Dixie Dolls."



Pondering over the itinerary for the Miami trip is Mr. Watson, director of the Byrd Band.

Bringing recognition and pride to its school, the Byrd Band, under the direction of Mr. Thomas W. Watson, is a tribute to Byrd. The Band attains high goals through hard work and many hours of practice, thus maintaining its traditional fineness. In addition to its own concerts, the group performs at football games and in parades.

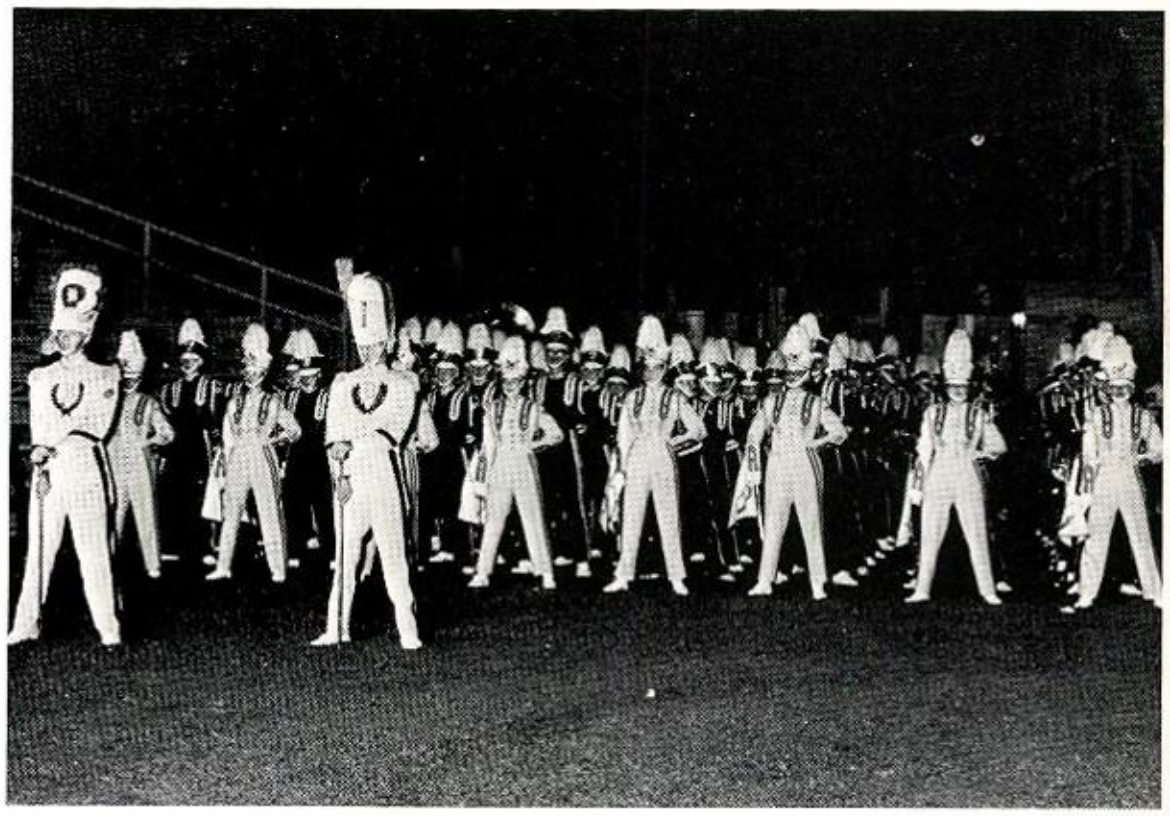
During the 1963-1964 season the band marched in the King Orange Classic Parade in Miami, Florida, on New Year's Day. This was the highlight of their year, being both a magnificent trip and a chance to increase the acknowledgement and appreciation of Byrd.

ch member adds to its recognition and pride.

and Recognition to Its School

This trip cost the band approximately $17,000. The money was raised by rummage sales, candy sales, fruit cake sales, hobo days, waste paper drives, a bazaar, a variety show, and donations by school organizations.

Annually the Band presents a Spring Concert for the student body and has a social event honoring the Band royalty. Janet Martin and Robert Giddens reign over the court for 1964. With all these things the realization is inevitable that the Byrd Marching Band plays an important role in Byrd's life.



Waiting in formation prior to a big football game is the Byrd Marching Band.

"There's a long, long road a-winding through the happy yesterdays,
As I find myself a-dreaming of those cherished bygone days."

Edith M. Helstern

How quickly the most carefree and rewarding days of one's life can slip by! Byrd not only makes a lasting impression on our lives, but also the places we have left can never be filled. As days pass by, our faces and names will become dim and soon forgotten, but our spirit, our thoughts, and our ideas will leave a mist of memories that can never be dispelled. The time has come for us to bid a reluctant farewell to this building and to the rewards and disappointments we have experienced here. In the years to come we will witness many milestones in our lives, but perhaps none will stand out so vividly in our minds as the three years of being a part of the special wonder and magic of Byrd.

It hardly seems as if three years could have passed so quickl Seniors now find themselves about to embark on a new road—a ro to an adult life. Viewing the new highway still in construction a Corky Strong, President of the Red Cross; Jo Bains, Co-Editor of t High Life; Patricia Tatum, President of the Student Council; All Wier, Head Prayer Group Leader; Linda Beede, Treasurer of t Pep Squad; Lallage Spence, Associate Editor of the GUSHER; Ji Miller, Cheerleader; Carolyn Sentell, Head Prayer Group Lead

MR. AND MISS GUSHER PRESENT

Allen Wier and Patricia Tatum

There are always those people at Byrd who serve without a great deal of recognition, and are loyal, dependable, and a great over-all asset to our school. The GUSHER staff attempts to select such people as Mr. and Miss GUSHER each year, and those chosen for 1964 are Allen Wier and Patricia Tatum.

Working on student council projects took a great deal of Allen's time during his sophomore year, and he also participated in track and cross-country. Lettering in this sport in his junior year, Allen represented Byrd at the Seminar on Alcoholism, was a delegate to Leadership Conference, and attended Pelican Boys' State, where he was elected State Attorney General. For his outstanding work in the student council, Allen was nominated to run for president of this organization. Serving as Chairman of the Recreation Committee of the student council in his senior year, Allen also attended the state convention of the Louisiana Association of Student Councils. Nominated for vice-president of the Senior Class, he served as head prayer group leader, narrated the pep squad performances, and gave the invocation at the football games during the year. An active worker in his church, school, and community, Allen represents Byrd excellently as a sincere, dependable person, and is one of our most outstanding students.

Patricia has been a devoted worker during her entire three years in Byrd. Her willingness to "help out" was first shown when she served as an office worker in her sophomore year and was elected president of Los Vecinos. When a junior, Patricia again worked in the office. Elected to the Pep Squad, she was also designated as a finalist in the American Field Service program. Her fellow students named Patricia as an alternate to Pelican Girls' State, and she was chosen a member of the National Honor Society. In her senior year she was named the Outstanding Senior Girl by the Optimist Club in recognition of her many accomplishments. Patricia served as president of the student council, and she was always willing to put every ounce of effort into this organization. A member of the Drum Corps and "Z" Club, Patricia has exhibited loyalty and a true sense of responsibility in all her work. An active member and leader in her church, Patricia possesses the character traits that exemplify an outstanding girl at Byrd. Through their many hours of devoted work, Allen and Patricia have shown a true loyalty to their school, and are therefore recognized with this distinction by the GUSHER.

The 1964 Senior Favorites

The election of two Seniors to the position of Mr. and Miss GUSHER is somewhat different from any other election at Byrd. The entire GUSHER staff takes part in the nomination and election of these deserving students, and each nominee must meet certain requirements before being considered. He must have attended Byrd for three years and must have contributed worthwhile service to the school during each of these years. Members of the GUSHER staff are never eligible for election to this honorary position of recognition.

Presented by Mr. and Miss GUSHER in the following section are the Senior Favorites of the Class of 1964. They were elected by the entire Senior Class in a special assembly held for that purpose on February 7th of this year, and the results of this election were kept secret until the Senior Favorite Assembly presented by members of the GUSHER staff on March 26. Although this honor was bestowed upon only sixteen members of the Senior Class, every class member deserves to be included in the following pages, for every single Senior is an important and necessary part of our class. The Senior Favorites are but representatives of the 675 students who comprise the Class of '64. In the future, as we look back upon our memorable Senior year at Byrd High School, we will recall the many meaningful friendships we acquired during our years here. The warmth of feeling and bond of friendship and unity felt by the members of this year's Senior Class are symbolized by the 1964 Senior Favorites.

"There's wealth in every mile,
There's gold in the sun, in the dust of the road,
It's riches . . ."

E. E. Williamson

The crowds have gone, and only the echoes of spirited fans linger.
One has the feeling of melancholy and wonder at the void and emptiness of an abandoned stadium.
It brings to mind the joyous and the disappointing, the gay and the sad,
the generations of students that have come and gone, always leaving a misty trace of their thoughts and actions behind them. As one leaves, hearing the echo of lonesome footsteps, he pauses to think of the generations to come.
Oh maybe, it won't be this building or this school, but the feelings will be the same and perhaps,
the spirit as animated.
There is only one hope;
that those students,
whoever they may be,
can receive the same joy, the closeness to others, and the feelings of accomplishment and co-operation that has filled these years.

The track at Byrd is a sight that we may look at every day, bu never really see. We come to school with the assurance that i was there yesterday, and so it will be true today. Generations o boys have used the track as a pathway to physical fitness and honor Representing their respective sports are Rex Durham, golf; John Beckett, baseball; Mike Garrison, football; Laird Evans, track; Hugh Ilgenfritz, tennis; Chuck Porter, swimming; George Graham basketball; Jay Clem, cheerleader.

Posting an 8-2 record in individual matches against Fair Park, Bossier, Bolton, Eldorado, Arkansas High, and Texarkana High, the Jacket golfers rolled to a very successful season in 1963. For 1964, the Jackets will be bolstered by the talents of returning lettermen Rex Durham, Milton Burke, and Hermie Jordan. Graduating lettermen were Butch Marsalis and Ronnie Planchard. Although they finished fourth in the state, the highlight of the season was winning the North Louisiana Rally's golf tournament.

Individual honors were taken by Milton Burke and Butch Marsalis, both being chosen for the Greater Shreveport All-Star Golf Team. Burke was the only sophomore chosen.

Running their string of undefeated matches to 75, the 1964 Byrd Tennis Team ame within two points of winning the state championship. But one of the ighlights of the meet in Baton Rouge was the Jack Wilkerson-Hugh Ilgenfritz oubles victory over Lee High (6-1, 4-6, 13-11) to advance into the finals, here they were beaten by University High (6-3, 6-2). On the way to the tate meet, Byrd won its seventh straight North Louisiana District title. In the natches at Fair Park, Byrd's Ilgenfritz and Mary Dial beat Woodlawn 6-3, -6, 6-3, in the mixed doubles finals. Byrd also added the Girls' and Boys' oubles to their victories by having Dial and Sandra Mitchell, and Wilkerson nd Ilgenfritz win in their respective divisions.

Though the Jackets have but three returning lettermen in Wilkerson, Ilgen- itz, and Danny Scarborough, Coach Franklin McCarter has valuable material sophomore hopefuls Nita Harrell and Gordon Traylor, who is ranked sixth the nation in his age group.

JACKE

Mayor Clyde Fant presents a proclamation to Coach Turner designating the May 16, 1963 as "Byrd High School Day" and "Woodrow Turner Day." Looking on are representative lettermen Ivan Smith, Melvin Stallcup, Ran Smith, Wallace Borden, and Tad Price.

Byrd's track team held on to a virtua monopoly in their division of the stat athletic program by successfully defend ing the state championship. The Jacke speedsters turned in their eighth stat championship in the ten-year history o Triple-A sports. Track, like most al sports, requires a team effort, an through team effort, what was to b only a mediocre team, became a grea one. Therefore, the success of the 196 team goes to all who worked with it not to a few individuals.

The Jackets were led by the man th sportswriters cited as Louisiana's num ber one cinder coach, Woodrow Turner who joined the Byrd staff in 1951. Tur ner was given a special award at th Seventh Annual Ark-La-Tex Sports Award Dinner held February 14, 1964. The award recognized; since 1951 Byrd has only once finished below second place i state. Also, Turner installed the Shreve port Relays, sponsored by Byrd, which attracts the finest local prospects.

Fine individual performers as well as good depth characterized the '63 Jackets Thirteen thinclads from Byrd made All State including one sophomore.

The outlook for the track team is good as the up-and-coming sophomores are strong. Last year's sophomores turned in a perfect record for the season, and will give Coach Turner extra depth dur ing 1964.

SOUTHWEST TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Coach Turner took his trackmen to Fort Worth for their opening action. The track meet, attracting teams from Louisiana, Texas, and Oklahoma, created a tough competition for the Jackets. The best performances for the Byrdites were by Steve Shine, Jim MaGee, and Nick Rawinson. Byrd took sixth in a strong field of nineteen, a fine opening performance. This was the only out-of-state trip by the track team in 1963. After this somewhat slow start the tracksters came back strong.

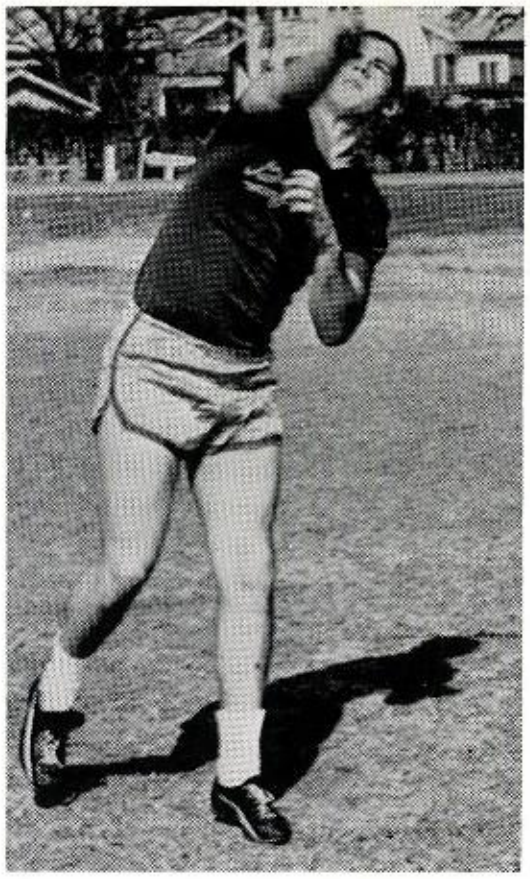
SHREVEPORT RELAYS

Byrd was the host as well as the winner of the Shreveport Relays. Any doubt that the 1963 track team could match the strength of the '62 State Championship team produced by Byrd was erased at this meet. Two records were tied and three more set as the Jackets crushed all opponents. Jack Pyburn hurled the discus nearly twenty feet further than the previous record, and Steve Shine and Jim MaGee sped to new records in the 220 and 880 yard runs respectively. The 440 yard relay team clocked the distance in 43.5 seconds, and Frank Kelly cleared six feet, one inch to tie meet records. Points gathered from victories in the three relays along with strong individual performances gave our thinclads an easy win.

Beautiful form gave Frank Kelly a share of the meet high jump record at the Shreveport Relays.



LAIRD EVANS

Juniors and seniors who specialize in the 440 yard run are Bill Hardin, Greg Freeman, Scotty Jones, Jimmy Adams, Dave Ingram, Allen Wier, Herb Hamilton, Greg Falk, Ran Smith, and Ivan Smith. The Jackets have depth in all events including the 440.

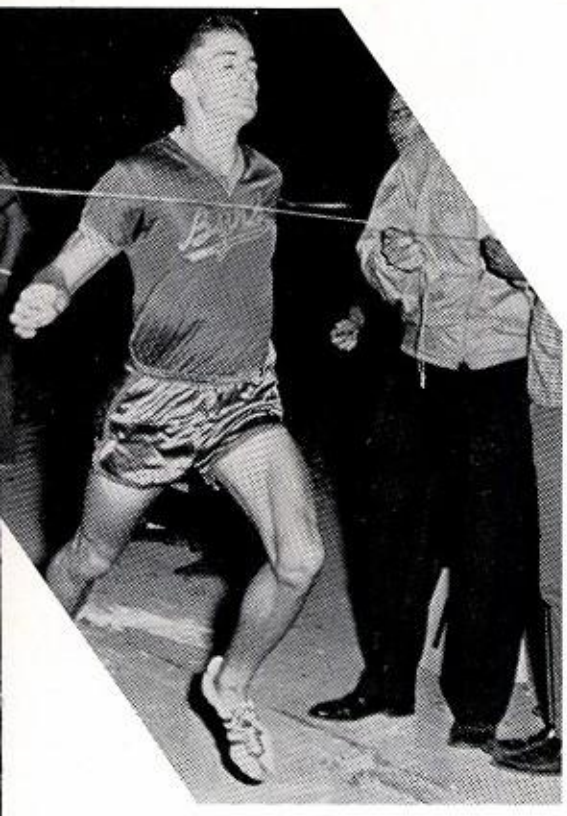
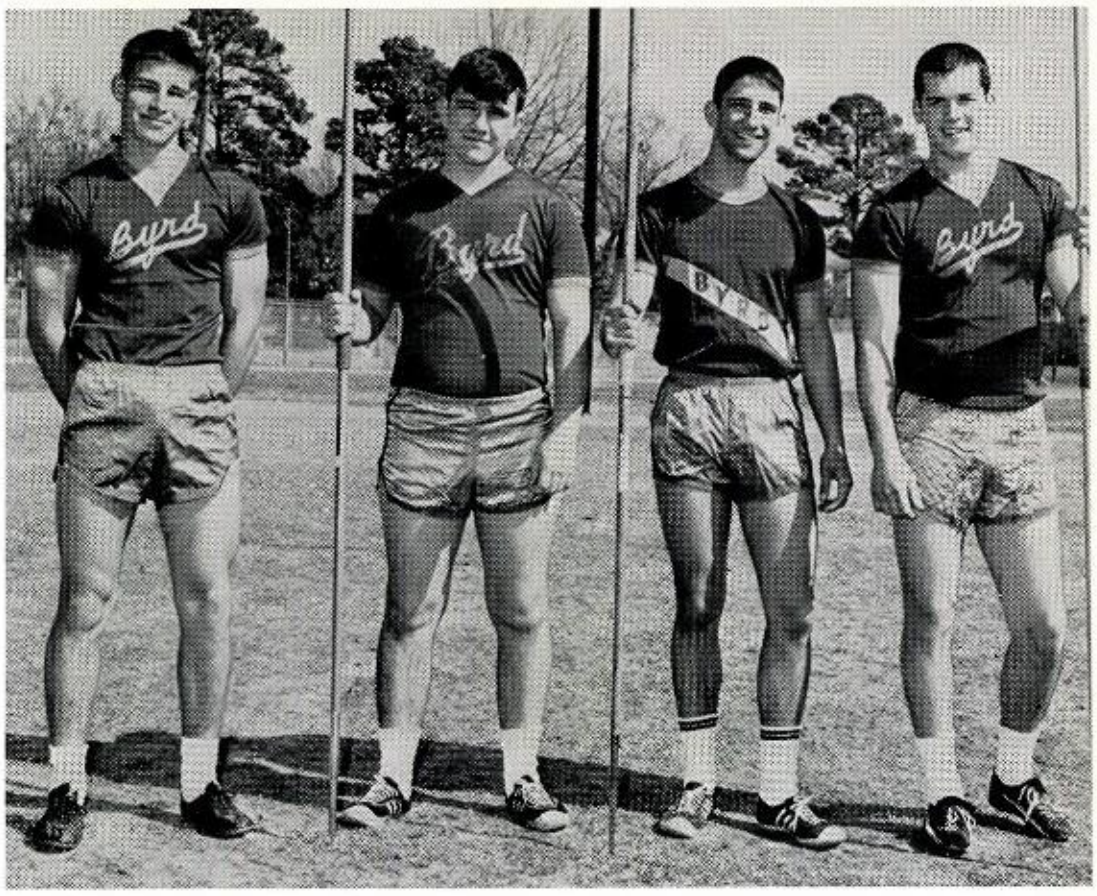
Juniors will take over much of the load this year and this is especially true in the discus throw as there are no senior discus men. Dickie Chandler, James Johnston, and Stewart Blue accept the challenge.

WOODLAWN INVITATIONAL

Steve Shine proved himself to be by far the best sprinter in North Louisiana by setting two new records and coming back to run anchorman on the record breaking 440 and 880 yard relays. Shine sped to a 9.8 second timing in the hundred yard dash and a 21.5 clocking in the 220. These not only set new records, but were also his career bests. Homer Flynn set a new record in taking over the reins of the mile run; Jim MaGee stayed in command of the 880, but Byrd's true strength came from the numerous second and third places. Once again it was a run-away victory as the Jackets' score doubled the efforts of the closest challengers in the race for team honors.



Jim MaGee breaks the tape at the finish of the 880 to bring home another victory.



The junior and senior javelin throwers are Steve Rainey, Buddy Pledger, Robert Purtle, and Laird Evans.

BOSSIER INVITATIONAL

Byrd's domination of track meets continued with an "expected" victory. Many once unheard-of Jackets made themselves well known. Tad Price gave a spectacular performance as the sophomore turned in a 4:37 on the mile for a second place behind Homer Flynn. Nick Rawlinson also had a fine time on the half-mile of 2:00.7 for a close second to Jim Magee. The Bossier track saw the other Byrd regulars turn in their "average" outstanding performances to give the Jackets another victory.

Nine Returning Letterme

INDIAN RELAYS

Jack Pyburn was the headliner of this meet as the big southpaw bettered any discus throw in high school track history with a heave of 173 feet 11 inches and set the stage for another crushing of opposition by the Jacket tracksters. The 440 yard relay team of Bill Gibson, George Fox, Steve Shine, and Roger Powers sped to a 43.7 second record-breaking performance. Shine took two individual first places in the 100 and 220 yard dashes along with first places turned in by MaGee and Flynn in the half-mile and mile, respectively. Frank Kelly in the high jump and Gibson in the hop, step, and jump also were top performers. All these combined gave Byrd one of the best performances of the year as the Jackets took ten of seventeen first places.

Homer Flynn and Tad Price, his ever-present shadow during the mile run, take an early lead over the rest of the field at the Indian Relays. Flynn and Price eventually finished one and two respectively in the mile run.

SOUTHWEST RELAYS

Defending Class AAA State Champions, Byrd kept a spotless record in Lafayette, Louisiana, by dominating the Southwestern Relays. The thinclads from the north invaded McNaspy Stadium and came away with more points than the second and third place team together. Shine, Pyburn, and the three relay teams rose to the tough competition and came home victorious. In winning this Relay, Byrd defeated the best in the Gulf South.

NORTHWESTERN RELAYS

In Natchitoches, where a combination of all classes competed, Byrd once again brought home top honors by defeating runner-up Bolton in the AAA Class by a 94 to 68 count. The mile record fell as Homer Flynn took the four rounds in a career-best of 4:34.5 and was closely followed by Tad Price. The 440 and 880 yard relay teams took second places, and the mile relay took first. Besides taking first and second places in the mile, a first and second combination was taken in the discus by Jack Pyburn and Harold Mays respectively, and a two-way tie for first by Bill Gibson and Melvin Stallcup in the broad jump. The Jackets completed competition with out-of-state schools and concentrated on regaining the AAA State Crown.

CITY MEET

Brisk winds failed to keep Jim MaGee and the mile relay team of Charles Knox, Roger Powers, Nick Rawlinson, and MaGee from record-breaking performances. MaGee set a new record in the 880 yard run and Frank Kelly tied the old mark in the high jump. The Jackets proved their superiority over local thinclads by an easy victory as the city meet set the stage for the more important District Meet.

Future Track Team

DISTRICT MEET

Seven new district marks were set by Byrdmen and twelve individuals qualified for the state meet as the Jackets took a 116 to 60½ point victory over second-place West Monroe. All three relays were taken by the anchor men from Byrd. Wallace Borden, George Fox, Roger Powers, and Steve Shine carried the baton to a new record in the 880 yard relay, while the 440 yard relay team tied the previous district mark. Jack Pyburn set a new discus record, and Harold Mays placed second to qualify for state. Shine broke two records in the 100 and 220 yard runs while teammates Jim MaGee and Homer Flynn set new standards. Concern was shown, however, as the Byrd fieldmen came up with only three qualifying positions for the State Meet. But what wasn't to be had in field events was made up for on the track, with the Jackets qualifying for twelve positions.

STATE MEET

Jim MaGee and Jack Pyburn broke state records to give the Jackets a 58 to 40 point advantage and the State Championship in the Triple-A division. MaGee ran the 880 in the astounding time of 1:55.3, and Pyburn threw the discus 164 feet 10 inches. Homer Flynn also took first and running-mate Tad Price third in the mile run. Shine took first place honors in the 100 yard dash and helped give the 440 relay team a victory. Rounding out the relay team were Jim Ryan, Bill Gibson, and Roger Powers. The Jackets rated at the top of six of seventeen events. This event closed a season in which the Jackets participated in eleven meets and set twenty-seven new records.

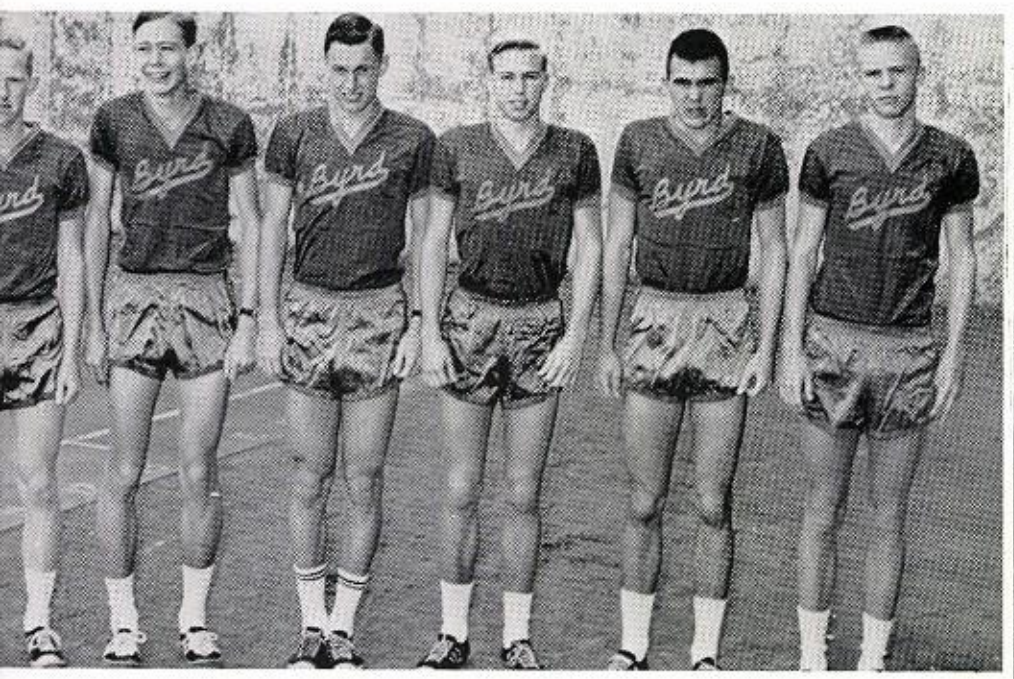
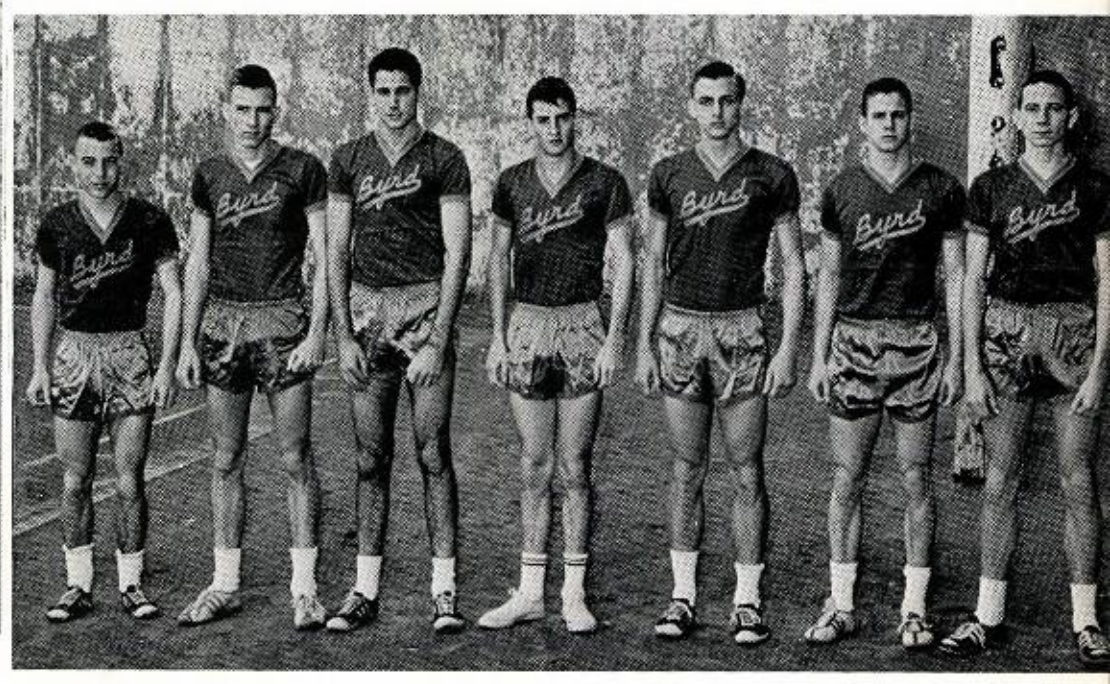
Cross-Country Has Successful Season

Cross-country running, one of the newest sports at Byrd, is enjoying both popularity and success. The team traveled to West Monroe and Natchitoches and competed in a total of four meets. In the four meets they went undefeated and usually took the first five places in all divisions. They compete in three groups—the varsity, second team, and sophomore—with the meets ending before track season is over.

ross-country varsity members are: Roy Smith, Tad Price, Nason Brookings, Rusty edley, David McGuffey, Ran Smith, and Steve Massie.



Second team cross-country members are: John Howell, Walter Kelley, Tom Woltz, Don Wilkins, Mike Roberts, and Ronald East.



Other members of the second team are: Roddy Buell, Raymond Fulgium, Breg Freeman, David Crow, Gary Gentry, Steve Norman, and Richard Lankford.

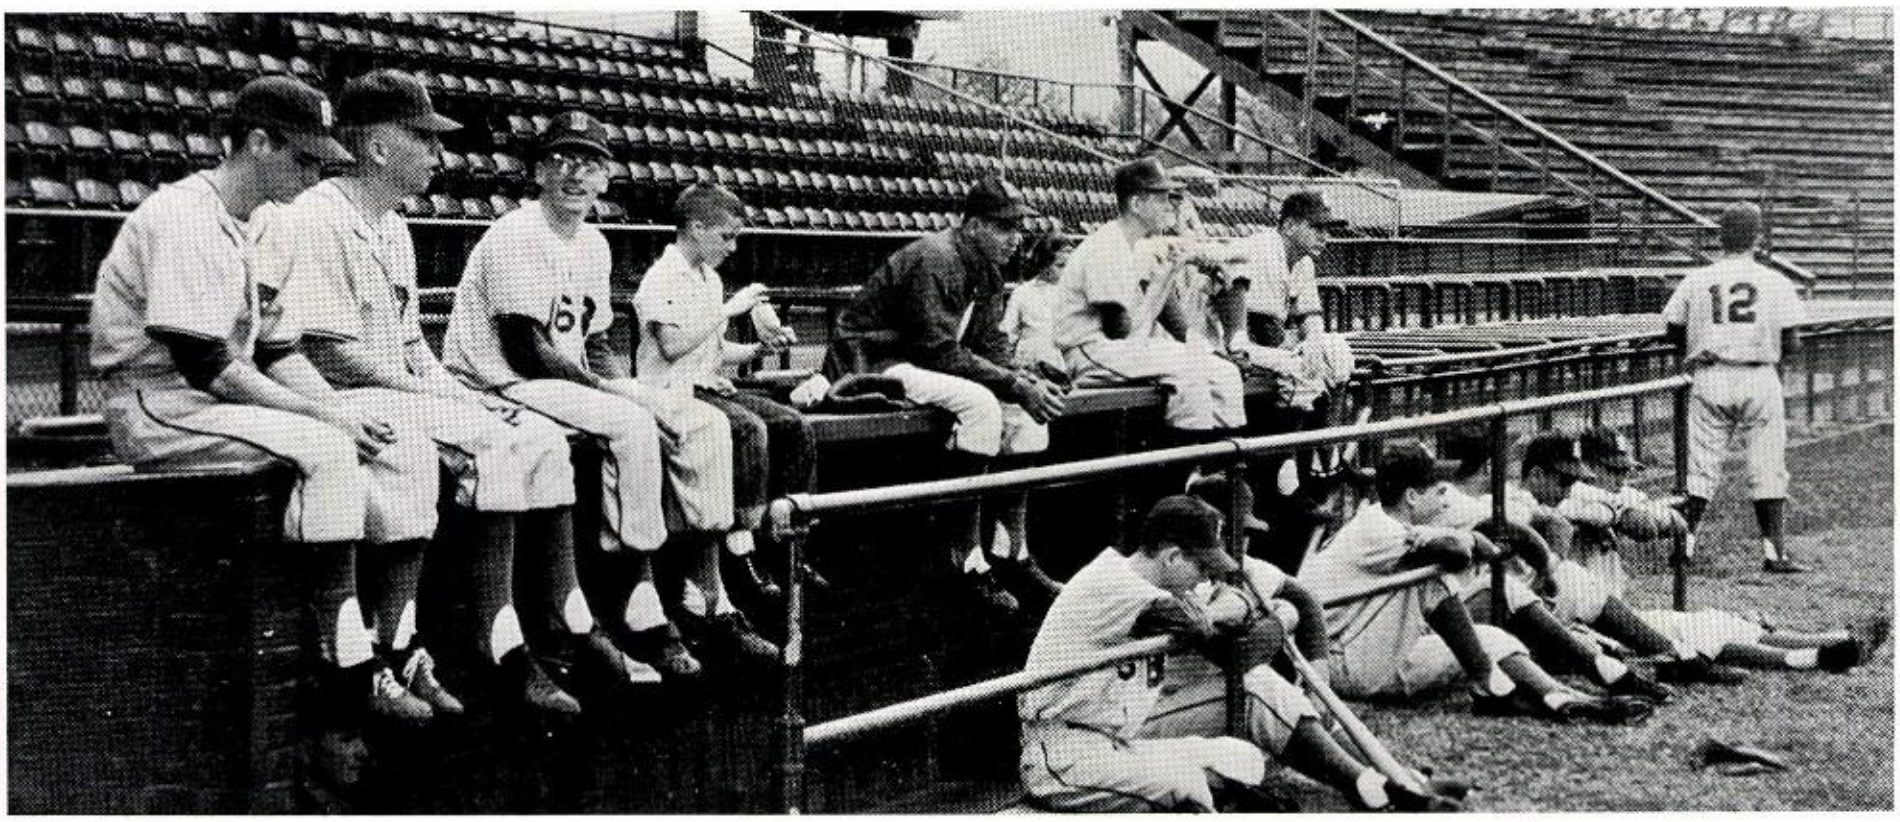
Win Four on the Road

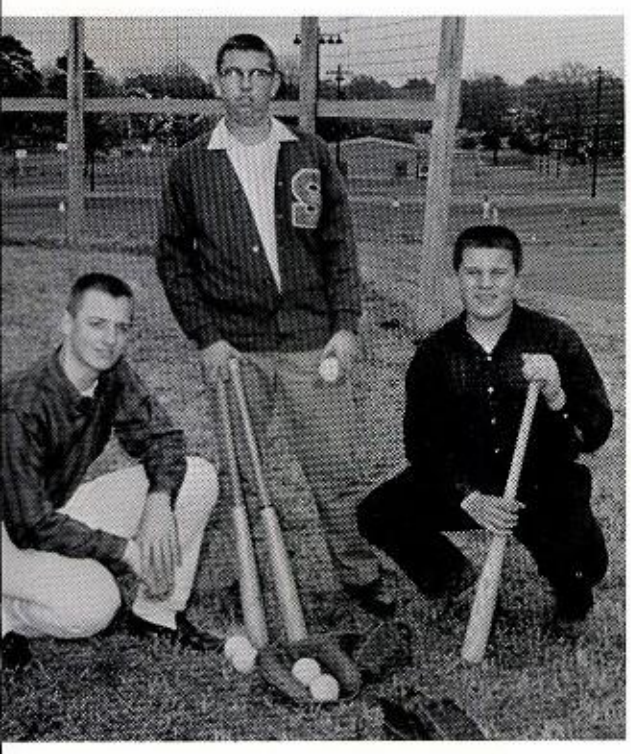


Waiting to hit the field, these Jacket baseballer's rest before the game.

Byrd's Yellow Jacket baseball team for 1963 started off winning the first three ball games, a feat which aided in their confidence. This confidence proved to be very helpful since the Jackets ended the season winning thirteen big games. Coach Lester's basemen also had an excellent record on the road. Traveling to Arcadia, Longview, Opelousas, and Marshall, the Jackets won four out of five of the road games. The team was sparked by several all-city favorites and a host of returning lettermen.

Though Byrd won the majority of its games, the team also suffered several severe setbacks. The largest disappointment of the season came when the Jackets dropped four out of four ballgames to cross-town rival Fair Park. In these games Byrd didn't go down without a terrific fight, but the best pitcher in the state had to topple the mighty Jackets. Bossier City rivals were called to their knees by the Jackets three out of three games; the Jackets defeated them first of all 13-4, then 7-0, and then blanked them 8-5.

Ending a well-rounded season of thirteen wins, nine losses, and no ties, the Jackets strength in infielders promises a fine season in 1964.



anagers this season are Walter Wood, obert Fuller, and Kim Buice.

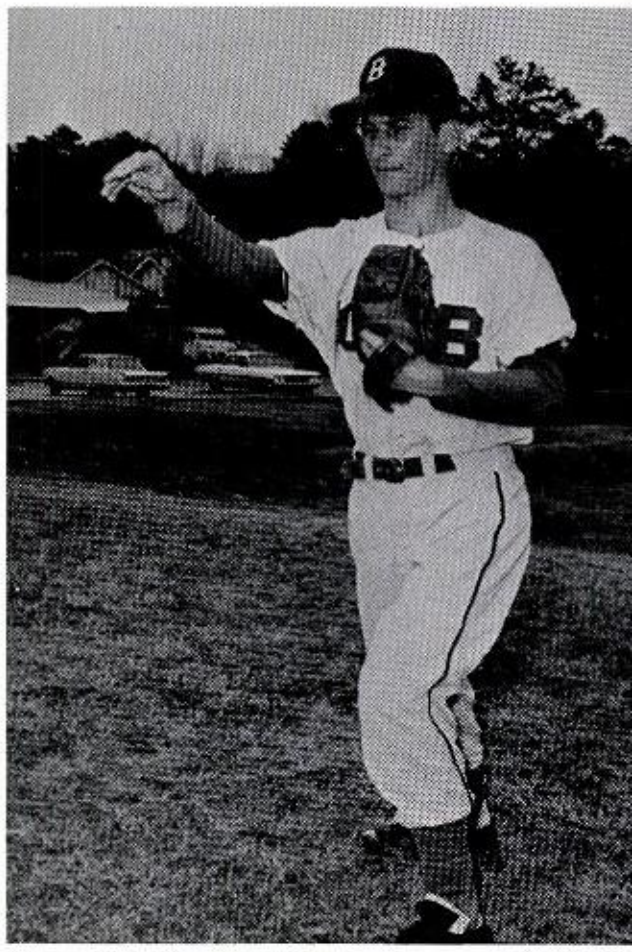
Byrd 4 Arcadia

Byrd opened its 1963 spring season at Spar Stadium by turnin back Arcadia 4-0, on the shutout pitching of Tommy Rutledge Rutledge, called in to rescue starter Mike Gosslee after the latte had walked two Hornets and surrendered a hit in the first inning toiled most of the distance, giving up three hits and whiffing four Big guns for the Jackets were Blocker Thornton, with two hits one a double, and two runs knocked across, and Scoot Brocato with a perfect 3-for-3 day at the plate.

Byrd 9 Arcadia

Byrd baseball coach Nicky Lester used 27 players in Arcadia as the Jackets scored a 9-2 victory over the Arcadia Hornets. I was the second straight win for the Jackets. Pitcher Andy Hamilton opened the fireworks with a grandslam homerun in the second inning. The Jackets added two more in the third and fourth frames and closed out their scoring with one marker in the fifth.



DALE LA VIGNE—Senior
Pitcher

Byrd 4 Longview 3

Byrd exploded for two runs in the sixth inning to nip Longview's Lobos 4-3. It was the third victory in as many starts for the Yellow Jackets. Jerry Hunt's two-run double provided the winning margin for Byrd. Hunt collected three hits in four trips, two of them doubles.

Byrd 2 Woodlawn 5

Woodlawn exploded for three runs in the fifth inning to defeat the Jackets 5-2 in the district opener for both teams. Andy Hamilton, Byrd's starting pitcher, was charged with the setback. Jon Pat Stephenson rapped out a double and a single to lead the winners at the plate, while Scoot Brocato, the Yellow Jackets' free-swinging center fielder, continued his torrid early season pace with a two-for-three performance. He had nine hits in thirteen trips to the plate after this game.

GARY BEEDE—Sophomore

Byrd 3 Longview

At Spar Stadium, right-hander Chuck Beatty and left hander Tomm Albright teamed up to lead Longview's Lobos past Byrd as the visito avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of the Jackets. Longview score three in the third after Byrd had taken a 3-0 advantage in the second. Th Lobos pushed across the decisive markers in the fifth. Jeff Victory wa the losing pitcher, but he only gave up six hits.

Byrd 5 Texarkana

Dale La Vigne backed the Jackets with steady pitching, and they downe Texarkana's Texas High 5-2. He whiffed five and walked none whic helped him in his first win of the season. First runs came when Scoo Brocato led off with a double; he was then sent home when Dave Nettle singled behind him. Sammy Duncan then exploded another double to dee center and Nettles scored easily. Terry Smith then stepped to the plat and chased Duncan home with a single.

LELAND DYKES—Senior Infielder—Letterman I

Byrd 13 Bossier 4

The Jackets powered over the Bossier Bearkats, 13-4. At first Byrd was behind 2-0 but in the top of the third it pushed across eight runs to wipe out the temporary setback. Terry Smith's two-run homer to right center field sparked the onslaught. Andy Hamilton and George Graham coupled to pitch the victory with starter Hamilton earning the win.

Byrd 8 North Caddo 2

Byrd defeated North Caddo for its sixth win in eight outings, 8-2. Tommy Rutledge pitched two-hit ball and allowed no earned runs in collecting the victory. Sammy Duncan and Scoot Brocato were outstanding clutch men in this game. Duncan collected two singles and a triple while Jerry Hunt and Terry Smith had two hits each. Scoot Brocato collected a two-run pinch single in the sixth inning.

CHARLES "SCOOT" BROCATO—Senior Outfielder—Letterman I

Byrd 4 Fair Park 6

Byrd lost its third game and its first to Fair Park, 6-4. Jeff Victory was credited with the loss. Sammy Duncan and Scoot Brocato had two hits apiece as Byrd's record fell to six wins and three losses.

Byrd 3 Opelousas 1

Byrd's Yellow Jackets jumped on the Opelousas Tigers for a 3-1 victory in the first of a weekend twin-bill. Andy Hamilton pitched three-hit ball for the Jackets, who scored all their runs in the sixth inning. Jerry Hunt walked and scored on a two-base error, with Sammy Duncan getting on. Blocker Thornton doubled Duncan across and then Syd Boone poled a triple to send Thornton home.

Byrd 3 Opelousas 1

Righthander Tommy Rutledge notched his fourth victory of the season 3-1 when the Jackets traveled to Opelousas to face the Tigers once again. Rutledge allowed only three hits while fanning ten and walking one. Besides his fine pitching, Rutledge led off an inning with a big triple, in which he scored on an error as Dave Nettles reached base on the same bobble. Third sacker Jerry Hunt then singled Nettles in home before the inning was capped off. Hunt led Byrd's five-hit attack with a single and a double in three trips.

Byrd 9 Texas High 6

Byrd Yellow Jackets staved off a last-minute rally by Texas High to score a 9-6 victory in Texarkana. Byrd then owned a sparkling record of 9 wins and 3 losses. Home runs by winning pitcher Andy Hamilton and Terry Smith were the highlights of Byrd's 11-hit attack as Hamilton, Smith and Hunt collected 2 hits apiece.

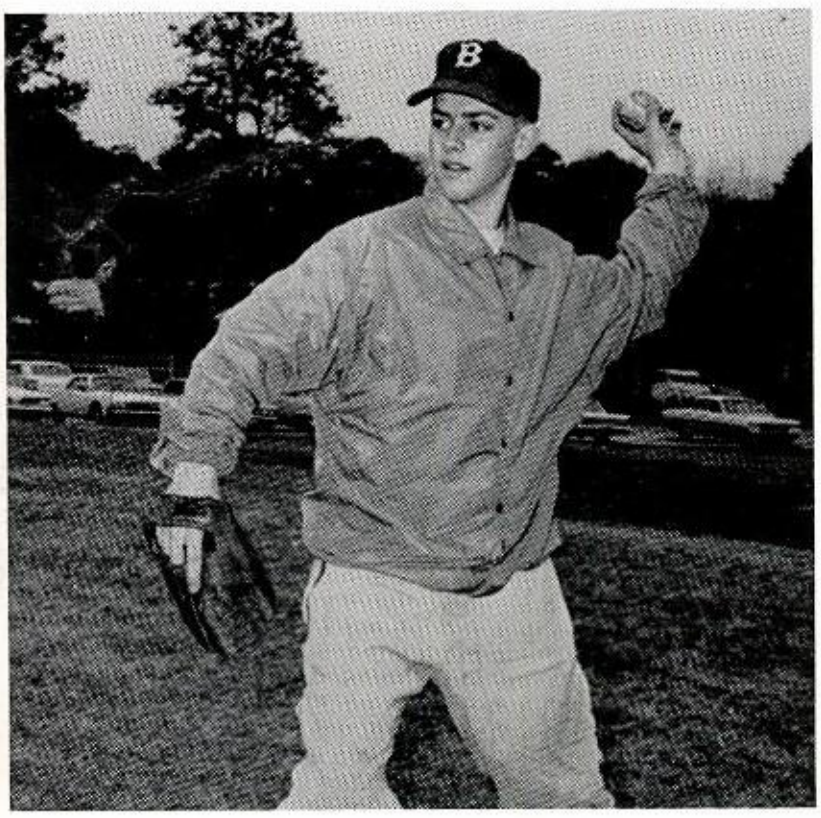
Byrd 7 Bossier 0

Righthander Andy Hamilton pitched a no-hit game against Bossier as the Yellow Jackets tamed the Bearkats 7-0. Hamilton struck out ten and walked four in registering his fifth win in six decisions. It was his first high school no-hitter and the second of the season by a Shreveport prep pitcher. Syd Boone cracked a pair of doubles and drove in four runs to pace the Yellow Jacket attack, and Jerry Hunt collected two hits for the winners. Mac Griffith also slapped a double for the Jackets.

Byrd 6 Marshall 16

Marshall's Mavericks stampeded past Byrd 16-6 as the jinx of April Fool's Day proved disasterous to the Jackets. Terry Smith led all hitters for the day with three, while Syd Boone and Jerry Hunt got two apiece. Tommy Rutledge had a four-game winning streak until this outing.



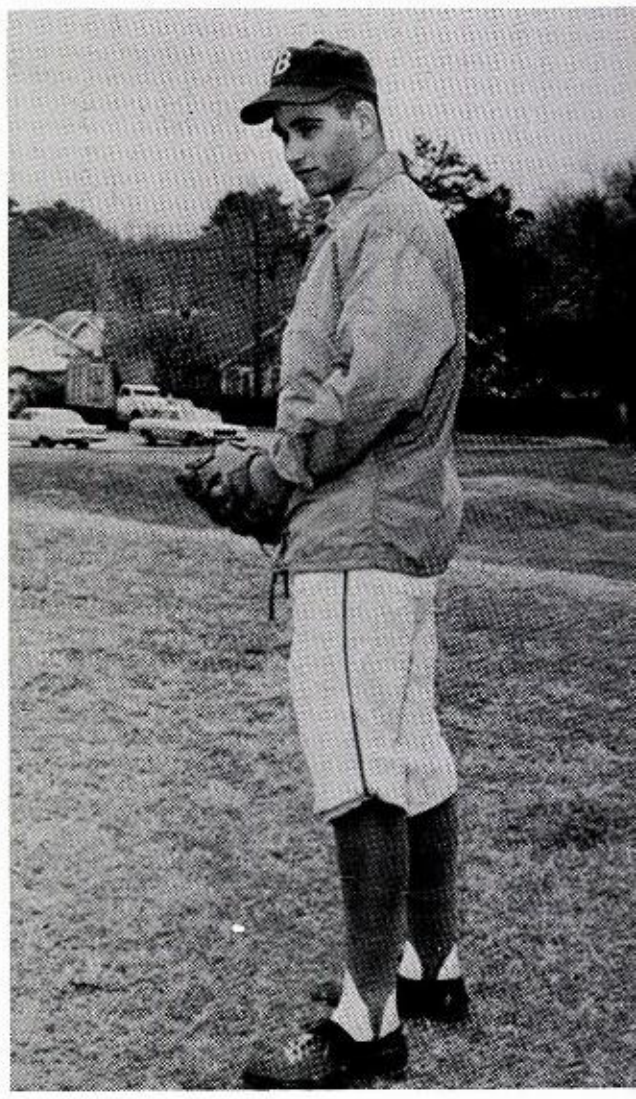
PAUL COURTNEY—Junior
Pitcher

Byrd 0 Woodlawn

Masterful pitching by righthander Edwards Walker of Woodlaw allowed the Byrdmen only one hit in a 9-0 defeat. Dann Atchley drilled a single to right field with one out in the las inning to spoil a perfect game for Walker. Fourteen Jackets wer down swinging in the fourth loss of the season for Byrd.

Byrd 6 North Caddo

The Jackets' George Graham set the North Caddo Rebels dow with only five singles as the Jackets racked up a 6-1 victory Graham picked up his second win of the season against no de feats. He walked three and fanned five in the victory over th Rebels. The Jackets scored one run in the second, four in the third and added one in the seventh. Shortstop Sydney Boone and thir baseman Jerry Hunt led Byrd's nine-hit attack with two hits apiece Second sacker Terry Smith plated two runs for the Jackets i the third.



TOMMY RUTLEDGE—Senior
Pitcher—Letterman I

Byrd 1 Fair Park

The Byrd nine fell to the strong right arm of James Rushworth a 4-1 defeat at the hands of Fair Park as fourteen Jackets went dow swinging. Byrd took an early lead of 1-0 from a sacrifice fly by Ter Smith, preceded by a bobble by Rushworth, scoring Jerry Hunt. And Hamilton went all the way for the Jackets, suffering his second defea He allowed only six hits and fanned five. Mac Griffith had two-fo three with the stick. These were two of only three hits for Byrd, an both of them were doubles.

Win Thirteen in '63

Byrd 3 Marshall 2

George Graham pitched Byrd by the Marshall Mavericks 3-2 n an afternoon game. George allowed only six hits as the Jackets venged a previous 16-6 loss to Marshall. Byrd at this time held fine 12 and 6 record. Second sacker Terry Smith led the acket's five hit attack with two singles in two trips. Sammy Dun-an smashed a single to run his hitting streak to seven consecu-ve games.

yrd 0 Woodlawn 1

Jimmy Edwards slapped a shattering nine-inning home run hich ended a pitching duel between Byrd and Woodlawn. The ome run for the Knights came with two out in the second extra nning. The winning hurler was Ronnie Olague, and the losing itcher was Jeff Victory. Until the ninth the Knights were not llowed to reach third base. Terry Smith got to third on a couple f errors in the seventh, but the next three were put down with-ut any chance of Smith scoring. Smith grabbed the only two its of the day for Byrd.

JOHN BECKETT—Senior Outfielder

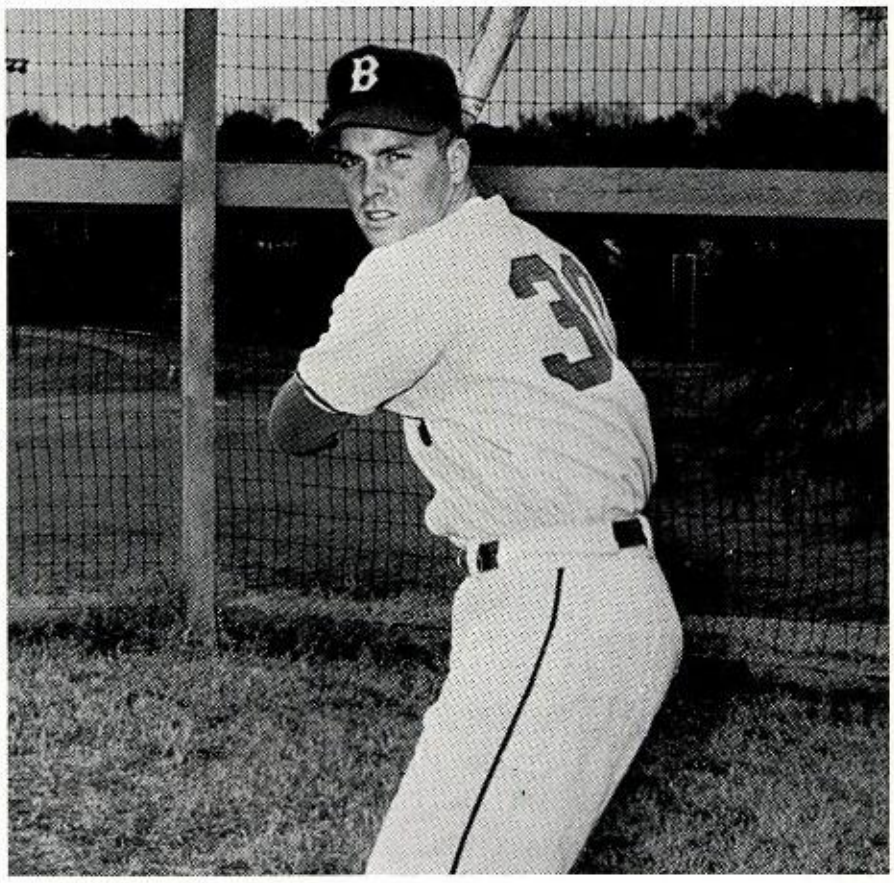
yrd 0 Fair Park 7

Fighting all the way, the Byrdmen were blanked again by the ndians in the Bossier tourney. Byrd was dropped, 7-0, by Fair Park's itcher Bell. The Jackets were able to gather in five hits in twenty-ve at-bats. Superb hitting was turned in by Dave Nettles who went 2 r 3 for the day. Blocker Thornton, Scoot Brocato, and Jeff Victory so turned in one hit apiece.



MAC GRIFFITH—Senior
Catcher—Letterman II

Byrd 8 Bossier 5

Jumping out to a three run lead in the first inning, the Yellow Jackets came up with a five run fifth inning. Bossier made a fine bid but the Byrd nine survived 8-5. Big plays came with Terry Smith's second hit, which drove in his third and fourth RBIs, and the merciless pitching of Jeff Victory. Jeff salted away the victory with the help of George Graham in the sixth. Together they allowed one earned run. This was Victory's first win pulling to a 3-5 district record and a 13-7 overall count.

Byrd 1 Fair Park 15

Byrd's Jackets were toppled, after a fine showing against Bossier by Fair Park, 15-1. The expert pitching by Fair Park's Tommy Chiles allowed only two hits against the powerful Jacket line-up. This was the third jinx in a row for Byrd against Fair Park. The two hits were gathered in by Blocker Thornton and Andy Hamilton. Thornton's hit was a triple to rightfield, and Hamilton pulled in a single. The Jacket's run came when Thorn tripled and two more were hit by Chiles. Byrd could get only one unearned run, though, off a Fair Park error.

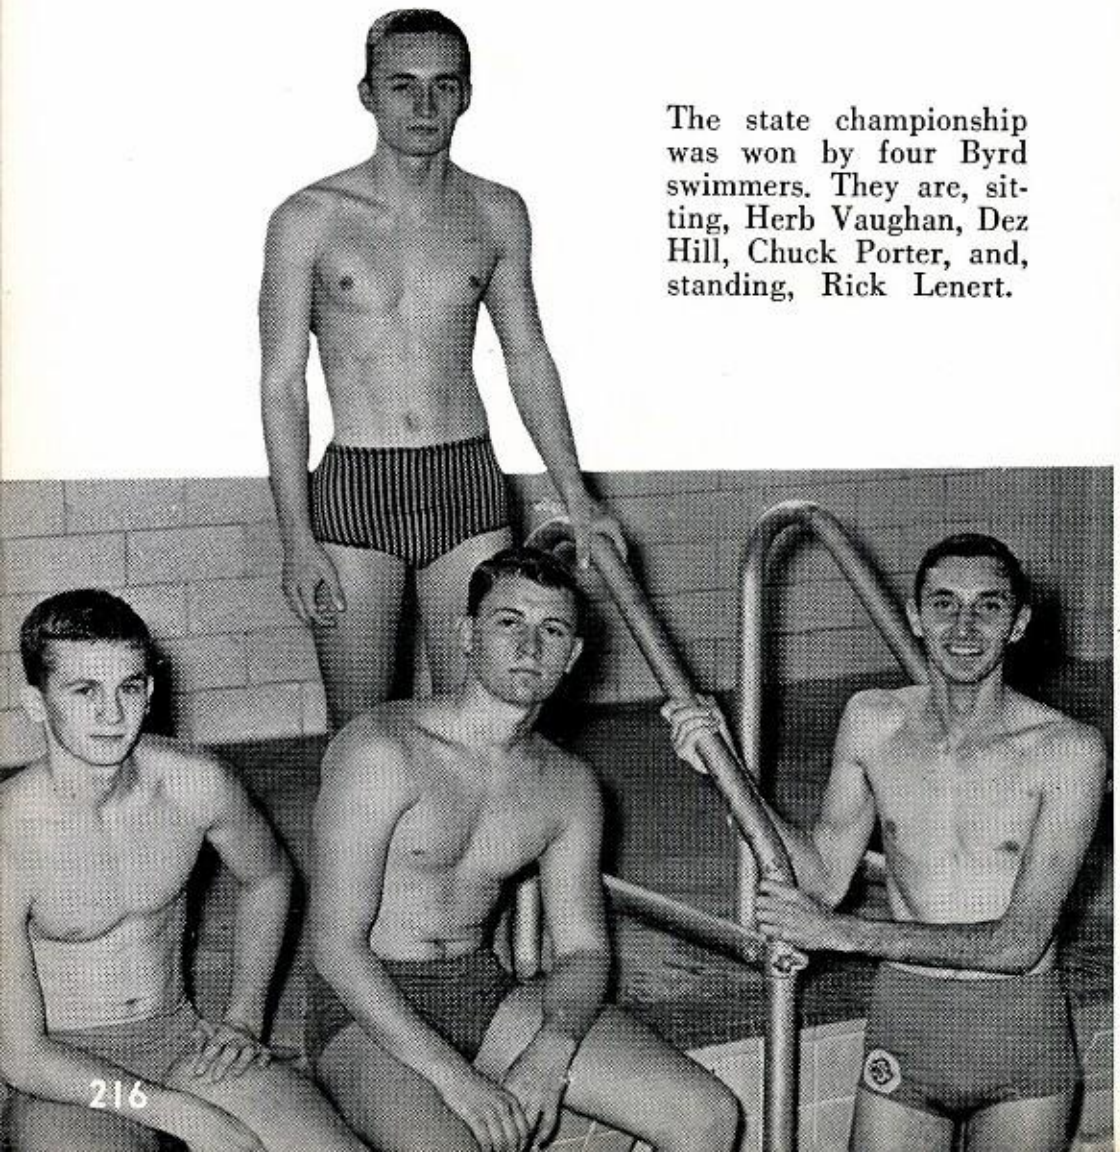
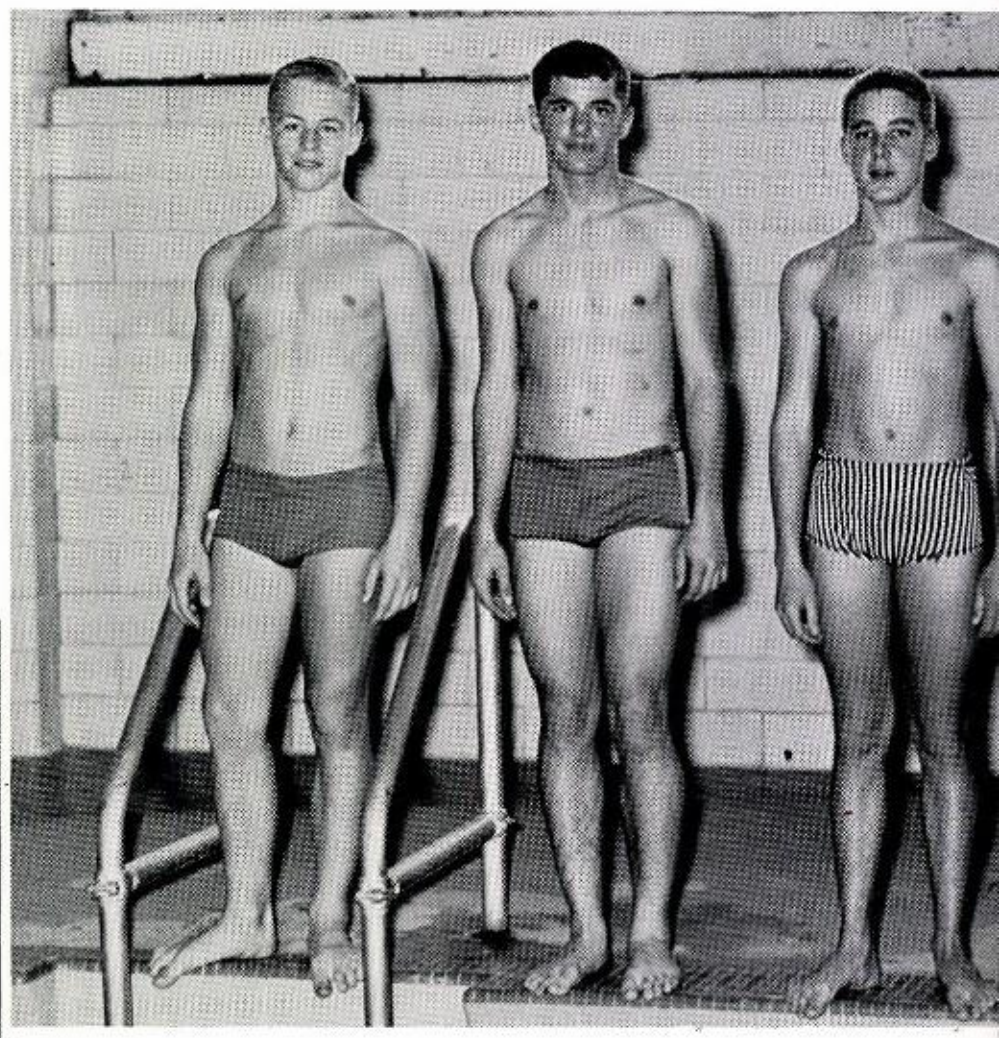
Charlie Minder, sophomore, holds a national record in the 200 yard butterfly. His time was 2:17.

Once again the state swimming meet was held at the L.S.U. po in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The boys' team, after a two year laps easily regained the State Championship and the "Jackettes" lost the title due to a lack of points in the diving events.

The Yellow Jackets boasted several outstanding swimmers wh won a total of five first place honors. Clint Miller was one of th few swimmers at the meet to capture two first place medal winning gold medal honors for the team in the 50 and 100 mete freestyle. Dez Hill and Rick Lenert, two Byrd standouts, won firs in the 100 meter butterfly and the 100 meter breastroke respectively Herb Vaughan and Chuck Porter joined Dez and Clint in th freestyle relay to place first.



The state championship was won by four Byrd swimmers. They are, sitting, Herb Vaughan, Dez Hill, Chuck Porter, and, standing, Rick Lenert.



The sophomore boys on this year's team are Steve Lenert, Steve Whited, and Fleck Thorne-Thomsen.

The 1964 Byrd Swimming Team began practice in February.

Defending State Champs

The medley relay team, consisting of Vaughan, Lenert, Hill, and Miller, placed second.

The "Jackettes," competing against nationally recognized swimmers, earned three second place honors and two third place medals. Byrd's most outstanding swimmer was Barbara Kendrick, who placed second in both the 200 meter freestyle and the 200 meter breast stroke. Other members of the "Jackettes" were Sandy Deputy, Claudette Wright, and Sherri Parker. The Jackette freestyle relay team placed third and the medley relay team placed fourth.

This year the Jackets have depth in their sophomores, especially in Charlie Minder, who holds a national record in the 200 yard butterfly. Besides Minder, Byrd also has some other fine sophomore support, and with the return of four members of the state championship team, has strength for a state championship repeat.

Another sophomore on the team is Mike Bufkin.

Jackets Show Grea

The men responsible for the outstanding performance of the Jackets are: Coach John Rogers, Coach Larry Kahlden, Coach James Patterson, Coach Nickie Lester, Coach Woodrow Turner, and Head Coach J. D. Cox.

Easily the 1963 football season can be said to have been a highlight in all-time Byrd High Football. Although the Jackets were not able to win any district title or go into the state playoff, the team did show to many thousands of fans how the game of football is played with all one's heart.

At the beginning of the season, the Byrdmen were not even picked to be among the top ten teams in the state. In some of the pre-season scrimmages and games, the Line he 1962 returning lettermen were: First row: Mac Griffith, Laird Evans, ichard Carruth, Mike Garrison. Second row: David Porter, Sandy Dean, teve Hidalgo, Danny Atchley.

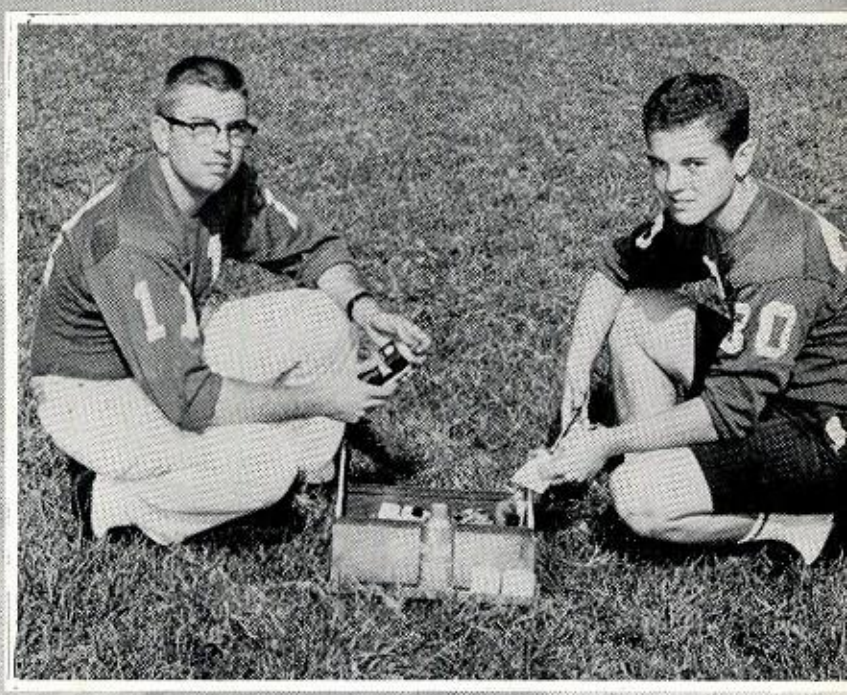
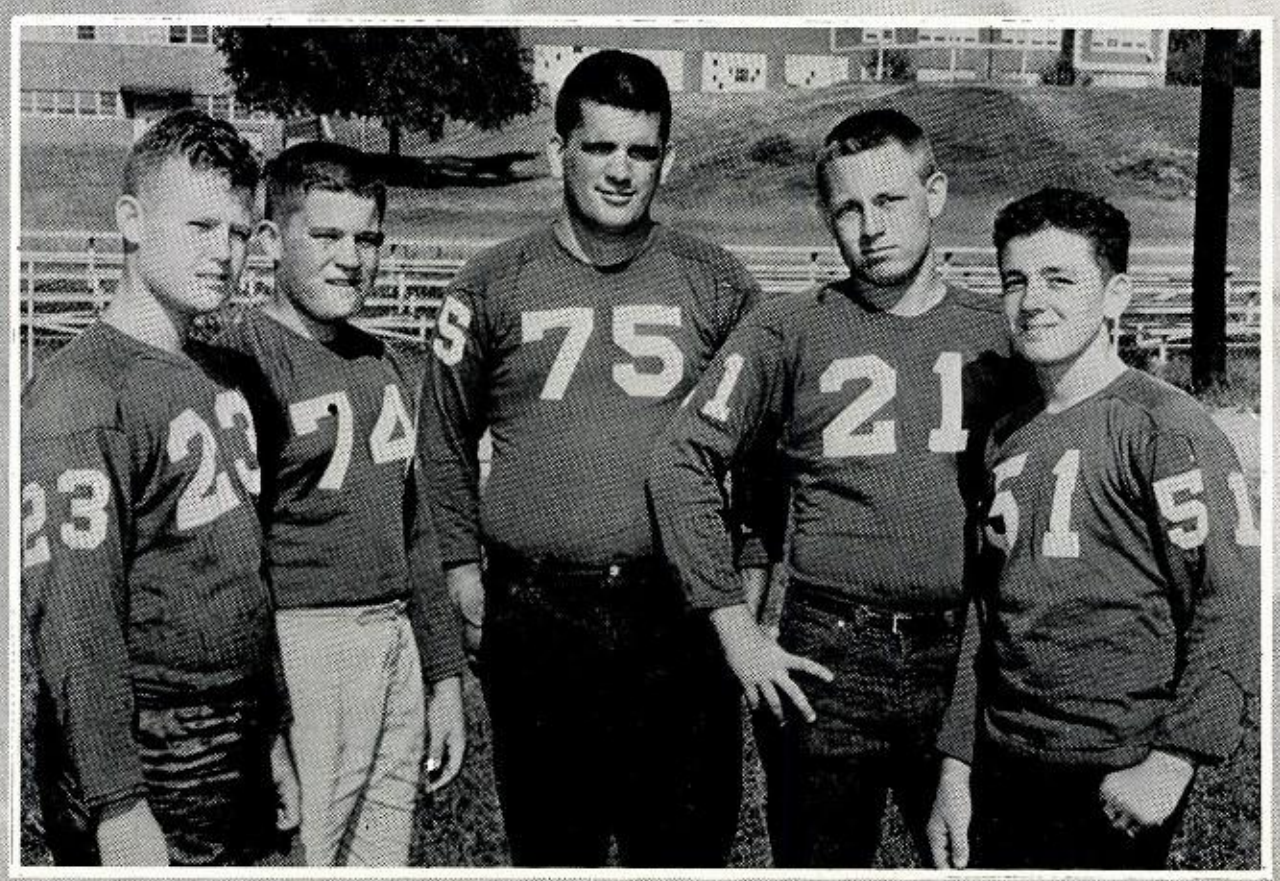
In his three years as head-coach at Byrd, Coach Cox holds a record of 38 wins and 8 losses on the playing field and he has never lost a district game at the Fair Grounds Stadium.

Determination

Avenue players did not show all of the ability that was later displayed. After paying the price to learn how to work as a team at the Sulphur game, the players discovered what it means to play "Yellow Jacket" football. Their true ability was displayed by defeating their intercity rivals, the Ray High School Cowboys of Corpus Christi, Texas, and other strong teams in Louisiana, while losing only to Sulphur and Bastrop.



Trainers Robert Fuller and Pete Bratlie had their hands full keeping the Jacketmen in top condition.



Keeping the equipment in fine shape were managers Randy Brazzel, Kem Buice, Charlie Haygood, Hugh Walmsley, and Mike McGee.

Jacket Tear

BYRD 7 SULPHUR 21

Starting their season slowly, the Jackets fell to the Sulphur Tors. Capitalizing on some early mistakes, the Tors gained a lead of two touchdowns in the first quarter. The Jackets then came back in the second quarter with its only successful drive, closing the gap to 14-7. Junior fullback, Roby Odom was the big man in the drive that accounted for 85 yards in 14 plays. David Porter also showed some good running to aid the Jacket cause. The score came when quarterback Gene Hunt rolled around right end on an option play that accounted for the remaining 10 yards. Don Duran's boot for the extra point proved true and revived Jacket hopes. Byrd's only other "almost" came in the last stages of the game when they drove to the Sulphur 22, but a 4th down pass was broken up to end that threat.

BYRD 27 NORTH CADDO 12

Behind the power-packed drives of fullback Roby Odo Byrd wrapped up its first win of the season over t North Caddo Rebels. Senior halfback David Port started the Jacket scoring with a 15-yard sprint off tackl The Rebels came back and blocked a Byrd punt on t Byrd 18, and one aerial tied the game 6-all. More troub came minutes later when the Jackets bogged down o their own 18 and another punt went bad. The Rebe once again went to the air, but senior halfback Sand Dean intercepted for the Jackets. After Dean returne the ball to the 18, several short plays put it on the 4 where Odom took the ball around left end and set sa down the side line stripe. Near the Reb 35 senior tack Ray Roush freed him with a key block on a fast-closin defender, and Odom loped over. The Rebels scored onc more in the second quarter, and Jackets Gene Hunt an David Porter each accounted for a touchdown before th final gun.

BYRD 21 JESUIT 0

Despite the fired up first half effort of the Jesuit Blue lyers, the Yellow Jackets came through again with an mpressive 21-0 win. Taking the ball on the opening ick-off, Jesuit moved to the Byrd 20 where a field goal ttempt was short. After two line plunges halfback Sandy ean, on a counter around left end, outran his opponents r a 76 yard score. The long jaunt helped give Dean e game rushing honors with 108 yards. Fullback Roby dom added another 6 points late in the 3rd quarter with one yard play ending a 13 play drive. The final score ame for the Jackets in the 4th quarter when David orter ended a Jesuit drive with one of four Jacket terceptions. Porter then climaxed an 8 play drive with six yard run around end. Two of the game's conversions ere credited to Don Duran and one to Porter. Defen-vely Byrd did well the second half with standouts ichard Carruth and Laird Evans continually harassing e Flyer backs.

BYRD 19 WEST MONROE 13

Considered by Coach Cox to be the best defensive effort and also an all-out team effort, the Jackets succeeded in stopping a final drive and won over West Monroe. Byrd scored first after recovering a fumble on the Rebel 32 in the opening period. Quarterback Gene Hunt rolled around right end from the 10 to finish a 10 play drive, and the extra point was completed by Don Duran. After a touchdown by West Monroe, the Byrdmen drove 70 yards for their second touchdown, sending fullback Roby Odom over from the four for the second quarter TD. Hunt fired 14 yards to Mac Griffith for the final Byrd touchdown after Richard Carruth set up the score by intercepting a Rebel pass. The Jackets seemed headed for another touchdown in the third period when a fumble was picked up and carried 94 yards downfield for a surprise six-pointer. Playing well in the game were center Ron Parnell and tackles Danny Atchley and Bob Fitzgerald.

BYRD 7 BOSSIER 0

A wilting "body attack" and one quick overhead right hand pushed Byrd to a 7-0 prep football decision over Bossier in a battle of District 1-AAA "heavyweights." Roby Odom, the 200 pound junior battering ram, crashed over from the one in the third period for the only touchdown of the tight contest. Odom pelted the Bossier midsection for 110 yards in 26 carries as the Jackets rolled up a 165-133 edge on the ground. It was the 31 yard pass from righthander Gene Hunt to end Mac Griffith that kept the Jackets rolling when things looked dark. The aerial, one of two completed for the Purple and Gold, may have been the key to the contest. The Jackets dominated play in the third quarter by allowing Bossier only four plays in the canto. The Kats managed only 14 plays in the whole second half, compared to 41 for the victorious Jackets. Byrd boasted a fine defensive effort led by end Mike Garrison and linebacker Steve Hidalgo.

BYRD 19 BOLTON 14

A first half scoring thrust and a second half defensi stand sums up Byrd's third win of the season over th Bolton Bears. Roby Odom gave Byrd their first TD a five yard run in the first quarter. Don Duran the kicked his only PAT for the night. Odom's run was s up by a 36 yard pass to end Mac Griffith. Griffi showed a strong second effort to account for the lon gainer. Bolton bounced back quickly to score a TD an PAT to tie things up 7-7. Halfback Sandy Dean the came through with a 46 yard score to put the Jackets ou front again. Byrd's last score came in the second quarte on a 56 yard drive, climaxed by a bone-jolting 34 yar run by junior back Jogger Johnson. The Bears too advantage of a Byrd fumble on the second half kicko that led to a TD five plays later. Defensive lineme were the victors from then on with picturesque plays b Al Childs, Mike Garrison, and Ray Roush containing th Bolton offense.

BYRD 14 WOODLAWN 7

A relentless second half surge and a bone-rattling fense were determining factors in the Jackets 14-7 strict 1-AAA victory over the powerful Woodlawn ights. The Knights got an early start when a crashing eman picked up a fumble in the Jacket backfield and 1 37 yards for the score. The conversion was good, king the score 7-0 in Woodlawn's favor with the game y six minutes underway. Just minutes later halfback ndy Dean put the Jackets back in the game when he ked off a Knight pass and sprinted 40 yards to score. e conversion by Ray Roush made the score 7 up with e still left in the first quarter. The Byrdmen's other re was set up in the 4th quarter when Dean, refusing oe brought down, twisted and turned down to the seven. gger Johnson then slashed his way to the three, and by Odom powered his way over for the score. Odom the rushing with 62 yards, while Mike Garrison, David ter, Dickie McElhatten, and Larry Bays led the Jacket ense.

BYRD 13 RAY 6

Traveling all the way to Corpus Christi, Texas, the Jackets came from behind to grab their seventh consecutive victory at the expense of the Ray Cowboys. In the muddy Buccaneer Stadium the Cowboys scored on a drive after traveling 57 yards down the field in 13 plays. Byrd started in the second quarter as Ray Roush picked up a Texan fumble at the Ray 25, and after losing four yards on the first play, the Yellow Jackets struck for the score. Quarterback Gene Hunt rolled out to his right, suckered the Ray secondary into protecting against a run, and threw to Mac Griffith, who was all alone at the 15. Griffith went across from there. Richard Carruth punted spectacularly, sending two kicks to the Ray 6 and 11 yard lines and keeping Ray in trouble. Byrd added insurance in the final quarter when David Porter, aided by a fine block by John Knost, broke free up the middle 66 yards for the final touchdown.

On the first play from scrimmage; the Jacket team scored against the Ouachita Lions after recovering a fumble on the visitors 13 yard line. Demonstrating their ability before a Homecoming crowd, the Byrd High squad completely dominated the first half of playing, winding up with a score of 28-0. The Lions came back fired-up for the second half, but their efforts were all in vain. Jogger Johnson, David Porter and Sandy Dean were the leading ground gainers for the Jackets with Johnson topping the department with 97 yards, one yard ahead of Porter. Touchdowns were scored by Porter, Johnson, and Roby Odom, and Ray Roush converted each of the extra points successfully. Linemen Bill Ward, Steve Hidalgo, and Mike Vollmer were standouts who contributed generously to the Jacket cause.

To win in anything one must pay the price—this is a principle that stands up in every phase of life. The C. E. Byrd football team definitely paid the price. Only one who has played high school football could know the hot August afternoon, parched thirsty throats, "bull-in-the-ring," and wind sprints are not even a downpayment on the purchase of victory.

On Tuesday, November 5th, the news reached Byrd that due to an ineligible player, a ruling had been made that we were to forfeit all games won thusfar. A special assembly was called to announce the decision directly to the student body. A dark shadow overcame all the citizens of Byrd, for it was difficult to believe what had happened. As we began to pick ourselves up, an attempt was made to have the ruling repealed, but again we were overruled. Officially 1-0 stands as the score for all those games we had won, but no passing of judgment or ruling could ever change the performance of the Jacket team on the gridiron nor could it ever change the spirit of Byrd football.

Leading in total yards rushing and total first downs, the Jackets dropped a close one to the Bastrop Rams. The first half found the ball moving back and forth on the gridiron, but no score was recorded during the first semester of play.

The fired-up Rams made the first score in the second half, 4:20 deep in the third quarter. Byrd came back quickly with one of its own, climaxing a 16 play drive with a quarterback sneak by Gene Hunt. The last Byrd score came in the fourth period, the drive traveling 34 yards with Hunt keeping through the center for the final 6 yards. David Porter was the leading ground gainer for Byrd with 80 yards, and Richard McElhatten, Tommy Howard, and Larry Bays were standouts for the Jacket defensive squad. The only extra point for the Yellow Jackets during the contest came after the second score at the toe of Junior guard Don Duran.

In the season's finale the Yellow Jackets ground out an impressive victory over Fair Park, even though the Indians had gone ahead on a first quarter field goal. "It was an all-out team effort," said Head Coach J. D. Cox, that enabled the fighting Byrd eleven to bounce back in the second quarter for the go-ahead score, and then add a tough, unyielding defense and a bruising ground attack to put three more touchdowns on the scoreboard. Seniors Sandy Dean and David Porter and juniors Jogger Johnson and Roby Odom accounted for the scores on two short power bursts in the second period and one in each of the last two quarters. Larry Bays, Steve Hidalgo, Dickie Chandler, and Tommy Rutledge led the defense which held the Indians to 24 yards on the ground. Tommy Howard and Mike Garrison teamed to slap down and recover a second-period Fair Park pitchout which set up the Jackets' second score. Opening holes in the Indian defense, Ronnie Parnell and Danny Atchley displayed terrific blocking as seventeen seniors played their last game in a Jacket uniform.

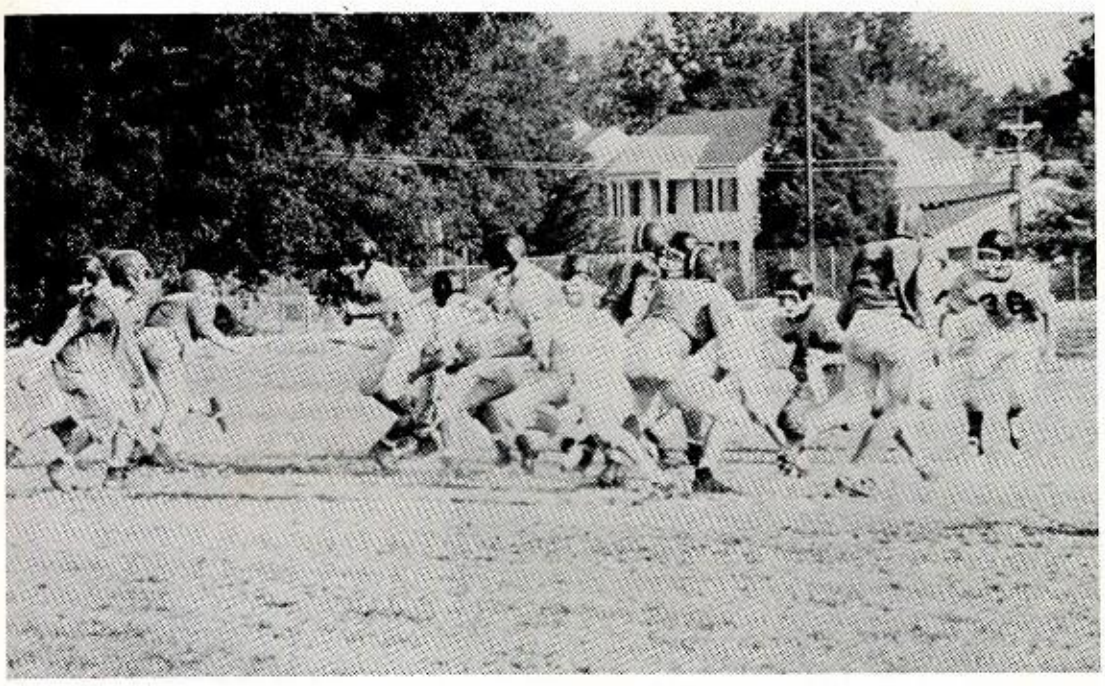
Some say experience is the best teacher, and the Byrd "Bees" got their share which prepared them for future varsity play. Led by a host of Juniors, the "B" squad posted a 4-5-1 record. The junior varsity team, which consists of several Juniors and many aggressive sophomores, highlighted their season with a victory over Cotton Valley's varsity team at their own Homecoming. Junior standouts for the Bees were Bill Erwin, Ronald Pickens, John Cooke, and George Greer.

The sophomore team, made up of sophomores only, had a 4-3 record, scoring wins against Woodlawn, Fair Park, and Bolton. Jim Byrd, Sam Frazier, and Wesley Glassell were outstanding for the sophomore team.



Through active participation in the "B" games, underclassmen gain the experience that makes them successful Jackets in the future.

Jacket Cagers Reach

Byrd's Yellow Jackets finished the 1963-64 season with an overall record of twenty-seven victories and six losses; the district mark was 11-3. Coach John Rogers, taking over the head coaching job for the first time, led the squad to a highly successful year. The team started the season with four returning lettermen, but the quartet failed to play together for any length of time due to injuries during the year. The Jackets participated in four tournaments, winning first place trophies in two and second place in another. They won the Byrd Invitational Tournament for the second straight year. The Jackets were always strongly supported by the Pep Squad and the student body. Capacity crowds gathered for Byrd's most important games to give the team support and spirit. Continuing their reign over the Bossier Bearcats, the Jackets beat them three out of four games this season. However, their record of wins and losses with Fair Park was somewhat lowered as they won only two out of five outings, making the record 30 wins and 5 losses. The climax to the season was the basketball banquet at which the team was honored with a guest speaker, and the letters and special awards were presented.

Byrd 90 Benton 61

Opening their season with a victory, the defending champions of District 1-AAA bombed their Benton opponents 90 to 61 as the Jackets displayed near-perfect form throughout the entire four periods of action. Leading the Yellow Jackets to success was returning letterman Terry Smith who hit for 22 points. Seniors Bob Thompson and George Graham also contributed heavily to the Jacket tally. Fifteen Jackets saw action under their new coach John Rogers with nine of them making points. The Jackets meshed on 39 of 70 field goal attempts for a fine 55.7% shooting percentage.

Byrd 70 Bossier 48

Led by Bob Thompson and Terry Smith, the Jackets won their second battle as they swept by the Bossier Bearcats during the Jesuit Invitational Tournament. Thompson and Smith shared honors with 23 and 21 points respectively. George Graham, Jimmy Madison, and Ken Voight helped matters with 8, 6, and 2 points. The next game of the tournament was against the Jesuit Flyers in a championship match.

Meeting the Flyers for the second time, the Jackets rolled to another victory on their own homestead. Terry Smith and Bob Thompson led the Jackets as they chipped in 23 and 16 points respectively. Also high in points was Jim Madison with 10. It was a hard, fast game, but the Jackets demonstrated a great team effort to come away the victors. Perhaps a key to the Byrd win was junior Rod McGuire's outstanding rebounding as he swiped 19 valuable caroms. A slim 10 point lead was held at halftime, but it was increased to 17 by the final period. This was the Jackets' fifth victory.

Byrd 47 LaGrange 34

Hosting the LaGrange Gators on their home court, the Byrd Jackets had to demonstrate their Byrd High desire to come out on top. The Gators from the south were the toughest foes that the Jackets had yet to face in the fresh season. The play was neck-and-neck for the first half action, and the Byrdmen retired with a narrow five point lead, 22 to 17. George Graham played the crucial role in the winning cause as he hit eight of sixteen field goal attempts and led his team to a more sturdy performance in the second half. Terry Smith and Bob Thompson showed fine form as they fired for 12 and 9 points respectively. Pat Temple, in his first action of the year, hit for 7 points.

Byrd 56 North Caddo 53

Surprised by the might of the North Caddo Rebels, the Jackets escaped with a slim three point margin at the close of four hard-fought periods. Aiding the Byrdmen in their seventh straight win was senior Bob Thompson who hit for 15 of the Jacket tally. The Jackets could not pull ahead during the first half, but managed to tie it up midway in the third quarter, 46 to 46, when Thompson hit a jump shot. The lead was maintained through the final stanza, with George Graham, Rod McGuire, and Terry Smith adding 11, 10, and 10 points each, as well as playing well defensively.

Byrd 81 Woodlawn 59

Five Byrd Jackets hit for scores in the double figures as they trounced the Woodlawn Knights in a District 1-AAA cage battle. Terry Smith, George Graham, Bob Thompson, Rod McGuire, Jimmy Madison, and Bill Wray fired for 18, 14, 13, 13, 11, and 7 points to whip the distressed opponents. The Jackets went to a 20 to 10 first quarter margin and spurted to 44 to 22 by halftime. The second half was the same with the Jackets staying about 20 points ahead. Byrd 66 Mansfield 43

Byrd's Jackets set a pace too fast for the Mansfield "five," polishing them off in an almost too easy victory during the semifinals of the Woodlawn Tournament. The Jackets blasted their opponents from the first period through the last as senior Bob Thompson set Byrd's pace with 22 points. Terry Smith and Rod McGuire aided with 9 and 8 points, respectively. This was Byrd's eleventh win in as many outings.

Byrd 65 Fair Park 67

Defeat was a difficult pill to take for the Jackets in their first meeting with arch-rival Fair Park during the championship game of the Woodlawn Tournament. The battle was a hard one all the way as the lead changed hands 17 times and the game was tied 12 times, with the Jackets faltering only in the final seconds of play. Senior Bob Thompson represented Byrd in the losing cause with 20 points, followed by Terry Smith with 14. The Jackets were thought to be sure winners up to the last seconds as they were ahead by a slim margin through the last two quarters. The score was 65 to 64, the Jacket's way, with only 10 seconds remaining in play as the fighting Byrdmen tried in vain to stop the Indian attack, but a Fair Parker hit in the closing moments to sew things up as time ran out for the Jackets and they absorbed their first loss.

Byrd 95 Bolton 71

Terry Smith pumped in 27 points to head the Jacket lineup in a well-earned victory over the Bolton Bears in the Bolton gym. Although a few of Byrd's opponents offered strong opposition, they could not match the overall fine play of the team from Line Avenue. Guard George Graham fired for 20 points, followed by forward Bob Thompson with 17. Rebounding honors were captured by Rod McGuire and Pat Temple, snatching 15 and 10, respectively. This was the Jacket's twelfth win in thirteen outings.

Byrd 67 Istrouma 65

Desire won another contest for the Jackets in a closely fought battle with the Istrouma Indians. The Jackets barely, but sufficiently, edged their foes by a single tally in an overtime period. At the end of regulation play the score was an even 59 to 59. Bob Thompson broke the ice in the overtime action with a perfect jump shot, but the score was again tied by an Indian. Thompson hit with a pair of free throws to give his team the go-ahead, but they were again tied. Again Thompson swished two free throws, and again the score was tied. Guard George Graham wound things up with an under-the-basket two-pointer with only two seconds left in the game, and the Jackets' record was now 13-1.

Without the aid of forward Bob Thompson, the Jackets seemed somewhat hindered against a hustling tribe of Indians. The Jackets, ahead most of the game, almost pulled off a victory. The Jackets, down by only 1 point at halftime, went ahead 48-42 into the fourth period on a goal by Tommy Glass, Thompson's replacement. The score was tied five times and the lead changed hands five times in the last stanza, but the battle was ended when the tribe scored twice in succession with only 25 seconds left. Smith headed the point column with 23 points followed by Rod McGuire, George Graham, Pat Temple, and Glass with 10 points each.

Byrd 57 Marthaville 59

Feeling the absence of two first stringers, Bob Thompson and Pat Temple, the Jackets missed victory by only two points. The Marthaville Hawks passed the Byrdmen with a field goal the last 30 seconds of action. Leading the Jackets' charge was Terry Smith hitting for 25 points in the losing cause. He was followed by Rod McGuire, George Graham, and Tommy Glass who hit for 15, 10, and 7 points respectively. This was the Jackets' third loss of the season.

Byrd 73 Woodlawn 72

Guard George Graham cinched a win for the Jackets as he drove for a lay-up in the final seconds of play against the Woodlawn Knights. The victory was a big one for the Jackets who displayed a double dose of Jacket desire in order to beat the fighting Knights. Terry Smith chipped in 22 points as his teammates, Rod McGuire, Graham, Tommy Glass, and Pat Temple hit for 19, 10, 10, and 9 points respectively. The scoring was nip-and-tuck most of the battle, ending in victory for the Byrdmen as Graham drove skillfully in for a lay-up with only a few seconds remaining.

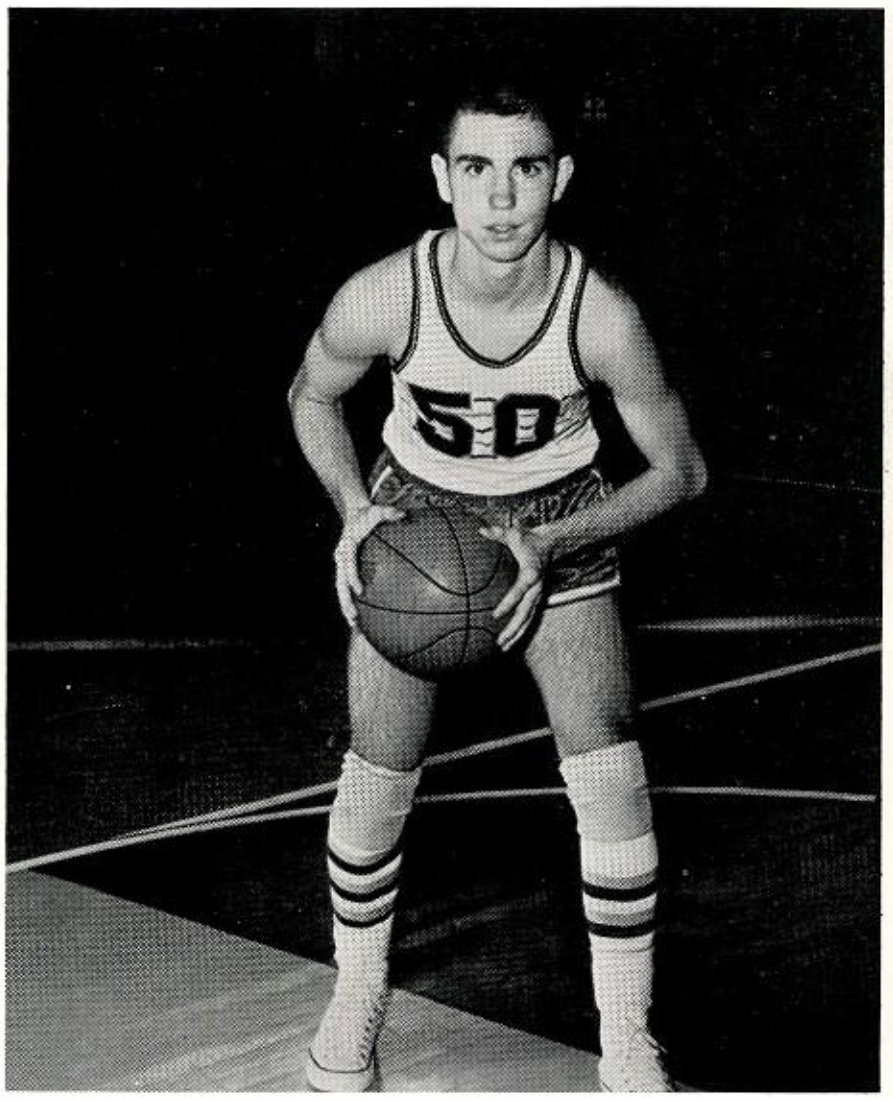
Spur Jacket Victories

Byrd 99 West Monroe 56

Byrd's Jackets boost their District record to 7-1 as they rushed over the West Monroe Rebels in a "run-and-shoot" contest. The Jackets hit on 44 per cent of their attempts while the Rebels managed only 27 per cent. High point man for the Byrdmen was Terry Smith with 32. The Jackets were backed by a host of players. Tommy Glass, George Graham, Rod McGuire, Jimmy Madison, James Boswell, James Gillespie, and Pat Temple aided with 20, 16, 13, 5, 4, 4, and 3 points in order.

Byrd 65 Bastrop 59

Pulling away from the Bastrop Rams in the final three minutes of action, the Jackets posted another important District 1-AAA victory. Terry Smith and George Graham helped the Jackets along with clutch free throws to wind things up. Smith, Graham, Pat Temple, Rod McGuire, and Tommy Glass fired for 28, 11, 11, 9, and 4 points respectively. From a slim 1 point lead after the first period, the Jackets boosted the tally to 47-45 at the end of three and then pulled away on the clutch free throw shooting of Smith and Graham.



JAMES GILLESPIE—Jr.

Byrd 64 Bossier 71

Byrd's District 1-AAA record took a drop as they met defeat when facing the Bossier Bearcat forces. Although the loss was important in league standings, the Jackets could easily maintain a berth in the state playoffs if they defeated either of their next two foes. George Graham and Terry Smith played lead roles in the losing cause, hitting for 23 and 22 points. Pat Temple, Tommy Glass, and Rod McGuire dropped in 6, 6, and 4 points. This was the Jacket's fourth loss of the season.

Byrd 62 Ouachita 49

Clinching a berth in the state playoffs, the Byrd Jackets conquered the Ouachita Lions in a District 1-AAA game at the Lion homestead. Junior Rod McGuire paced the Byrdmen with 16 points while George Graham, Terry Smith, Tommy Glass, and Pat Temple fired for 15, 14, 9, and 6 points respectively. The Jackets returned from the halftime break with a one-point lead and began pulling away, using a shuffle offense to set their pace, ending in a fine lead of 62 to 49. The Jackets now had only one scheduled game left, a very important one with Fair Park.

n District 1-AAA

Byrd 74 Fair Park 95

Closing the regular season play for 1964, the Jackets were defeated by a hot tribe of Indians. The battle was a hard-played one by both teams with the Indians outscoring the Byrdmen most of the second half. The Jackets fought the Indians the first two quarters until the Tribe left with a 52-48 advantage. But the second half was a different story as the Jackets were outscored 43-29. Terry Smith led the Jackets with 27 points, followed by Bob Thompson, Tommy Glass, Pat Temple, George Graham, and Rod McGuire who chipped in 12, 12, 11, 6, and 2 points respectively. The Jackets finished the season with a 27-5 record.

Byrd 59 East Jefferson 65

Byrd's hopes of the state championship were demolished when they battled the East Jefferson "five" in New Orleans. The Jacket's play, not up to par, was stifled when they attempted to get through a tight East Jefferson defense which held Terry Smith, the District 1-AAA top scorer, to only four points the first half. The East Jefferson team was ahead most of the game until Smith hit four straight jump shots with a minute left to play to put the Jackets within four points of the leaders. But the Jacket drive was halted as Smith, Bob Thompson, and George Graham fouled out and watched the rest of the game from the bench. The Jackets could do nothing as their opponents stalled for the remaining seconds. Smith headed the scoring column with 16 points as his teammates, Thompson, Pat Temple, Rod McGuire, Graham, and Ken Voight hit for 11, 9, 9, 8, and 4 points respectively.

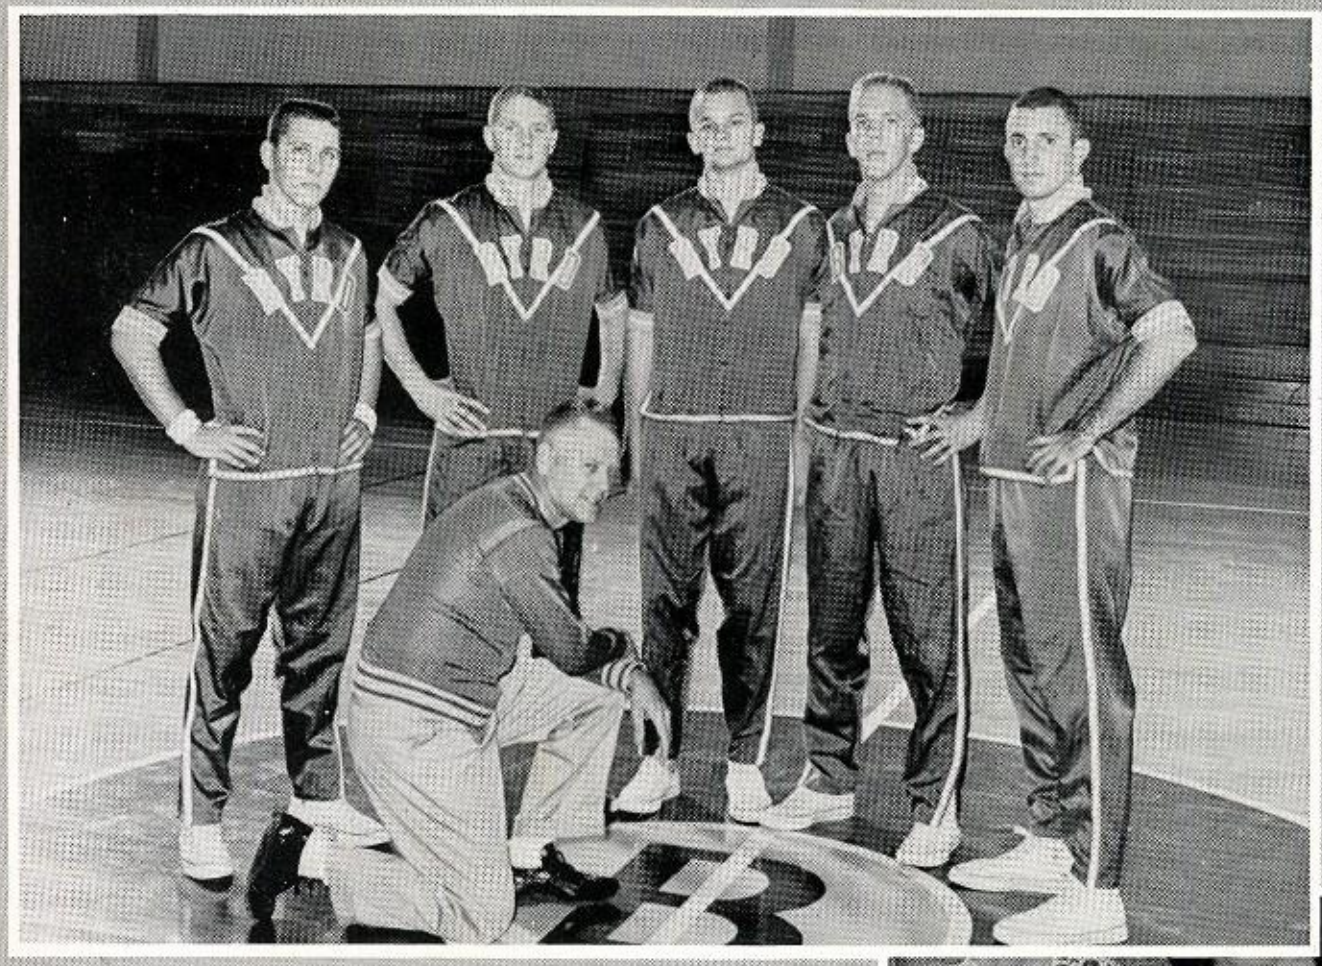
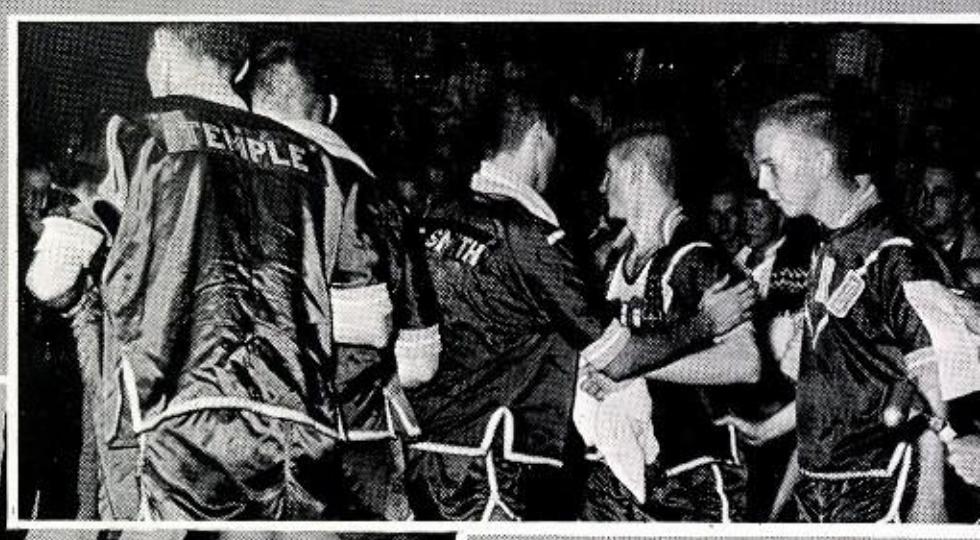
Presentation of the BASKETBALL



These senior basketball players have spent three hard years to help develop the fine team that they had this year. On the night of February 11th declared "Dribble Day," they escorted the Basketball Court to center court to receive the trophies. The senior players are Bill Wray, Bob Thompson, George Wayne Graham, Jimmie Madison, and Terry Smith. Coach John Rogers is their coach.

The 1963-64 Basketball Court was Lallage Spence, Sweetheart, Stafford Lyons, Senior Representative, Sandy Chapman, Junior Representative, and Jackie Goldberg, Sophomore Representative. The representatives are elected by their respective classes and the sweetheart is elected by the basketball team.

At half-time everyone goes to the front of the gym to discuss the game and to buy a coke and popcorn.



The team is always at high spirits. The Jackets depart after receiving a team trophy.

Being declared "Tenny Tuesday" the students wore tennis shoes in honor of the team.

COURT Climaxes Season

Traditionally Basketball Day heralds the wearing of tennis shoes to school. This year the theme of "Dribble Day" was evident in the sixth-period assembly at which the Faculty was outscored in a fast "dribbling" contest by the Student Council. On the night of February 11 the gym filled early for the exciting game with Bossier and for the presentation of the court, the names having been kept secret until Mr. Ravenna made the announcement that night.

With the presentation of the court before the Bossier game, "Dribble Day" was climaxed by the crowning of Lallage Spence as Sweetheart of the Court by Mr. Duncan. Elected by their respective classes to serve as maids to reign with the Sweetheart who was chosen by the basketball team were sophomore Jackie Goldberg, junior Sandy Chapman, and senior Stafford Lyons. The senior players escorted the girls to midcourt where they received awards from Mr. Duncan in the center of the gym. From here they witnessed a tense game, with the lead changing hands several times, that saw the Jackets fall by a 64-71 score.

Pep Squad Arouses Participation

Traditional rounds of "We Never Stagger" when the game is won, undaunted pride when the game is lost—the Stingerettes symbolize the very spirit of Byrd. Into this organization are crammed hours of work, energy, and fun with the main purpose of leading the student body in the continuation of Byrd's outstanding reputation of school spirit. Of the 120 members, forty are juniors selected from their sophomore class the previous year, and the remaining are seniors, forty of whom, selected out of their sophomore year, comprise the Drum Corps.

Preparation for the coming year was marked by marching practice during July and August, followed by the making of "peep show" costumes. The show, presented to finance the bus trips to out-of-town games, centered around a circus theme entitled "The Stingerette Spectacular." Football boys were disguised as animals clowns, and other various attractions found at a circus During the fall and winter the Pep Squad attended all foot ball and basketball games and helped boost school spiri with posters and mass pep rallies in the center hall befor school.

Helping with instruments and props and announcing rou tines during half-time performances, George Dover an Allan Weir were a great help to the Stingerettes at bot home and out-of-town games. Miss Lanell Newton, as sisted by other faculty sponsors, Mrs. Carolyn Lacy an Mrs. Ocile Robinson, spent many hours of guiding th planning and teaching of half-time performances and othe activities which made this a year of spirit and succes for the Pep Squad.

First row: Valerie Marsalis, Barbara Best, Meg Causey, Jill Whitesides, Carol Ann Abney, Connie Sturges.

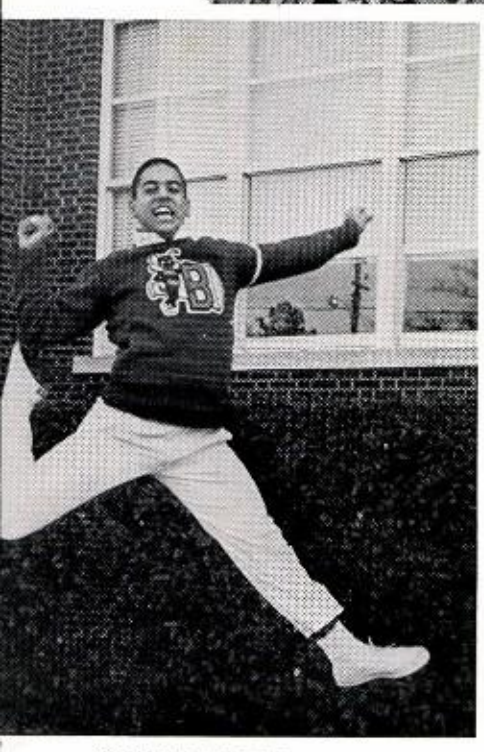
Cheerleaders Symbolize Byrd's Deep Spirit



JIM MILLER

MERRIE GRAVES

No group is more symbolic of Byrd's overwhelming school spirit than the 1963-64 cheerleaders. Throughout the year they could always be found working during and after school as they spent countless hours painting banners and hoops, decorating goal posts, practicing cheers, and planning pep rallies and assemblies.

In order to learn new cheers, techniques of leadership, and different ideas for arousing school spirit, our cheerleaders attended cheerleader school in Huntsville, Texas during the summer, and, representing Byrd in the usual fine manner, they tied for first place in competition with many groups from Texas, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

Elected by the entire student body in the Spring of 1963, these six seniors carried on the wonderful tradition of interest and enthusiasm which has always been so much a part of Byrd High School.

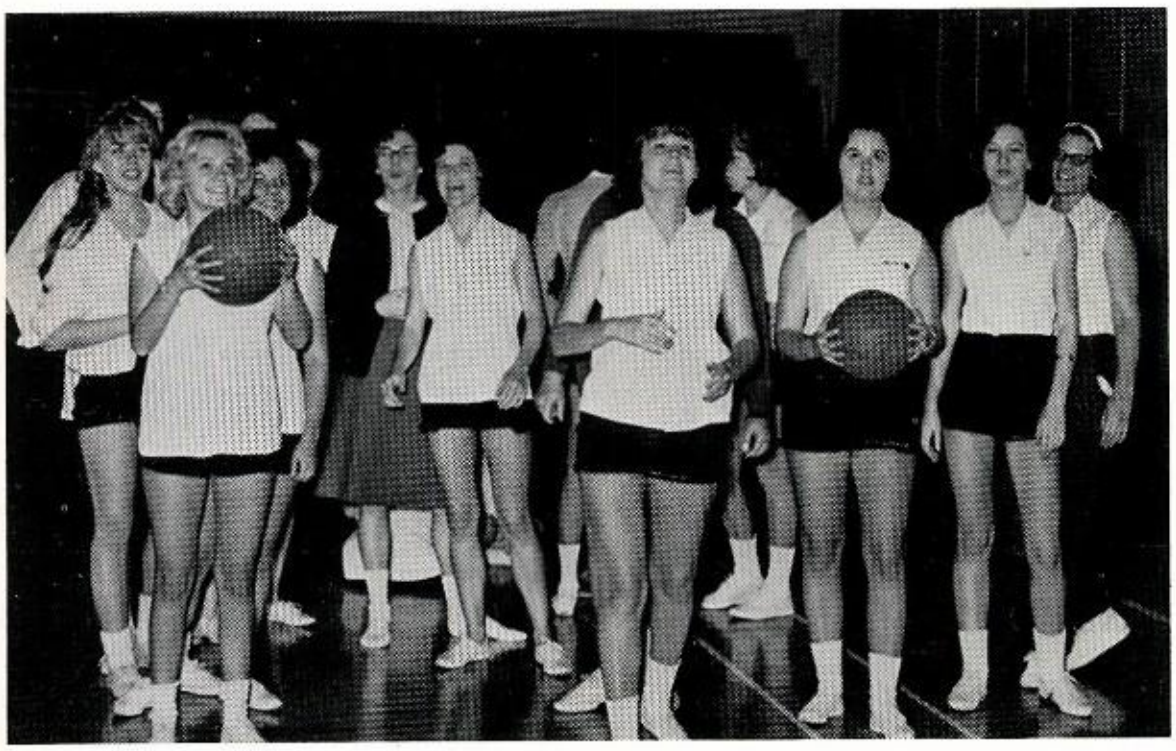
Girls' P.E. Stresse

Individual sports, team sports, rhythms, and hea comprise a well-rounded program offered by the Gi Physical Education Department. Among the individu sports taken are tennis, badminton, and archery, wh basketball, volleyball, and softball are offered on team basis. Co-ordinated with these activities, a Ph sical Fitness Program as outlined by the late Pre dent Kennedy is carried on by each class. Stressi both physical education and fitness, the Girls' P Department teaches with the individual students mind.



Basketball is an important sport taken in the yearly program because of its opportunity to develop teamwork and sportsmanship. A basket has evidently just been made by one team member.

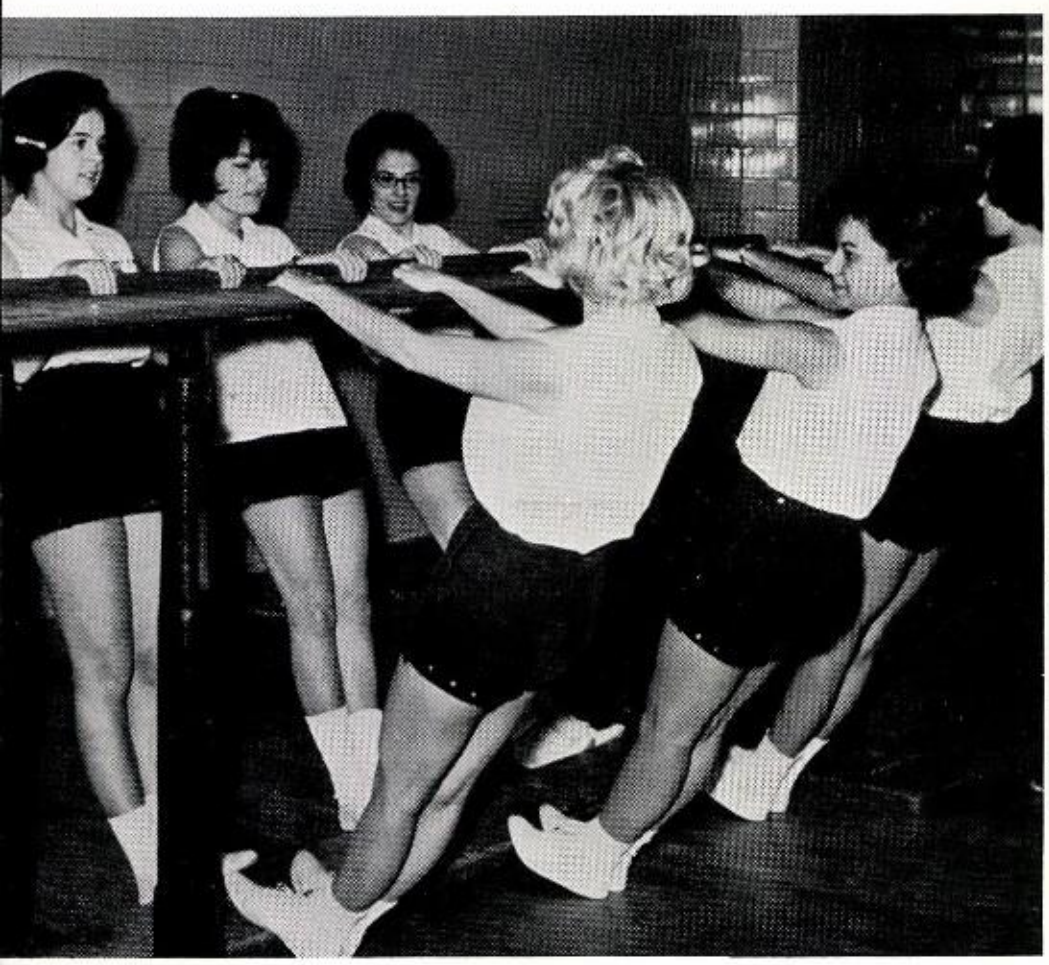
Pat Quinn, Nannette Carson, and Judy Witt remove several dead-aim shots from the archery target.

An individual sport, badminton is emphasized not only its chance to develop skill but also for the enjoyment gives. Margaret Bond watches as Martha Mathews t for a return.

rt of the Physical Fitness program is sit-ups, which prove to be a y helpful exercise.

During a course of first aid, Cyrelle Gerson, Terri Levy, Leigh Kelley, and Kaye Steinwinder learn the correct way to bandage heads.

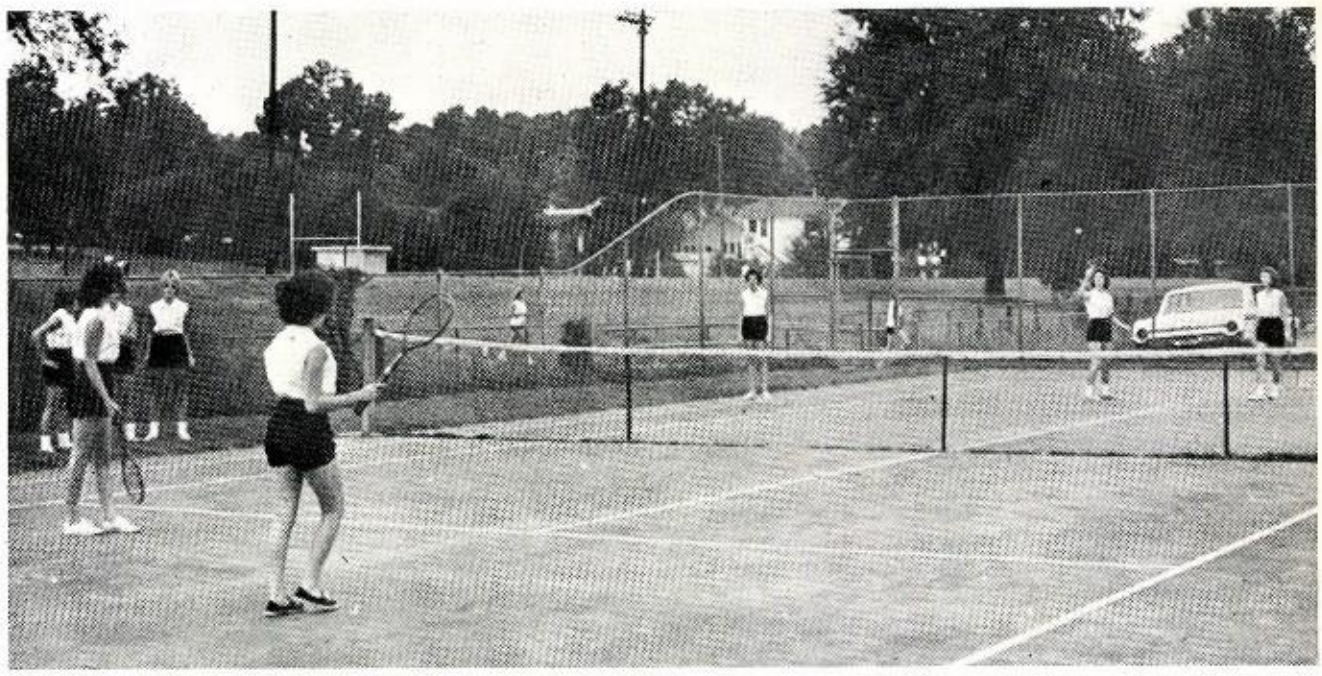
Physical Fitness

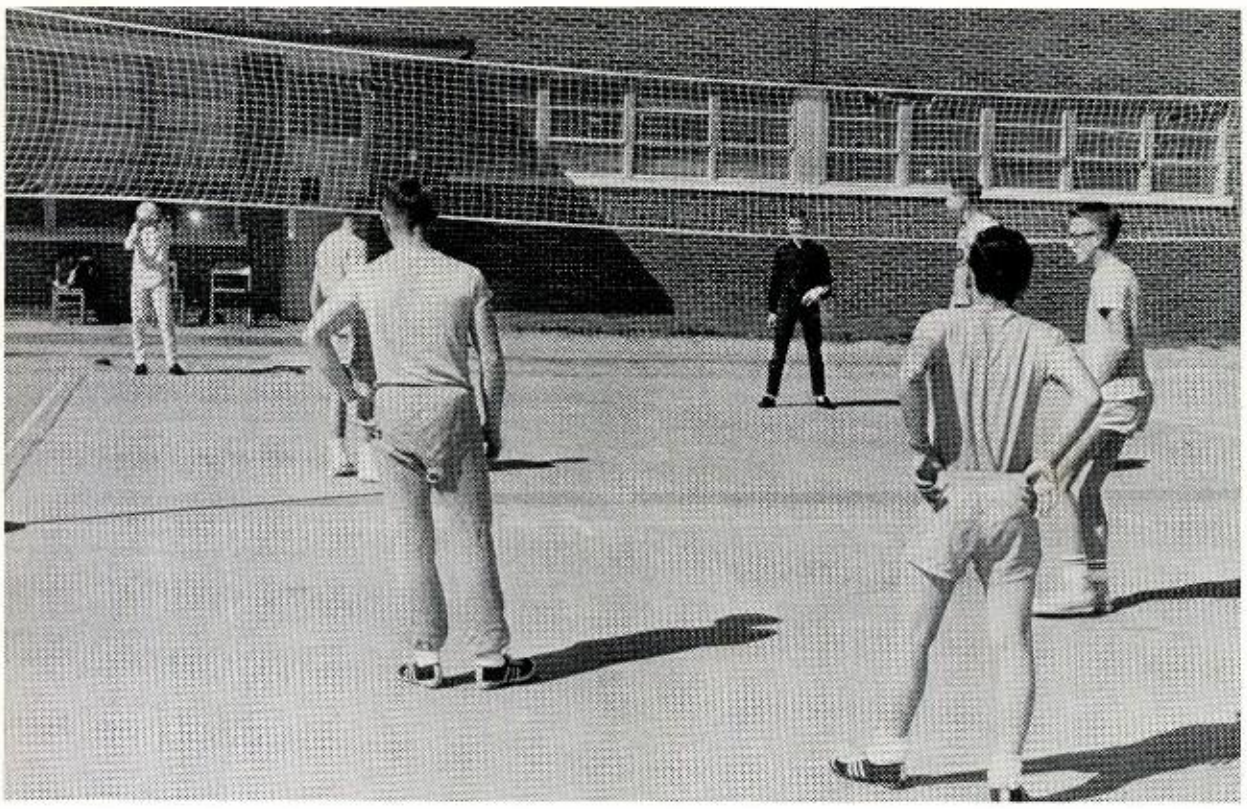


ese girls practice pull-ups for their Physical Fitness Tests they will e twice during the year.

Enjoying a less strenuous activity, Vicki Feldman, Jan Courtney, Becky Davenport, and Dona Wilkinson play a game of Password.

Tennis is a sport enjoyed by the many who take it. Besides providing enjoyment, this sport develops skill and coordination to those who practice it well.





Physical education students find fun and excitement in playing volleyball.

Coach Patterson instructs his class in a gym test. These tests are given every six weeks as a part of the student's grade.

Boy's P.E. Develop

Over the years Byrd has developed a well balanced physical education department. Some of its activities actually make it a scholastic as well as a physical experience. Such activities are, weight-lifting, volleyball, and track. Also, there are sports such as basketball and football which are divided up per six weeks to provide fun and the thrill of competition.

In certain activities such as gymnastics there are demonstrations by experts who show some skills, provide enjoyment, and put on a show to demonstrate tricks one can do with practice.

Mike Tooke practices skills learned in broad jumping.

g some of his boys in a running vent.

Football is one of the main activities during the physical education periods.

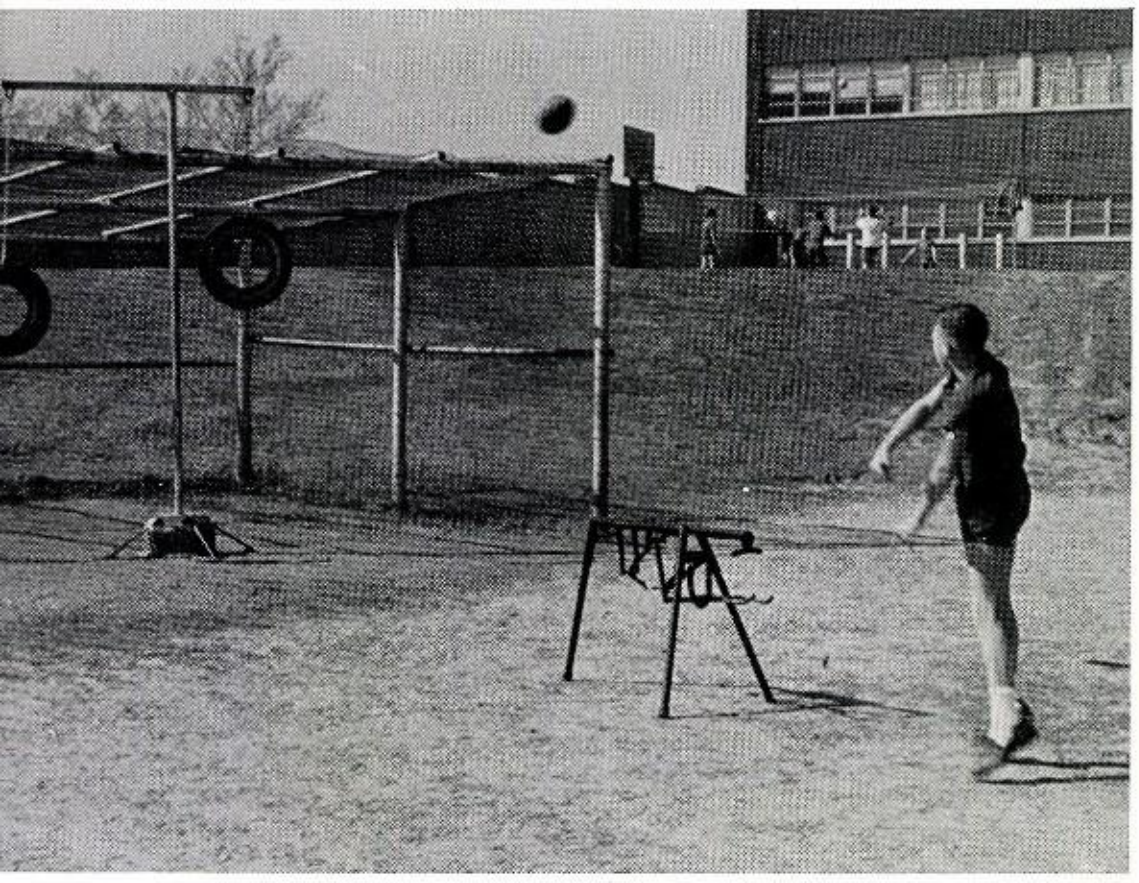
Physical Training

Weight-lifting enables students to develop their mus-cles and learn the different exercises which will aid in health and coordination.

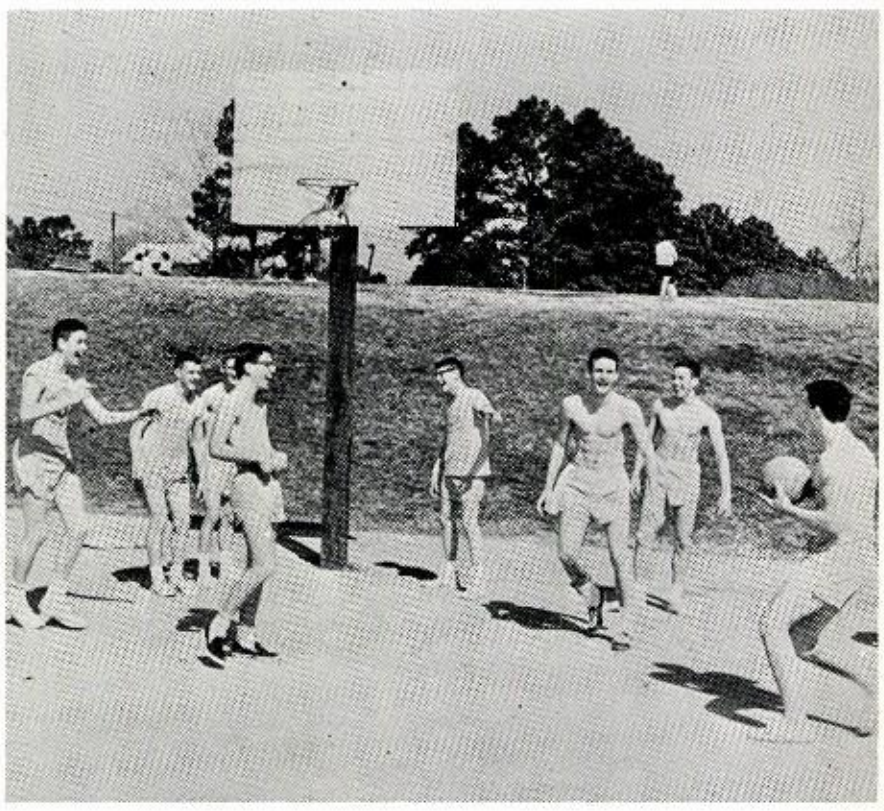
Volleyball is a fairly new sport at Byrd that is rising in popularity each year. If played right, volleyball can be fun and helpful in coordination.

During the six-weeks that track is offered, students learn the different skills of track and field. They learn the best ways to run long distances in the shortest time and how to get the best possible time in short runs. One also learns how to handle the different equipment on the track. A student emerges after three years of physical education training physically fit to meet the challenges of the modern world.

High-jumping is also offered in the gym classes. Here Joe Hudson is about to hit the sawdust after completing a jump.



ennis Hodnett develops passing skills by the use of an automatic hiking achine and a tire target.



Junior boys learn fundamentals in basketball.

STAFF Officers Command All Units

Being composed of the top cadets and sponsors i the corps, the Battle Group Staff controls the opera tions and training of the Byrd ROTC. This year ne offices have been added: Commander and Deputy Di vision Commander for the Shreveport district, whos job it is to coordinate the activities of Woodlawn Fair Park, and Byrd High Schools and to inspect thei companies. Naturally, covering three schools, the com mand must revolve for each school to receive its du benefits. In 1964 Byrd has the honor of hosting th Deputy Division Commander. The Public Informatio Officer (S-5) has also been installed at Byrd. Thi officer has as his duty the writing of the "ROTC I Review" for the newspaper. Each member of th staff has as his position either the (S-1), adjutant an administrative officers; (S-2), operations and trainin officer; (S-4), equipment officers.

Special Staff Works Long Hours

Officers and Sponsors who hold the top offices in the ROTC extra-curricular activities serve as Special Staff members. The units represented by the staff members are the Rifle Team and Patton Platoon. These cadets spend long hours developing the skills of their respective groups and keeping the units in top order all the time. The Special Staff is one of the keys that open the door to military "all-around" excellence.

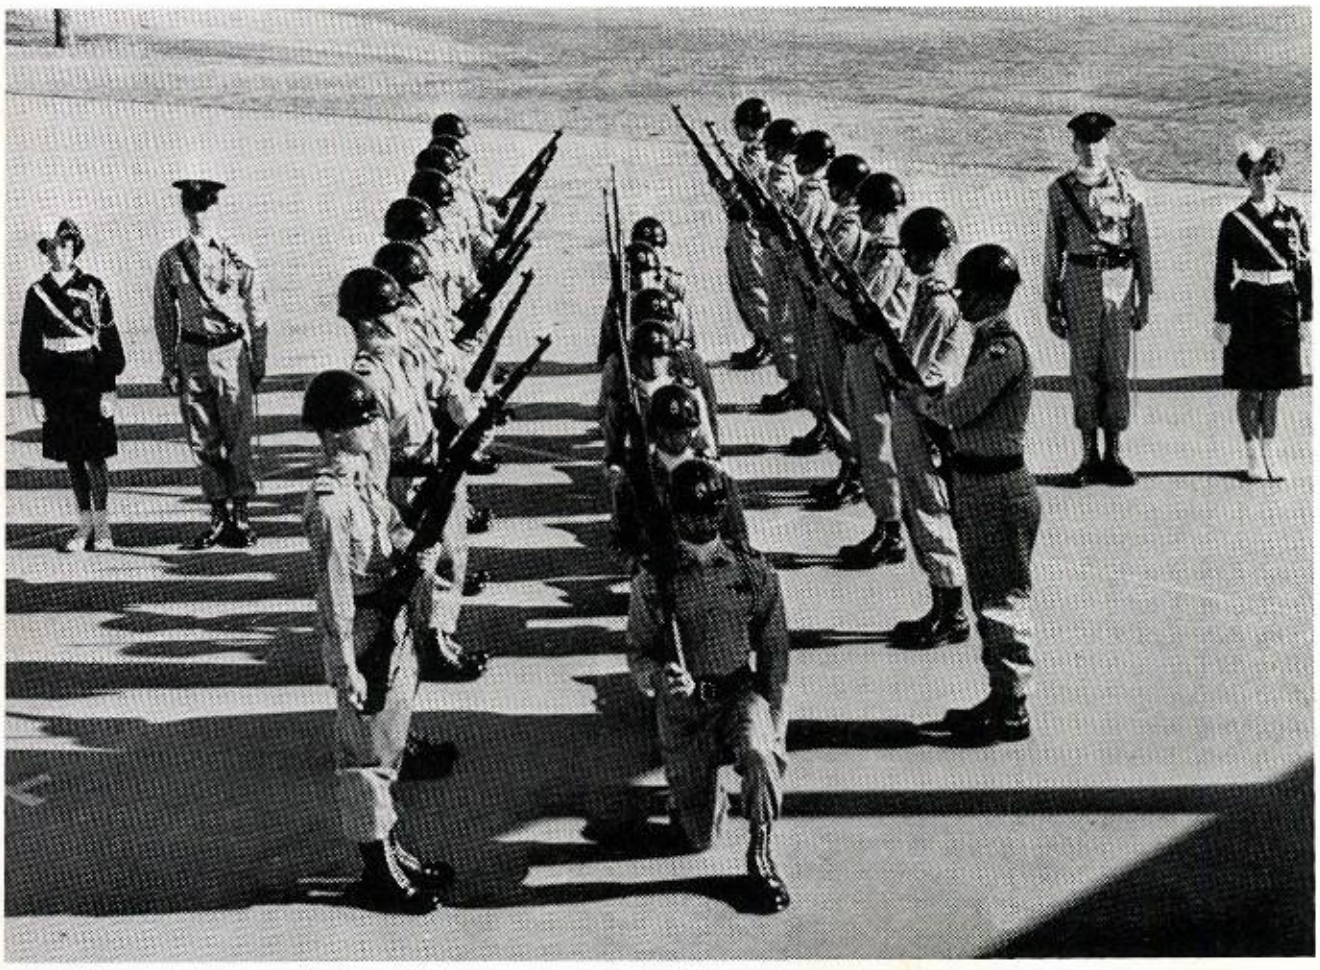
Patton Platoon Contribute

During a routine practice session, the platoon executes a rifle exchange in block formation.



Since 1952 the Patton Platoon, name after the World War II hero George S Patton, has been putting in hours an hours of hard work so that it will liv up to the reputation it has built for i self. The Patton Platoon encourage school spirit and develops the character of the cadets in it. The organizatio marches at football games, parades, an formal ceremonies throughout the Fourt Army District. Aside from performin in public, the unit held a String Pull a the ROTC Spaghetti Supper, which wa a big success, and published the "Birth day Calendar." In daily use the cade shoot M-1 rifles and march with ba bayonets. Commander of the Patton Pla toon is Lieutenant Colonel Walt Cloy and Sponsor Lieutenant Colonel Mar Ellen Moore, who are assisted by Majo Bill Goode and Sponsor Major Judy Ne son. The ROTC sponsor is Master Se geant Emile Z. Charbonneau.

gt. Charbonneau inspects the group as they do a "right step march at port rms."

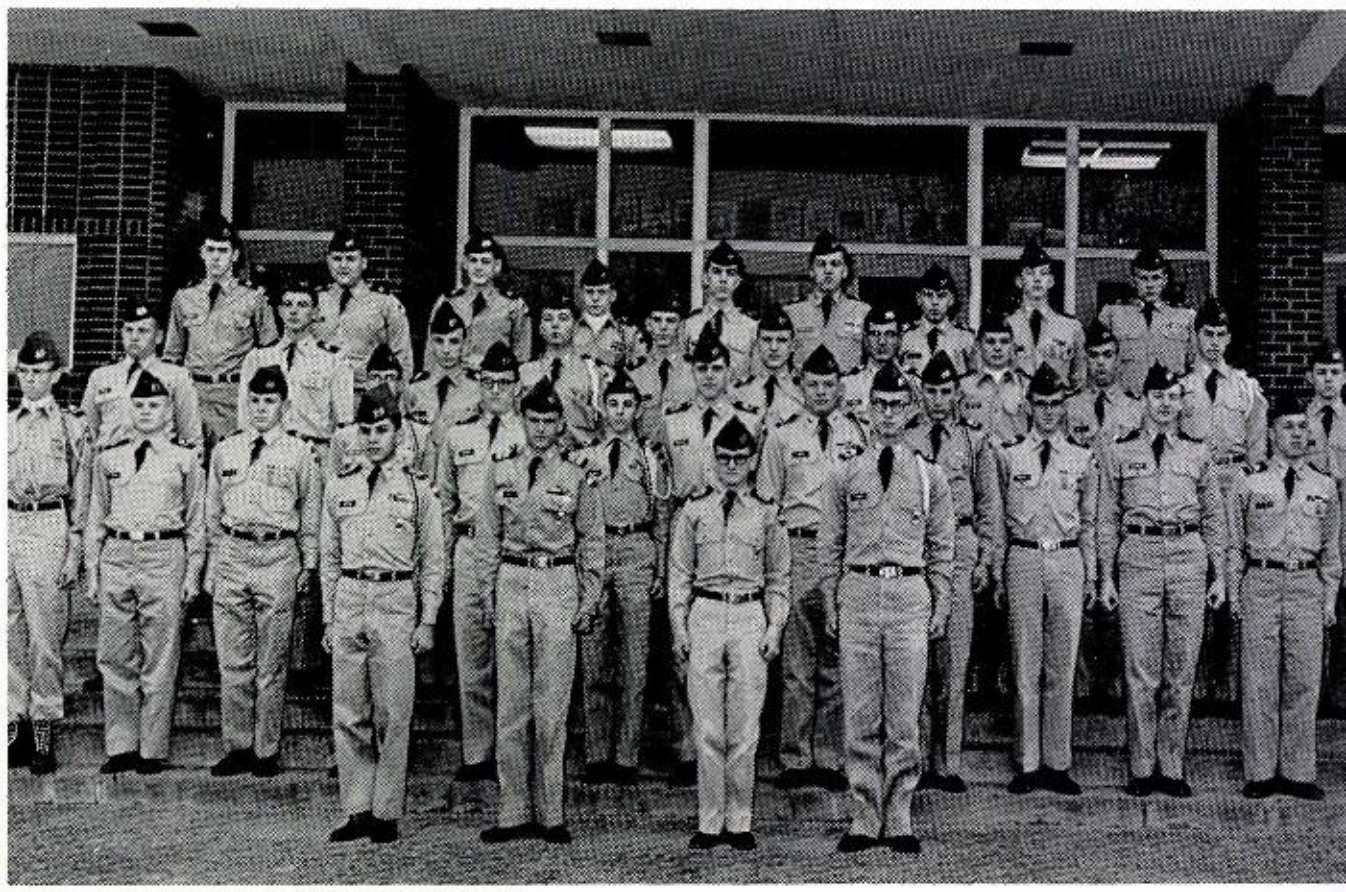
While the Patton Platoon stands at rigid attention, Major Bill Goode explains a "technical point" to Major Judy Nelson as he points his sabre at her foot!

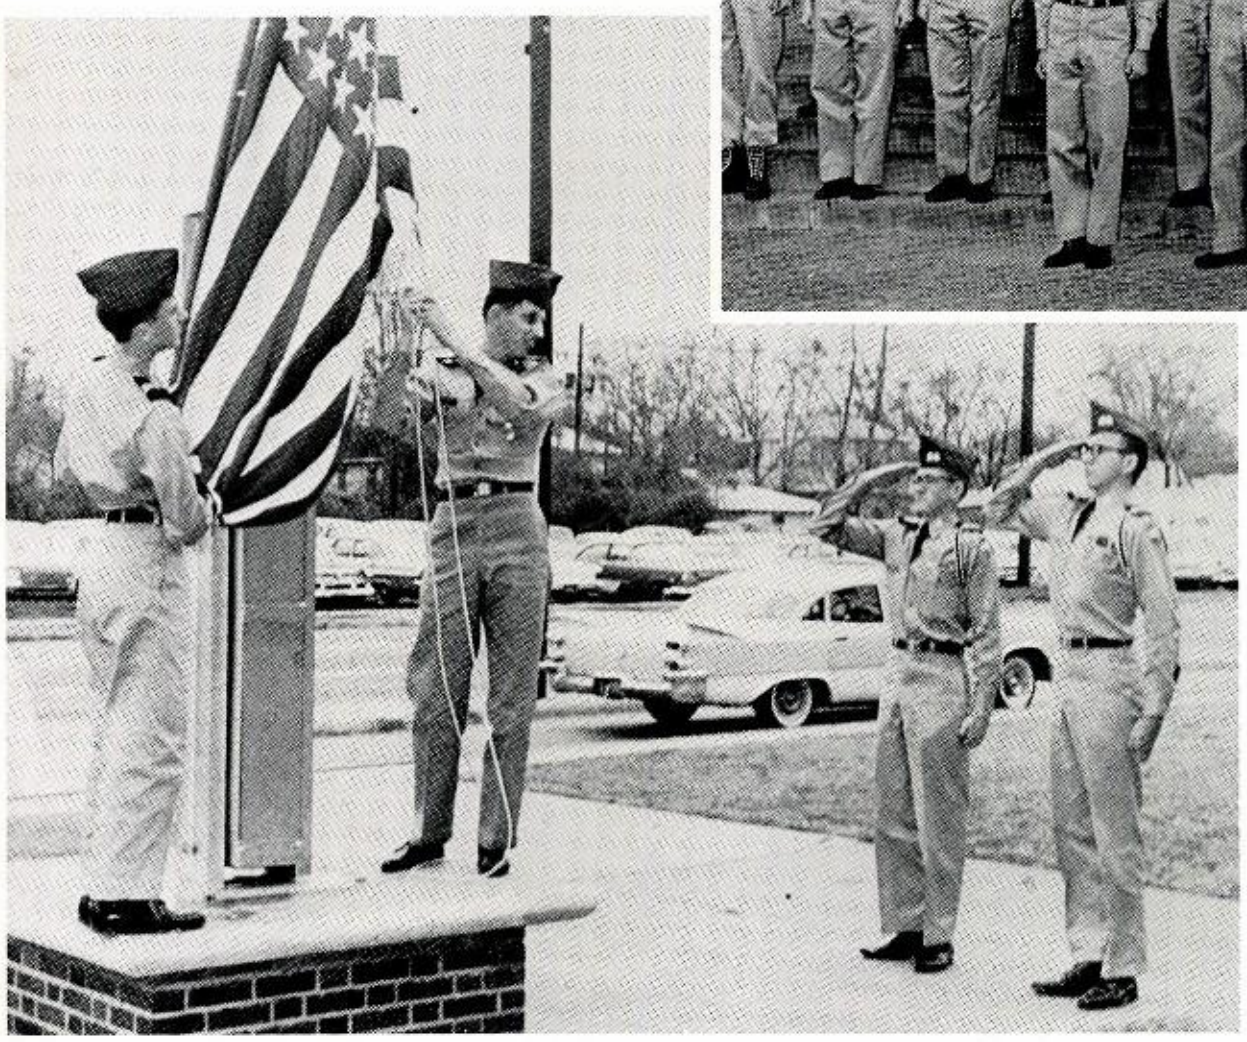
NCO Members Attain High Goals in R.O.T.C.

Don Lorant, Treasurer; Chuck Turk, Secretary; Glenn Wilson, President; Don Herring, Sergeant-at-Arms.

Founded in 1953, the Non-Commissioned Officers Club is made up of all interested cadets in the ranks from Sergeant to Sergeant Major. The club familiarizes the members with corps operations and arouses a genuine interest in ROTC. Among the functions of the N.C.O. are the presenting of colors and ushering at football games. Sfc. Marvin R. Duncan, a second-year instructor with the ROTC, is sponsor for the club, which consists of twenty-six members. The invaluable training received by the NCO members during the year makes better officers the next year.



Among the duties sometimes performed by NCO Club members is the raising and lowering of the school flag. Don Lorant, assisted by Tommy Elliott, brings the American Flag down as Don Herring and Glenn Wilson salute.



First row: Henry Felan, Rickey Wells, Joseph Corby, Bill Farmer.
Second row: Pete Tison, Floyd Farrar, Ken Cochran, David Haralson, Kenneth Harvey, Roy Racha, George Burton, Albert Simms, Craig McKee, Gar Curtis, Keyes Thomas, John Plantikow, Tom Gray Third row: Thomas Wiley, Bill McBride, Len Kelly, Wallace Dinge, Allen Cohen, David Schoolfield, Ralph Olivieri, Mike Smathers, Tommie Burton, Leo Franklin, Johnny Jones.
Fourth row: Ray Gammill, Stan Booras, Wesley Crawford, Chris Barnette, Ardis Robison, Gregor Anderson, Rex MacQueen, Bruce Barnett, Joseph Moore.

Second row: Vester Cobb, Ken Hawkins, Jere Daye, Tom Gray, James Moore.

Rifle Team Continues in Excellence

Being one of the most highly skilled units in Byrd's ROTC, the Rifle Team has won numerous awards both in city, state, and national competition. Such outstanding achievements as winning City League competition four times and taking fifth place in the nation have brought honor and glory to the City of Byrd. The Rifle Team instructor, Sgt. Duncan, has instilled in the team excellent marksmanship and determination, two qualities necessary to acquire the reputation that Byrd's Rifle Team holds. It is commanded by Major Mike Dark, Sponsor Major Robin Rankin, assisted by Captain Jere Daye and sponsor Helene Yago. Serving on the second string, Ken Chapman, Pete Tison, Phil Smith, Gary Fox, Cecil Harrison, and Mike Embrey are necessary for the over-all success of the team this year and will be the first string in 1965.

Prone firing is the first position taught to the ROTC and the most accurate. Vester Cobb and Ken Hawkins are in position, ready to fire, as Sgt. Duncan and Robin Rankin instruct them on procedure.

Constant practice being necessary for any competitive skill, Rifle Team members James Moore and Jere Daye assume sitting and kneeling positions, while Major Mike Dark and Sponsor Helene Yago look on.

Founded twenty-eight years ago, the Officers and Sponsors Club has made many valuable contributions to Byrd life. It acquaints officers, sponsors, and cadets socially so that the corps may run smoothly. Among its numerous activities in 1964 were a Cake Walk at the Spaghetti Supper to raise money so that cadets may go to summer camp; a Division Reception in which Woodlawn, Fair Park, and Byrd officers and sponsors participated and which promotes friendship among them all; a Formal Review held in May to honor Master Sergeant Charbonneau, who for the first time taught Military I when the 1964 seniors were sophomores; and in the social field, a hayride and skiing party at the Lake of the Pines. The organization met once a week to plan its activities, with the help of the sponsors, Major Herman Schubarth and Miss Marie Rinaudo.

It isn't by size that you win or you fail . . .
Be the best of whatever you are . . ."

Douglas Mallock

What would life be if every one of its participants were a leader?
Just as a bee hive has its workers and its queen,
a school must have its leaders and its followers. Many times it is the unrecognized workers that are responsible for the success of a project, but there must always be a leader.
In the followers lie the hope of the leader, but in the leader lies the progress of the whole.
Honor comes to different people in different ways.
Some have the wrong conception of honor; it does not come only in the form of fame and prestige, but also in the form of peace and satisfaction with one's self.
Doing a job well, no matter how small or insignificant,
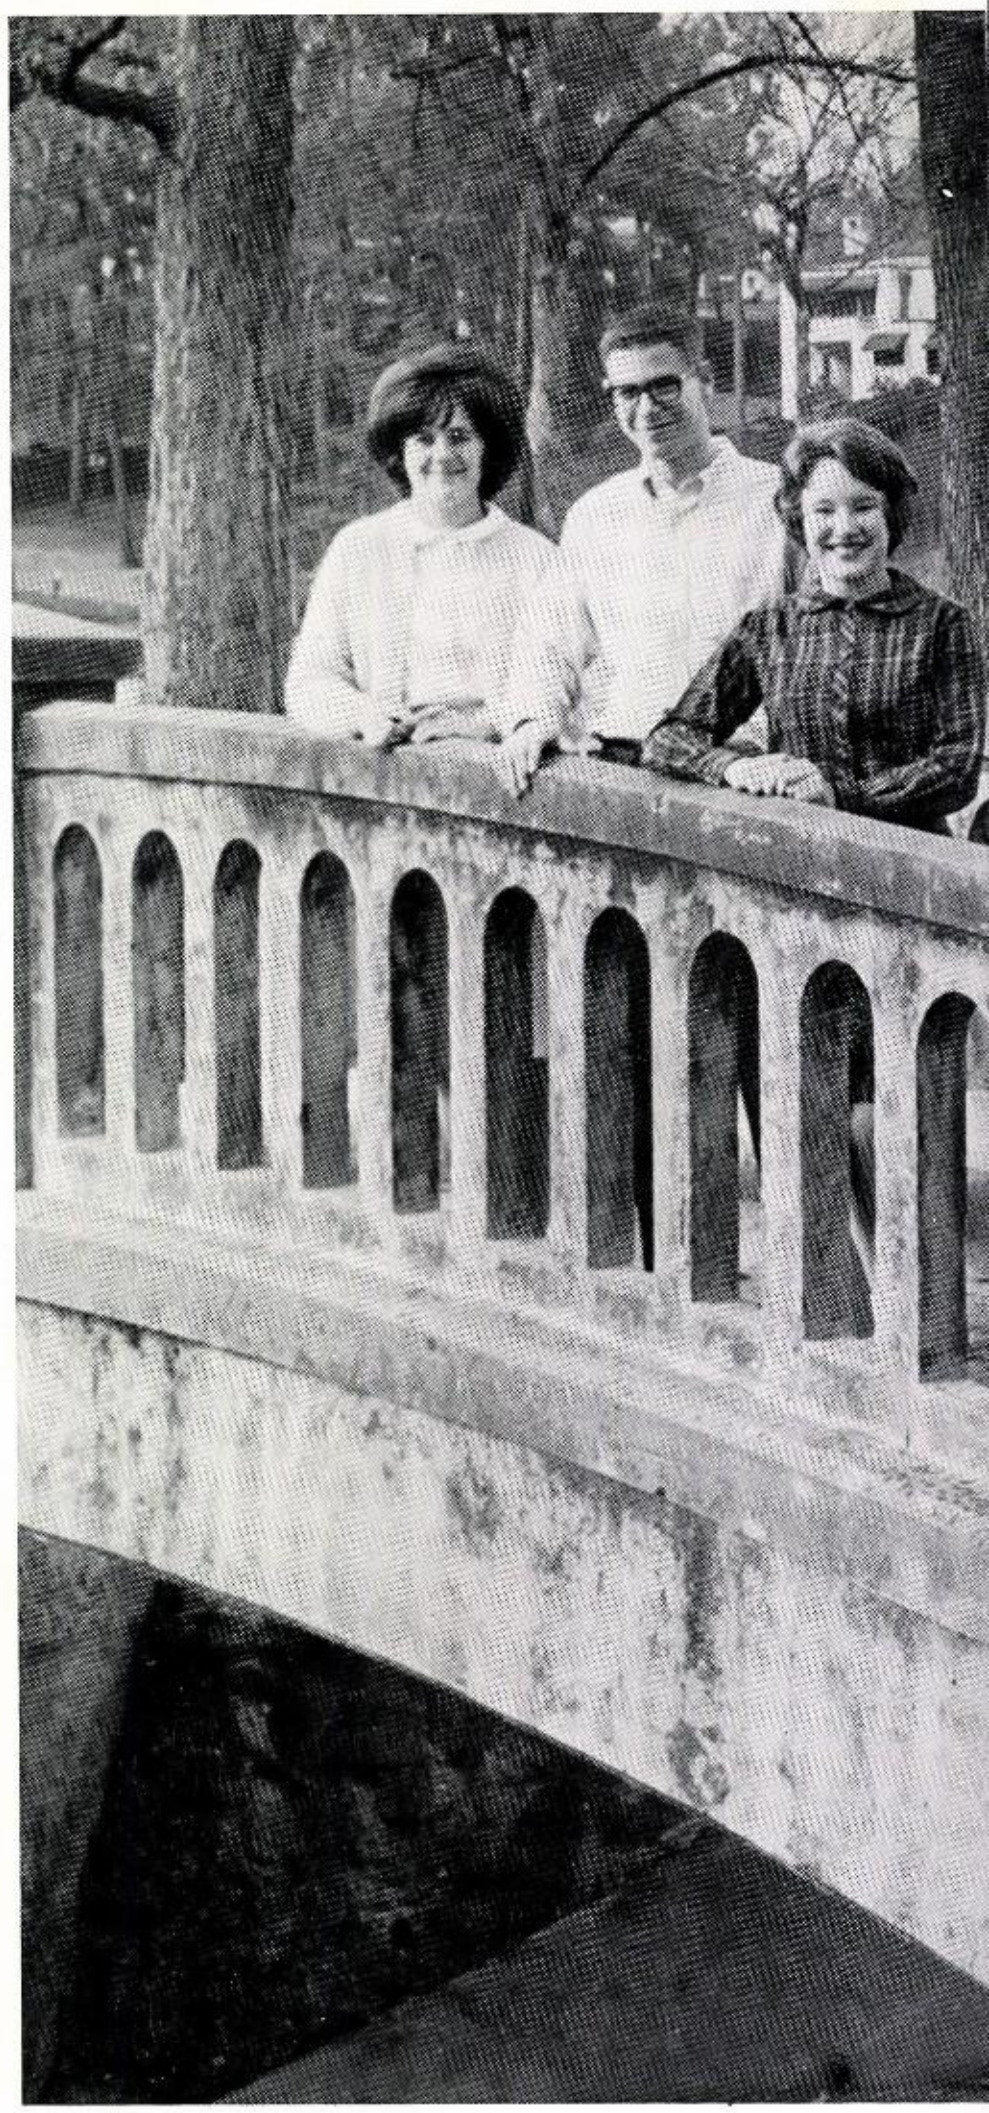
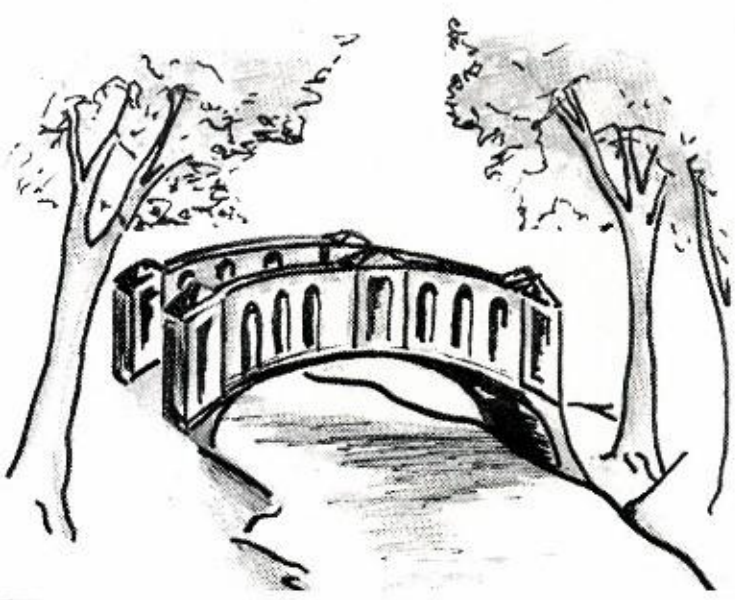
is real honor.



One can look upon his high school days as a bridge to the rest his life. It connects the adolescent period with the time of becom an adult. What one does and whom he choses to be friends with make a difference to the rest of his life. Standing on this symboli bridge are Linda Kutschbach, Lieutenant Governor of Pelican St George Dover, President of the National Honor Society; Toni Tho son, Chapel Leader; Doug Miller, Assembly Chairman; Bob I gerald, Football Scholastic Award; Karen Dowty, President of Q and Scroll; Tommy Baremore, President of National Forensic Leag Steve Hidalgo, Optimist Award.

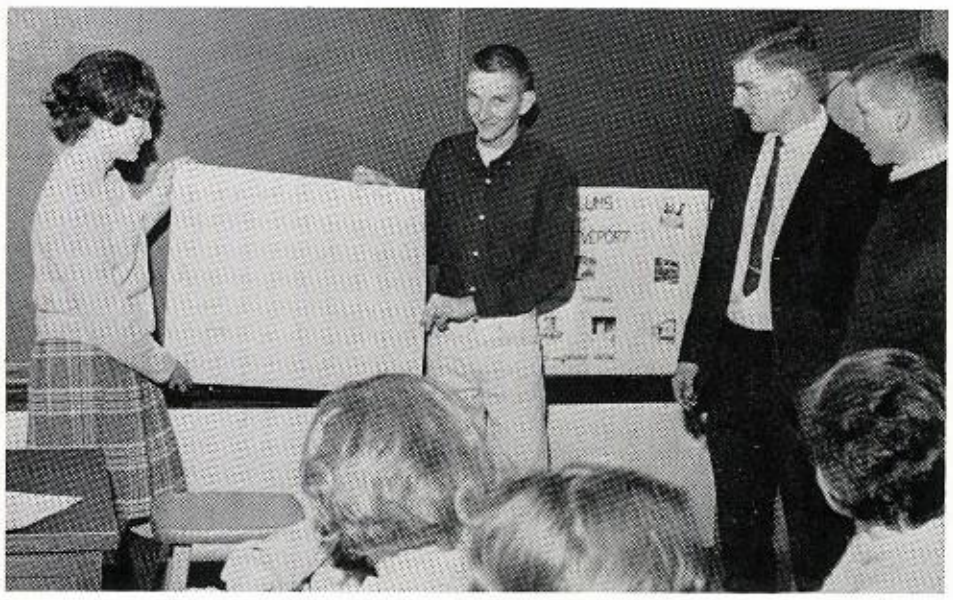


Honors

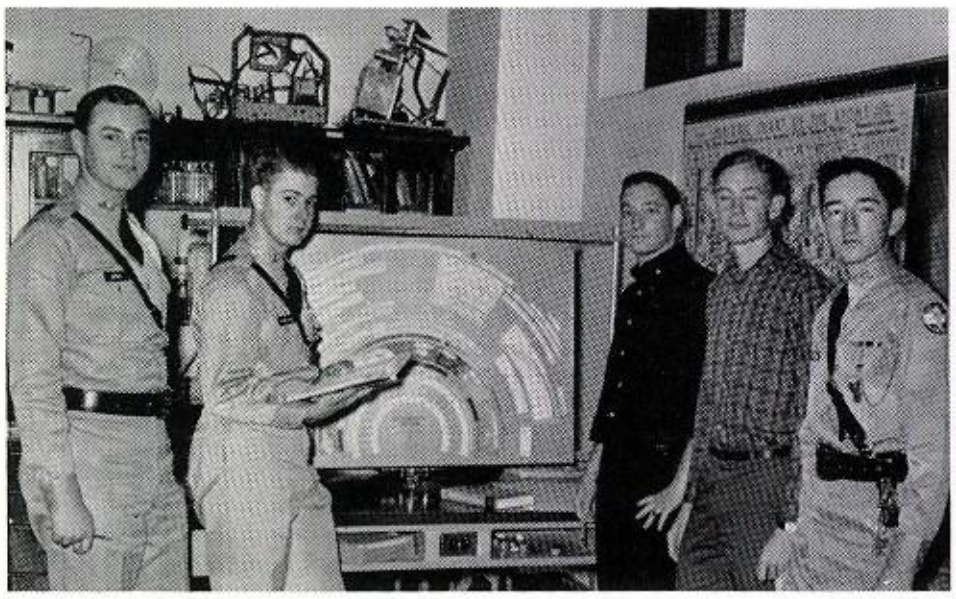
Hard Work Is Rewarded

In order to provide a cheerful atmosphere for the library at Christmas, the Library Club arranges an attractive display. Taking pride in their work are: Donna Wood, Ann Taylor, Sandra Smith, Cindy Courtney.

Within the city of Byrd there are many students who, through their efforts and hard work, have made Byrd a more enjoyable place. Through the course of a year these people bring many high honors to Byrd, from their hard work. In most cases we see that large deposits pay large dividends, and these people are rewarded for their efforts by the faculty and student body when they are elected and selected to various honor organizations and posts.



After making their career booklets, Civics students make oral reports to the class. Paul Foncey and Lamar Hodges look on as Diana Dunham and John Urankar make their report.



Visual aids are often used to clarify the study of Physics. Examining the period chart and the electromagnetic spectrum are: Steve Brint, James Anderson, Jimmy Hill, Walter Kelly, Corkey Strong.

A memorable event in the life of R.O.T.C. cadets is the annual Military Ball. Marching through the Arch of Steel are John Stinson and Pat Morgan.

Chemistry labs are available to students to help them further their un standing of compounds and mixture.

Hard Work Merits Recognition is year the Optimist "Pat-'Em-On-The-Back" Awards re awarded to Steve Hidalgo and Patricia Tatum. zanne Musgrave, seated, won the D.A.R. Award for Outstanding Senior Girl.

For scholastic achievement in history, Sherri Parker received the Sertoma (Service to Man) Award, Walter Kelley won the Woodmen of the World Award, and Barbara Buckner was presented with the D.A.R. Award.

In a scholarship contest offered by the National Honor Society, Douglas Wheless and Ronald Alsup were semi-finalists.

Last summer Walter Kelley attended a Math and Science Workshop at Louisiana Tech.

N.F.L. Receive

Judy James and Claire Potter received a trophy from Mr. Duncan as the two members of the Byrd High School debate team who were named first place winners at the Novice Girls' division of the Bellaire Debate Tournament. This debate is the largest high school speech tournament in the nation, held in Houston on November 1 and 2. These two juniors were judged best among some fifty-five novice teams in the division.

Judy has earned her 25 points in interscholastic debate and received the Degree of Merit. By obtaining 75 points, Claire has received the Degree of Honor.

This trophy is placed with the many other awards earned by the C.E. Byrd High School National Forensic League.

Mr. Bruno Jacobs, executive secretary of the National Forensic League, presented Byrd with the outstanding chapter award at an assembly January 9. Byrd has received three of these awards since they were first given in 1944.

Sponsoring the C.E. Byrd High School chapter of the National Forensic League are Mr. Jimmie Rogers and Miss Patricia Gladden. Founded in 1926, this organization has been one of the oldest and most active chapters in the North Texas District. After earning 25 points or more in interscholastic debate and individual events, the students are eligible for membership. The membership has been enlarged by ten students this year. The sale of football programs finances the trips to the major tournaments held in Houston, New Orleans, Beaumont, Lafayette, Fort Worth, Natchitoches and Ruston.

Annually presented to an outstanding senior debater is the Roy V. Evans award. Award-winning debaters this year include Tommy Baremore, who received the Degree of Excellence, which requires 150 points, and Sue Bryant, who earned 75 points and was presented with the Degree of Honor. Mr. Jimmie Rogers earned the N.F.L. Diamond Key, which places him among the top debate coaches in the nation. For every ten points earned by a student, the coach receives one point, and the coaches with the largest accumulation of points are awarded the coveted diamond key.

Government Fundamentals

Selected on the basis of outstanding character, adership, scholarship, and co-operation, eighteen udents were elected by the faculty and their nior class last spring to represent Byrd at Peli-an Boys' and Girls' State. This mythical state, reated in August on the LSU campus, is spon-ored by the Louisiana American Legion while he expense for each student to attend is paid by arious civic organizations. Byrd delegates, work-ng hard, brought back many honors and offices. our students reached the state level in their po-tical climb as Linda Kutschbach was elected ieutenant Governor; Dee Brookings, Secretary of tate; Allen Wier, Attorney General; and Hugh genfritz, Comptroller.

The knowledge gained from experiences en-ountered during this ten-day excursion was un-rmountable, for from convocations during the ay to making banners for the city during the wee hours of the morning," delegates were taught nd participated in the running of the government n a state basis, learned the value of being com-atible in accepting others' ideas, and attained the rue understanding of "United we stand, divided e fall."

Chosen as Pelican State Alternates were Dottie Stone, Frances Victory, Marcia Short. Second row: Jim Miller, Bob Fitzgerald, Mac Griffith.

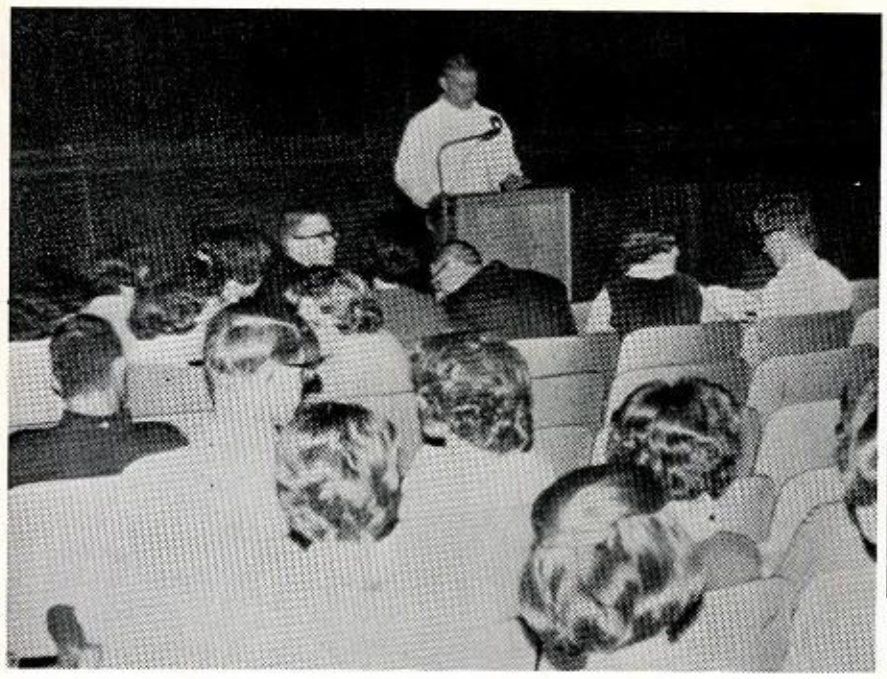
lso included as Pelican State Alternates are Pa-icia Tatum, Claudette Wright, Ellen Victory, Betty Vray and standing, John Beckett.



Danny Atchley speaks at chapel to a group of attentive listeners. Because of helpful programs, attendance at chapel has increased.

Before Christmas, in their homerooms, Diane Gammill, Lyn Meyerson, Judy Pate, Marilyn Givens, Liz Doolittle, Sandy Scott, and Tucker Neilson gather food and clothing to be distributed to needy families.

The Heart of Byrd Is the Real Byrd

When you look back on your years at Byrd, what will you remember most of all? The football games, parties, bus trips, track meets, or baseball games? No, the real Byrd will stand out in your memory. But what is the "Real Byrd?" The students being drawn together day by day in a learning situation may be considered the "Real Byrd," or it may be the invisible ties to the true spirit of Byrd. There are several things which are important to making up the Heart of Byrd or the Real Byrd. These are the chapel meetings, prayer group meetings, and Brotherhood Week. Experiencing these activities, students of Byrd obtain the strength to face the daily problems of life. Such services as chapel are interdenominational, which is beneficial to all students. The day may begin with a closer contact with God, which enables the chapel attenders to be at ease during the day. Prayer group meetings allow students to meet informally in the homes of members, to learn about other religious beliefs and to discuss worrisome problems.

Brotherhood Week, an important part of the school, was held during February 19-23. Byrd students representing the different faiths spoke to the school and civic organizations throughout the city. Byrd is the only high school in Shreveport that chooses its Brotherhood Week speakers from the student body.

These are a few of the school services which promote a deeper feeling in Byrd. Add these to your memories, and you have your Heart of Byrd—the Real Byrd.

Toni Thompson and Danny Atchley, who work exceedingly hard planning the chapel programs, make a final check of the agenda.

Tommy Peyton, Becky Davenport, Allen Wier, Kathy Nader, Scott Sealy, Margaret Richardson, Joe Bell, and Terry Norvell devote many extra hours to prepare the inspiring prayer group meetings for students at Byrd.

Organized with the purpose of serving others, the Key Club of Byrd Hig School seeks to carry out the worthy objectives of Key Club International. Projec are designed to benefit the school and surrounding community. This year's clu provided the typing classes of the school with book stands, put up a league stan ing score board for the basketball team, took part in a canned-food drive Christmas and other worthwhile service activities.

A member of the Byrd club, Gene Hunt, has been the Treasurer of the Lami stenn District for the past two years. One of the outstanding events of the Ke Clubber's year is the annual District Convention. Byrd was well represented the convention in Biloxi this year. Byrd's debate club, in its second year since rebirth in 1962, has already gained national recognition. The debate club, as the junior organization of the N.F.L., was cited for honors as being one of the top twenty-five clubs in the nation.

Mr. Rogers, the sponsor, was presented a plaque by Mr. Bruno Jacob, secretary of the N.F.L. The team meets weekly, on Wednesdays, and throughout the year has traveled some 6,400 miles to tournaments in various southern states.

Many hours of research and practice along with plenty of patience go into the making of a successful debate team. Each member gains more knowledge on the specific debate topic and improves his speaking abilities through interscholastic debating.

"How little it costs, if we give it a thought,
To make happy some heart each day!
Just one kind word or a tender smile,
As we go on our daily way."

Mary D. Brine

Humbly the seniors leave to you the city of Byrd that has meant so much to so many.
You now hold in your hands its future . . .
whether its high principles are upheld depends upon what plateau your maturity has reached. It seems that these responsibilities shine only dimly in the future, but before you feel able to accept them,
they will have gone.
You will be receiving your senior ring and wondering what happened to your sophomore days.
You think that your class will never be able to accept positions of leadership, but you're suddenly finding yourself efficiently doing that very thing.
Then you will be wearing that long, white robe
looking with melancholy at the past days and with eagerness planning for the future. Yes, you have the whole world at your feet
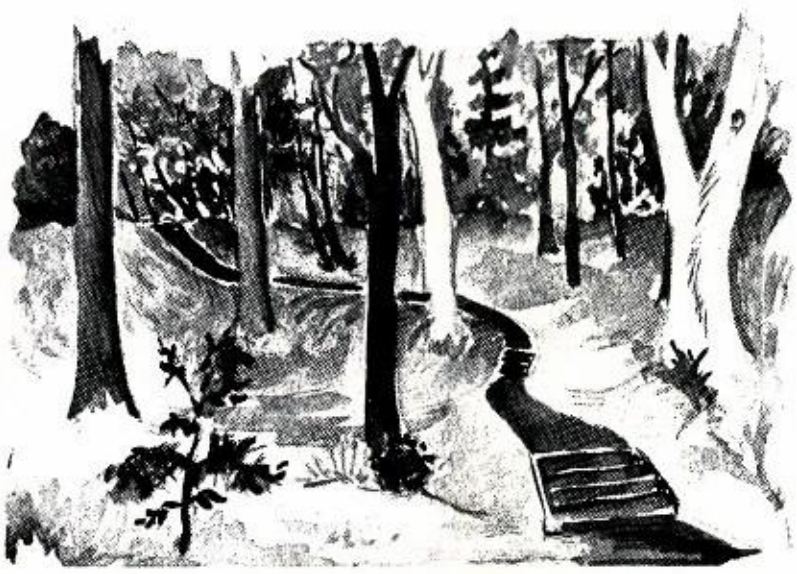
. . . take advantage of it.



During the next few years we will face many new and diffic steps that may affect an entire life. This road to the future c only be faced with courage and strong principles. Climbing lea steps are John Knost, Football; Frances Victory, High Life; L
Meyerson, "Z" Club; Danny Zeidman, Football; Franny Park Pep Squad; Fred Goza, Art Club; Penny Bullock, GUSHER; Be Wray, Le Cercle Francais.

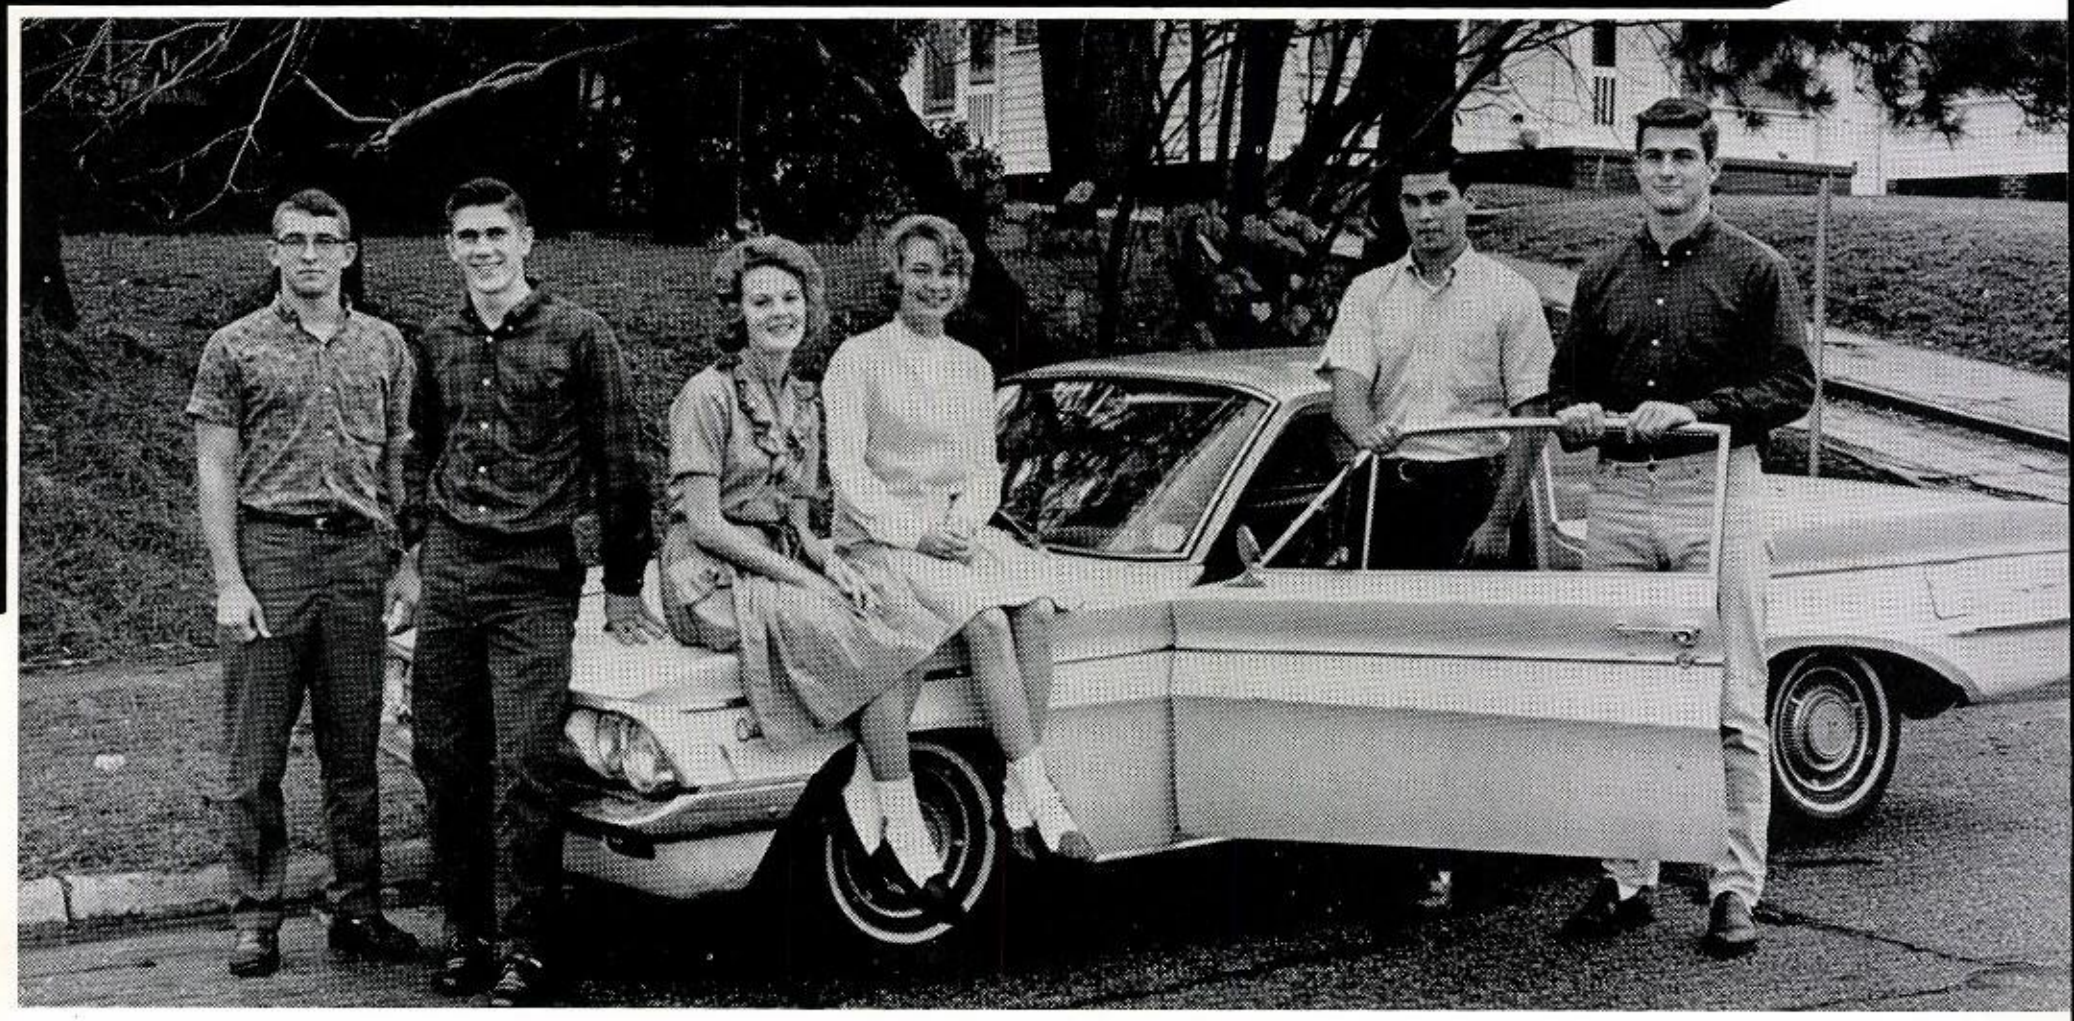
Underclassmen

JUNIORS



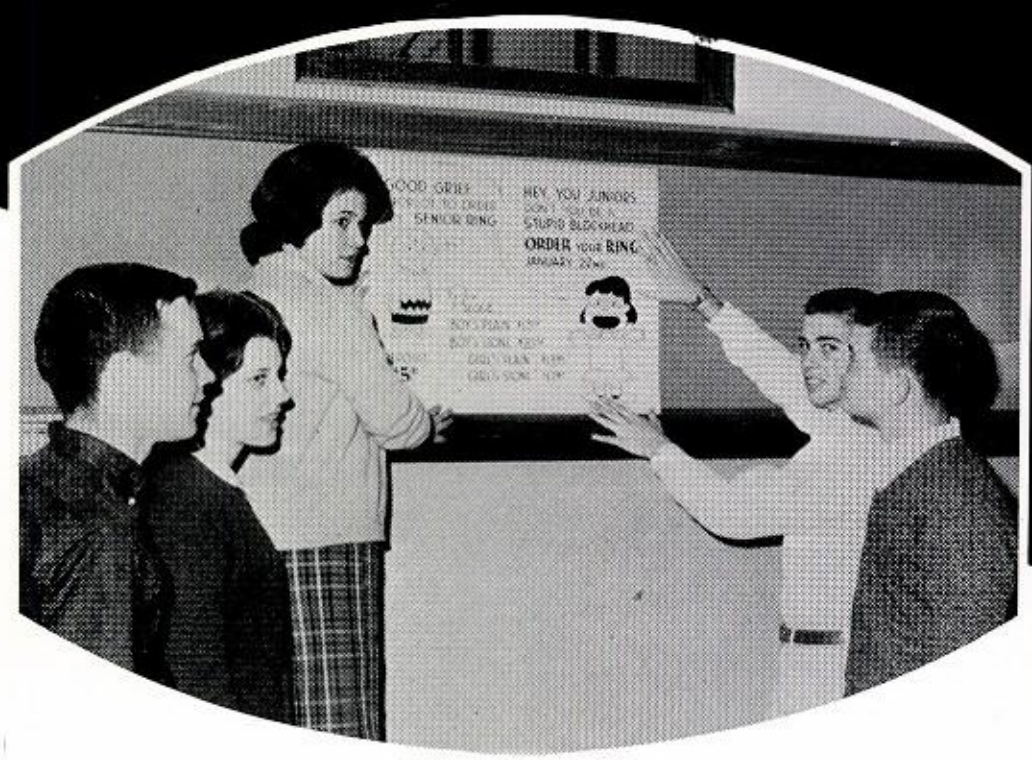
Serving as Junior Class Officers for 1963-1964 are: Bill Erwin, Vice-President; Gene Hunt, President; Pam George, Secretary; Geralyn Pope, Parliamentarian; Bill Ward, Sergeant-at-Arms; Roby Odom, Treasurer.

All juniors must work on a research theme at some time during the year. Claire Ann Bradley and Jeannie McNeill, seated, and Ree McCall and John Walker, standing, explore the resources in the Byrd library.

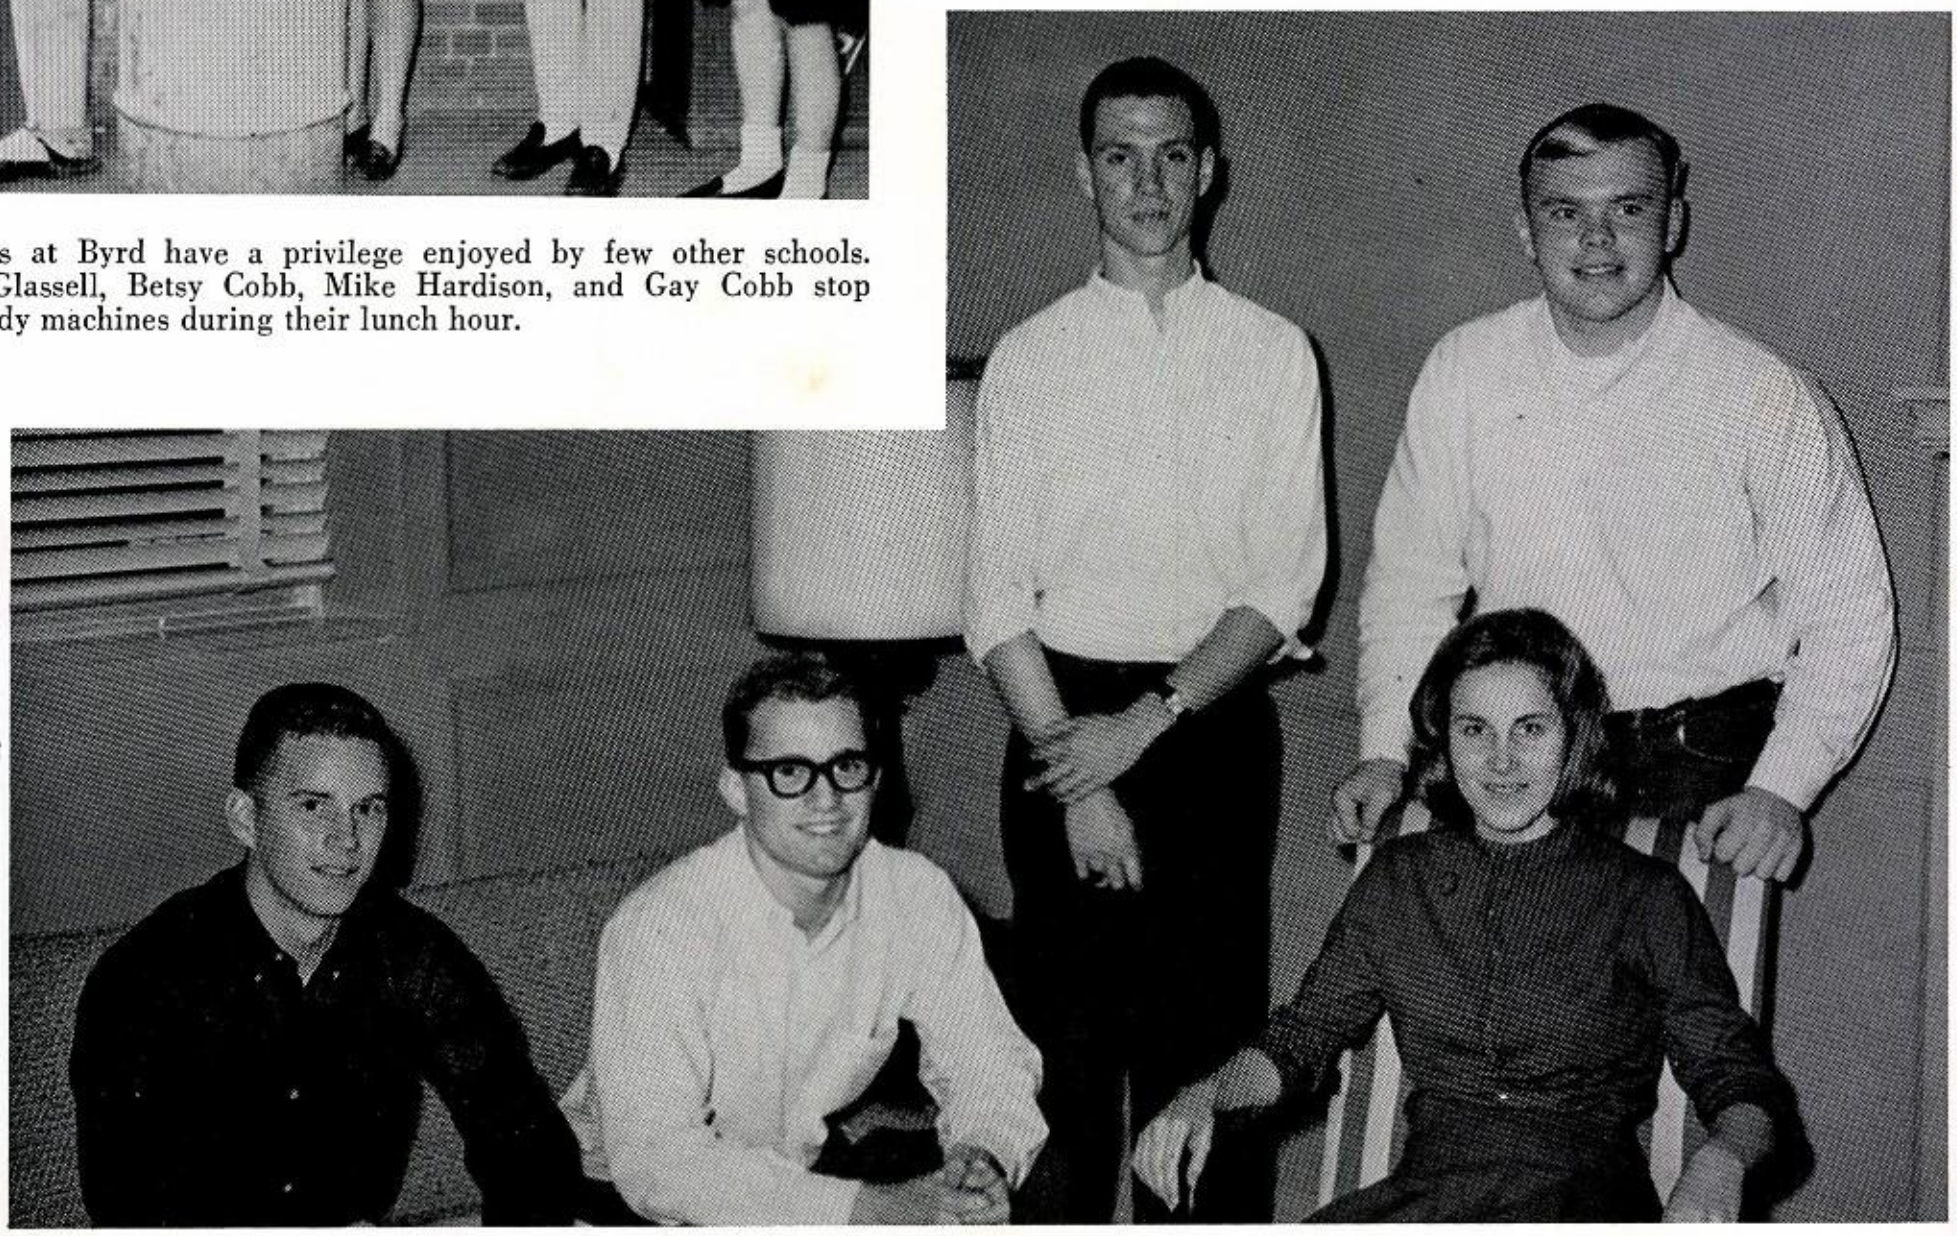
Juniors sponsored a spaghetti supper in February to help raise money to finance the Prom. Waiting to receive their food are Joanna Beaird, Beth McCall, Dick Seale, George Greer, and Betty Cook.

righten Byrd's Image

Students at Byrd have a privilege enjoyed by few other schools. ephen Glassell, Betsy Cobb, Mike Hardison, and Gay Cobb stop the candy machines during their lunch hour.



Putting up a poster to remind all juniors to order their senior rings are Brad Rigling, Becky Saunders, Diane Brewton, Jim Sprayberry, and Bill Day.



To be nominated for a Class office is an honor in itself. This year's nominees are, on the first row, Ran Smith, Al Childs, and Terry Norvell, and, on the second row, Bob Creamer and John Cooke.

DOUG CLINKENBEARD

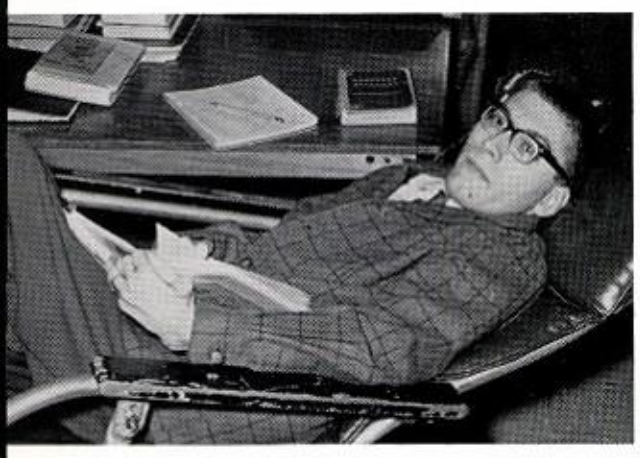
Doug, who wishes to become a commercial artist, studies art twice a week at Linwood Junior High. He also takes Geometry and Economics. Reading and chess are Doug's hobbies.

Economics, math, Business English, Latin, and Typing are Marty's curriculum at Byrd. She enjoys boating as a hobby, and her ambition is to be a writer.

MARTY PHILLIPS

TELEPHONE STUDENTS Graduate in 1964

HARLAN COLGIN



Reading about ancient history is Harlan's hobby. At school he studies Economics, Algebra II, and Business English.

FRANK LEPINDIKES

Frank's time is spent studying English as a part of Mrs. McGraw's class. His other subjects include Biology and Algebra II. Frank's hobby is reading long and involved novels.

WILSON HARRINGTON

Collecting post cards from all countries is Wilson's pastime. He has 921 cards from almost all the states. In school Wilson takes English, Biology, and Algebra II.

CARL NELSON

Carl's favorite subject is English which he takes through the telephone at Byrd. He takes Biology, and Algebra also. As hobbies, he likes reading, stamp collecting, and chess.

There are six Byrd students attending the Caddo School for Exceptional Children this year, among an enrollment of 60. At the school they study basic high school subjects and attend regular school hours. Each day transportation is furnished for the students in the form of a special bus equipped with a wheel chair apparatus. The six students study under six classroom teachers and are supervised by Mrs. Hayden.

This is the first year a telephone student has ever graduated from Byrd High School. They are Doug Clinkenbeard, Marty Phillips, and Harlan Colgin. These students have brought to themselves and Byrd another honor through their outstanding efforts and accomplishments.

Wilson Harrington, Frank Lepindikes, and Carl Nelson study as a part of Mrs. McGraw's English class.

"It is the one road I can wend
When weary, worn and spent,
And know that waiting at its end
I shall find peace, content."

Harry E. Brainard

Being members of one of the few democracies left in this world today, we sometimes take for granted the small privileges that other peoples must be content to do without.
One of the most underrated is our freedom of advertisement.
In this way of life we may solicit our fellow citizens for their aid in political campaigns, their consideration for our new product, their help in finding something lost, or their mutual joy
in something gained.
Businesses of Shreveport not only may advertise to the adults, but also they may reach the young people of our community through advertisements in the Byrd publications.
Let us always keep in mind that the small freedoms are often the ones most coveted by those who must do without them.

Our government is one of the few left that advocates freedom of advertising. This small but valuable privilege is taken for granted by so many. Commerce Street is by its very name the heart of trade in Shreveport. Overlooking it are: Cammie Owens, Business Staff of the GUSHER; Joe Bell, NFL; Dottie Stone, Advertising Manager of the High Life; Ivan Smith; Representing the Track Program; Jeanne Elliott, High Life Ad Staff; Jackie Wheeler, High Life Ad Staff; Sherrie Powell, Business Staff, GUSHER; Lee Hughen, Advertising Manager, GUSHER.

Tommy —
although your generally a cheap guy, etc. we've had pretty much fun. Remember Vickie - wow - I wish you the best of luck always - actually I would wish you the worst, but the way you are you'll need somebody to wish you the best. Why don't you try a self improvement policy? Oh well,

Tommy
It's been fun in class and nice knowing you.
Have fun this summer and keep the woman "The Road and Hot and Beer Cold! Good Luck
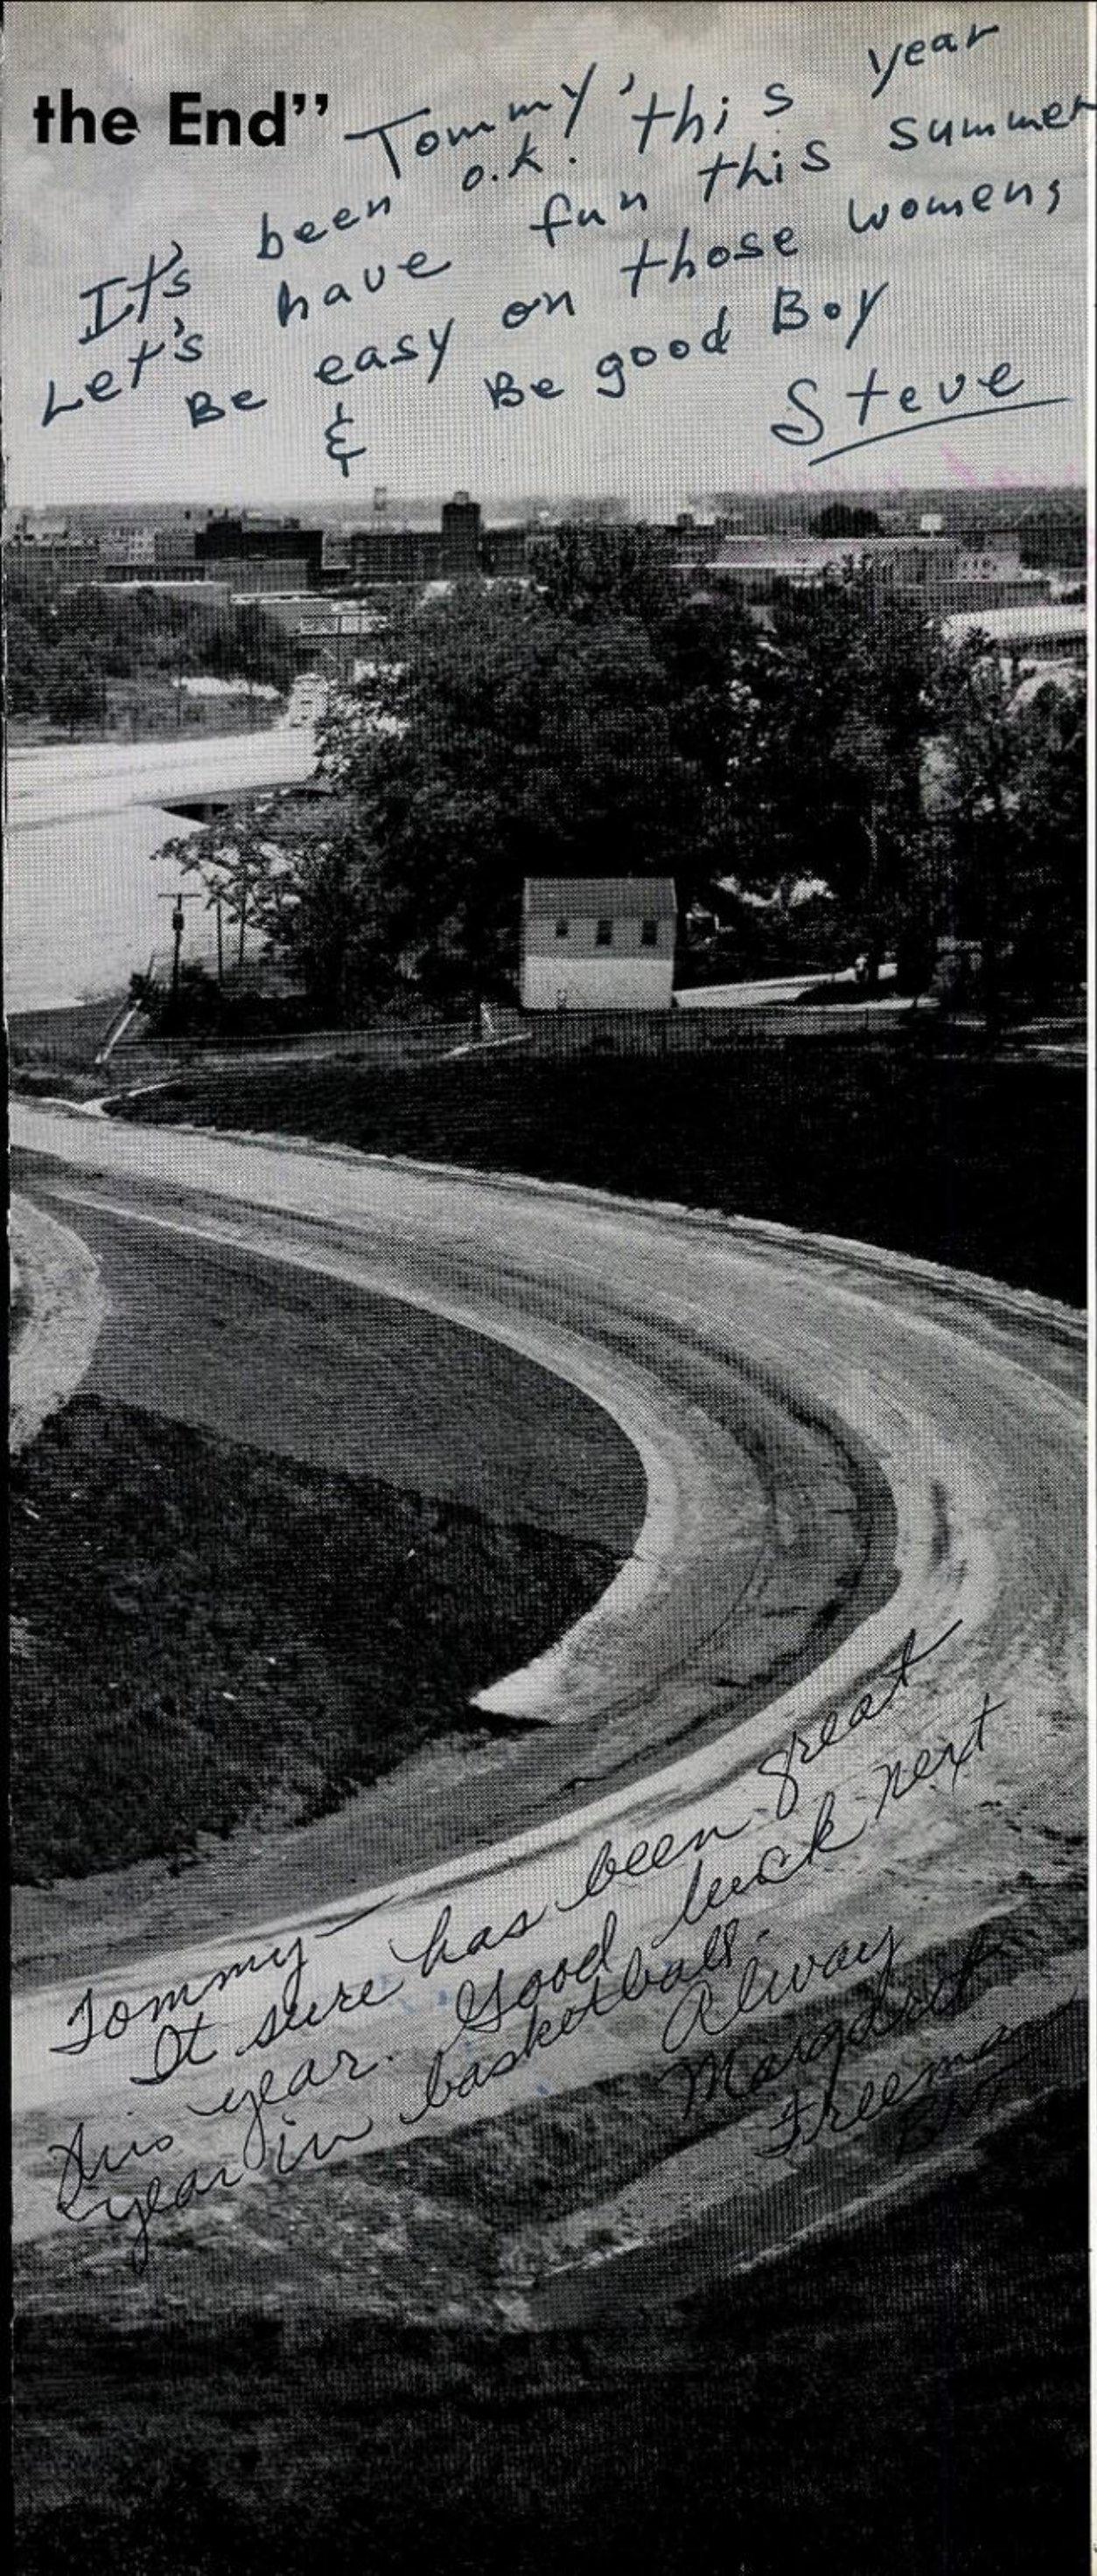
Have fun.
Fred
Hoover



Our life at Byrd can be compared to one day. It begins as a bright, fresh dawn, and ends as night. But following the night is another dawn—an end, and a beginning.

We are continually moving, traveling through each day of life; Byrd is a part of our journey. From the time we begin here, paths and trails, all a part of the one big road that is Byrd, diverge in many directions. Each way attempts to lead us in the right direction as we prepare to enter the wide highway of life. Our paths reach an end, but what is greater, they reach another beginning.

And from this point, our ways will again diverge and go many different ways until we reach our journey's end.

Never shall we be able to return and retrace our steps, for we shall pass this way but once. Guidance has been offered to us, but it is we who will determine our destination, and we who will choose our paths.

"I shall foot it
Down the roadway in the dusk . . .
I shall foot it
In the silence of the morning,
See the night slur into dawn . . .
The dust of the traveled road Shall touch my hands and face."

—Sandburg

Dear Tommy,
Your great! Especially in the 61 sport basketball. Have fun this summer and don't raise too much.
Good luck!
Love ya,

Tommy,
It's been great & I must admit
I'll never forget you in English.
I how funny you were. Stay sweet - best of luck always to a great guy. Be good & stay out of trouble. Try to increase your vocabulary (joke!)
Have fun this summer! Love ya,
Gail

Tommy -
Good luck on the courts next year. Stay off the links though, you can't afford the broken clubs.

Tommy,
Sooh we've been through a lot together what with Mattie Dow,
Miss Hadden,
and Sun. School.
Really though I've rather enjoyed all of it. Next year I want you to make all-Star and help Byrd get back its high standing that we seemed to have lost. Best of luck

Dear Tommy,
It doesn't really seem like we have been dating for two months, but we have. I just hope we have as many good times in the future. I really am glad you took me to see "Leo" and "How the West Was Won" even though you had already seen both of them. Don't forget the other shows too! I know you won't forget the basketball banquet and neither will I. Just like Ann Payne said, I sure was proud of you. We sure did get a lot done at the library that last time. We have been in the middle of a lot of other peoples problems like; Dee and Ruth, Margaret and Mike, Kelley and Joe. This summer I hope we can play more tennis. (girls too) I wonder if Ruth got her "Sofa" fixed? Maybe next time over at Lamar's you can go in swimming. Remember the new dance and now you just afterwards, These times really mean a lot to me.

Love,
Martha

Three exciting days of cheerleader campaigns are followed by the assembly in the gym and the school-wide election. The eleven girls and ten boys who tried out for this position listen eagerly to their instructions. After the assembly, three boys and three girls were elected to serve as next year's cheerleaders.

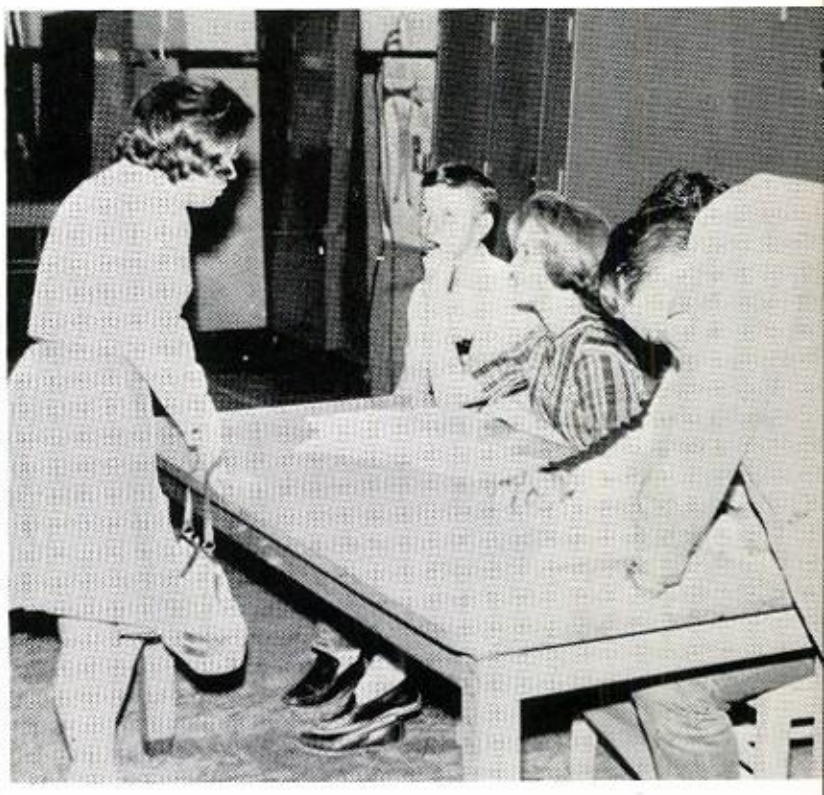
After the GUSHER is distributed, the staff holds a picture sale of all pictures used in the GUSHER. Deciding which pictures to buy are Susan Shavin, Pat Fox, Stella Dixon, Susie McWilliams, and Valerie Marsalis.

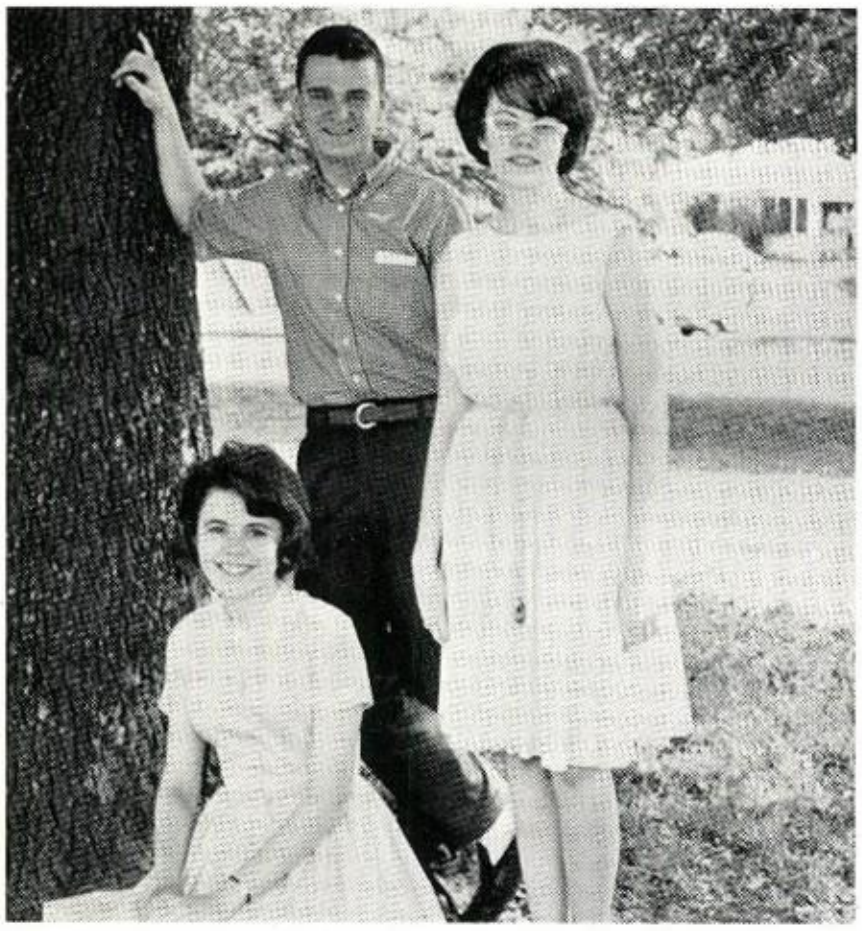
Suzanne Musgrave gives a speech to a mock session of the Senate in the Pelican State assembly. The 1963 delegates presented this assembly to explain the activities of Pelican State to the school.

On April 9 the Student Council nominees presented their campaign speeches to the school. Danny Atchley, Vice President of the Student Council, demonstrates how to use the voting machines.



For the election of Student Council officers, the city lends the school voting machines. Registrating to vote is Dot Durrett.

SENIORS at Last!



Maintaining a high scholastic average during one's high school years is quite an accomplishment. Ranking as the top three in the senior class are Nancy Neely, first, Barbara Buckner, second, and Tommy Baremore, third. Byrd is certainly proud of these three seniors.

Ordered several months in advance, the senior invitations are eagerly picked up by the seniors when they come in.

There is always a great deal of excitement the day that the senior invitations arrive because this is a sign that graduation is near.

That Was the Week That Was

Nancy Scott and Sharon Sherrod, wearing their "special little dresses," donate their trash to a good cause.

National Honor Society members anxiously wait to have their pictures made.

Many students attended the Gusher Signing Party the day the Gushers were delivered.

Seniors show the tension during final tests on the last day.

One Road Ends . . .

On the morning of graduation, Tuesday, May 26, 1964, the annual Class Day program was held in the Byrd auditorium for the seniors and their parents. At this time the 228 members of the Hall of Fame were recognized for maintaining a "B" average for their high school years, and the class will, history, and prophecy were read. In addition to the scholarships given, Walter Kelley was recognized as the winner of the Science Award, and Terry Smith and Patricia Tatum were presented the American Legion Awards for good citizenship. The president of the class, Mac Griffith, gave his farewell address, and the program concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the "Alma Mater."

Baccalaureate services were held in the Hirsch Memorial Youth Center at 5:00 on Sunday, May 24. Dr. Scott L. Tatum, Pastor of the Broadmoor Baptist Church, delivered the inspiring address, while the Invocation was given by Danny Atchley and the Benediction was by George Dover. The Byrd Concert Choir, under the direction of Mr. James Sullivan, furnished music for the occasion.

Summing up four years of achievement for the 625 members of the senior class, Commencement Exercises were held at 8:00 on May 26, with music by the Byrd Concert Band under the direction of Mr. Thomas Watson. The principal speaker for the ceremony was Mr. C. L. Perry, Superintendent of Caddo Parish Schools. After recognizing the honor graduates, Mr. J. H. Duncan, Principal of Byrd High School, awarded the diplomas, and Carson Strong pronounced the Benediction. As the class of 1964 left to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance," each new graduate realized with mixed emotions that, though one door was closing behind him, another one was opening on a wider world in which he would "climb every mountain."

At 8:45 on the night of April 4th the royal court of the 1964 Junior Prom was presented in the Crystal Ballroom of the Washington-Youree Hotel. Acting as Master of Ceremonies during the presentation was Al Childs, while music for the evening was furnished by Jim Koelemay and his band. Intermission found folk singing popular, with Sarah Riggs and Greg Harris, known as the "Wayfarers," entertaining the crowd. In a lovely setting of decorations, "Friendship Garden," the Junior Prom was enjoyed and praised by all as a very successful event.
